PROGRAMME OF WILSON.

Announces Policy in Mobile Speech.

Advocate the Friendship of All Latin America, He Urges.

Help Liberate Your Neighbors from "Bad Bargains" With Europe.

Future Will Be Different from Past in New World, He Proclaims.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MOBILE (Ala.) Oct. 27.—While avoiding any mention specifically of Mexico, or any European interests connected with the Mexican situation, President Woodrow Wilson delivered a speech here today before the Southern Commercial Congress, which appeared to be freighted with significance and which served to clothe with further directness the policy of the United States not only toward Mexico, but toward all Central and South American republics.

A score of South American diplomats sat just behind the President when he spoke and many of his remarks were addressed in conversational tones to them. Many of his utterances were pointed with a meaning so clear as to leave little doubt of their intent.

"Material interests"—a phrase much in use internationally of late in characterizing the attitude of foreign nations toward Mexico—frequently was employed by the President, who declared the American republics had suffered long from the exactions forced upon them by

BOMBAY FACES MONEY CRISIS.

STOCK EXCHANGE AND BANKS OUT OF BUSINESS.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOMBAY, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The financial crisis here is of an alarming character. Failure has followed failure. The recent bank suspensions and the rush of depositors to withdraw money has strained the resources of even the sound Indian banks. The crisis has spread to the share market. A broker doing a big business, who tried to bear the market in mill shares, with the assistance of certain banks, collapsed, his liabilities being nearly $2,500,000. When several other failures followed in quick succession the stock exchange became paralyzed and suspended.

With this crisis in progress a fresh shock came today in the form of the failure of an Arab pearl merchant doing a big trade. His liabilities are said to be over $300,000. Many other failures quickly followed.

HATPIN IS FATAL.

Woman Jabs a Crook With One and He Passes Away.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Death at the point of a woman's hatpin today supported the reputation of the chief feminine weapon of the season when John Neimitz, hold-up man, died at the County Hospital. The direct cause of his death was blood poisoning from a stab wound behind the left ear, the stab wound made by the hatpin of Mrs. Josephine Karmuenisk, wife of a South Chicago saloon-keeper.

Political Chase.

BAIT TRAP FOR TIGER.

Murphy's Pet Is in Danger.

Tammany Leader Reported to Be Fighting in the Last Ditch.

Clean-up Is Being Promised in New York City for Election Day:

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the approach of election the political situation, especially in New York City, grows more complex. Sulzer, deposed Governor, whose "martyrdom" and popularity in certain sections of the city have been seized upon by the Progressives in their efforts to increase their representation in the Legislature, continues to monopolize the majority of interest in the field of candidates.

The fight appears stronger each day to be the field against Tammany, or vice versa. Many political students whose statements carry much weight among the betting fraternity are freely predicting that Charles F. Murphy and his cohorts are literally fighting in the last ditch. But Tammany, of late years, has been accustomed to "last ditch" battles.

Also it is an axiom of politics that a compact body, even though it be a comparatively small minority, has the advantage against even a strong majority divided into opposing clans.

But here again, in this New York situation, the rules of the game are being violated and past performances set at naught. For in the Mayoralty election, upon which Tammany's continuation appears now to hinge, there is little splitting. The Progressives apparently are throwing their weight to the balance of the Fusion candidate, John Purroy Mitchel. The strength of Russell is negligible, and apparently any balance of power that might ordinarily be presented in his candidacy is nullified in the intense interest that hinges in the Mayoralty fight between Mitchel, Fusion nominee, and Judge W. E. McCall, the Tammany standard-bearer.

The interest of the suffragists has never before been so pronounced and active as in the present campaign, and almost to a woman the suffragists are advocating the election of Mitchel. Many of the speakers, too, are doing all in their power to aid Sulzer in his open fight against Tammany. Mrs. Belmont, Mrs. James Borden Harriman, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson and a host of other well-known women, trained in public speaking and enthusiastic in some instances to the verge of hysteria in the advocacy of their principles and their favorite candidates, are working overtime and attracting huge crowds of voters and non-voters wherever they appear in public.

The suffragists went into this campaign methodically. For several weeks previous to its opening, schools of instruction of women orators were held, with the result that all the boroughs are being invaded daily and nightly by trained women speakers.

Canvasses by newspapers, apparently unbiased and conducted with the idea of arriving as nearly as possible at the probable outcome, show Murphy and his candidates apparently "on the run." That Murphy himself acknowledges a serious situation is apparent in the "council of war" ordered for Delmonico's tomorrow.

The death of Mayor Gaynor upset all the cut-and-dried plans of the professional politicians. The unexpectedness of Sulzer's action in entering the campaign as a Progressive candidate for the Assembly from his old East Side district appears to have further upset the calculations of Murphy, who seems to have thought the deposed Governor would take his discipline, "lay down" and later come cringing to the wigwam for favors.

Hysterical crowds are following Sulzer through the Sixth Assembly District, cheering the revelations of the former Governor as to campaign contributions and his assertions that Murphy got and failed to account for many of the larger ones attributed to Sulzer.

DECIDES TOFT CASE.

Supreme Court Refuses to Declare Illegal Nomination of New York Candidate for Congress.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The appellate division of the Supreme Court today declined to invalidate the nomination of George W. Toft, Democratic candidate for member of Congress in the Thirteenth District, and if Toft is elected, Congress itself will have to decide whether he is entitled to a seat. The regularity of Toft's nomination was contested on the ground that the governor had issued no certificate of election to fill the vacancy in this district caused by the death of Timothy Sullivan. The court held that the nomination was regular under the laws of the State.

NEW ISLAND "POPS UP."

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HALIFAX (N. S.) Oct. 27.—A new island has popped up in the Atlantic not far from the track of ocean vessels off the Nova Scotian coast, according to a report from Capt. Anderson of the Gloucester fishing schooner Lizzie Griffin. The new land is a dry bar standing about ten feet above high water, sixteen miles east-northeast, of Sable Island, and about seventy miles from Whitehead, the nearest point of mainland, according to Capt. Anderson. The marine and fisheries department is making inquiry to confirm the discovery.

WISCONSIN INSURES LIVES.

ISSUES FIRST STATE POLICY UNDER NEW LAW.

Applications Are Received from All Over the Country, but Only Those from Residents Are Allowed. Fund Is Administered by Officials of Other Departments.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADISON (Wis.) Oct. 27.—The first policies in a State life insurance fund in America were issued today by the insurance department of Wisconsin. Former Speaker Charles A. Ingram Durand, who introduced the bill in the 1911 session to create State insurance, received the first policy. Other policies were issued to persons in various parts of Wisconsin.

Applications came from many States, but under the law policies may be issued only to residents of Wisconsin. More than 10 per cent. of the first policy holders are women.

The law making provision for State life insurance was enacted after the idea had been worked out by commissioner of insurance Ekern and presented before a legislative committee. A previous thorough study had been made by him of similar laws in operation in Germany, Great Britain, Italy and Belgium.

No policy is issued for a larger amount than $1000. When the number of policy holders reaches 1000, the maximum policies issued will be for $2000, and when the number reaches 2000, the maximum policy will be for $3000, which is the highest amount now authorized. Existing governmental machinery will be used in the administration of the law without the creation of additional offices.

PROVES WOMEN ARE ADAMANT,

HARVARD PROFESSOR DESCRIBES EXPERIMENTS.

Uses Blackboards to Determine Relative Steadfastness of Masculine and Feminine Minds—The Radcliffe Girls Form Their Opinions and Stick to Them.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Women, announced Prof. Hugo Muensterberg, professor of psychology at Harvard, to 500 students of the Carnegie Institute of Technology here today, form their opinions and judgments just as rapidly and accurately as men.

"But," the foremost psychologist of the country declared, "when they have an opinion they stick to it, and no amount of discussion can change it."

A group of Harvard men and a group of Radcliffe women, he said, were subjects of an experiment. Two blackboards, each containing many white spots, were used in the tests. Each body of students was to decide which board contained the more spots, the right or the left.

The men wrote their decisions on paper and announced them. Fifty-one per cent. decided upon the right board. The professor then allowed them ten minutes of discussion, in which one side among the men attempted to convince the other of its correctness. A second vote was taken. Instead of 51 per cent., 78 per cent. favored the right board.

When the test was made with the women judgment showed 49 per cent. favoring the right board.

"Then the strange thing happened," said the professor. "I gave them ten minutes to discuss the decision. Then I asked them their decisions again. And there were just 49 per cent. for the right board."

SEIZURE OF PLUMES.

Feathers Valued at Six Hundred Dollars Taken From Daughter of a Former Policeman.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The largest single seizure the customs inspectors have made since the new regulations prohibiting the importation of aigrettes went into effect, is on record at the customs-house today. Plumes valued at $600 were taken from Miss Edna McLaughlin, daughter of a former police inspector here, who arrived yesterday from Europe.

Who, until yesterday, was Miss Katherine Elkins, courted of nobility and wedded by an American citizen.

MISS ELKINS MARRIES HITT.

SUDDEN CEREMONY SURPRISES EVEN HER FAMILY.

Young Washington Society Man Wins Long Race Against the Duke of the Abruzzi—No One Present at the Unexpected Wedding Except the Bride's Near Relatives.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ELKINS (W. Va.) Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Katherine Elkins, rumors of whose engagement to the Duke of Abruzzi and to W. F. R. (Billy) Hitt have been current in recent years, usually to be denied, was married to the latter this afternoon.

The ceremony was performed in the large ballroom at "Halliehurst," the home of Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, widow of the former United States Senator.

Not even members of Miss Elkins's family were aware the ceremony was to be performed until this morning, when Attorney W. E. Baker was sent to the office of the Clerk of Court here to obtain a marriage license. This was the first intimation given by the couple that they were even engaged.

The only ones present at the wedding were former Senator Davis Elkins of Morgantown, brother of the bride; Mrs. S. B. Elkins, her mother; former Senator Henry H. Davis of Elkins, her grandfather; Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Elkins of Morgantown, brother and sister-in-law of the bride; Col. Richard Elkins of Philadelphia, a brother; Mrs. Chester P. Barnett of Ft. Meyer, Va., her cousin, and Miss Katherine Britton of Washington, D. C., a bosom friend.

All the guests have been attending a house party at "Halliehurst" for more than a week, Hitt being among the guests.

Former Senator Davis Elkins was best man and Miss Elkins was attended by Mrs. Blaine Elkins.

Owing to the suddenness of the whole affair, no attention was paid to dress and the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Frederick H. Barron, pastor of the Davis Memorial Presbyterian Church here, was most informal.

After the wedding ceremony, luncheon was served to the guests.

It is said here Hitt's mother, who resides in Washington, D. C., did not know of her son's wedding, until she was apprised of it by a telegram from Hitt himself this afternoon. The wedding found the members of both families unprepared as to gifts. However, Mrs. Elkins gave her daughter a large cash gift and former Senator Henry G. Davis, grandfather of the bride, gave her bonds of great value. Members of the Elkins family would not state the amount of either gift, merely saying they were of "great value."

At 2:30 o'clock this morning Mr. and Mrs. Hitt left in former Senator Davis's private car for a honeymoon trip of several weeks through the eastern States. Later they will go to a country place near Middleburg, Va., where they will spend the winter.

Hitt mett Miss Elkins in Washington society about twelve years ago. Since that time he has paid especial attention to her and was a frequent visitor at "Halliehurst" here.

Several years ago reports became current that Miss Elkins was engaged to the Duke of the Abruzzi. The reports were denied, but became persistent for a time. It was later reported that the Italian royal family objected to the Duke marrying Miss Elkins because of the American girl being without title. It is said they refused to accept her on equal terms with the royalty as Duchess of the Abruzzi and the engagement was broken.

When newspapers were full of these reports "Billy" Hitt continued his attentions to Miss Elkins and during last summer he toured Europe with the Elkins family.

Canine.

"GET A CANE!" MARY URGES.

"ALL THE CLASSY WOMEN ARE CARRYING THEM."

But the Singer Uses Hers for a Useful Purpose—It Serves as Receptacle for Dainty Food She Pumps Into Her Pet Dog Every Forty-five Minutes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mary Garden, the opera singer, arrived on the liner George Washington today with "Brussels Sprouts" in her arms and a food pump disguised as a cane in her hand.

"Brussels Sprouts" is a Belgian griffon dog of such aristocratic lineage that he has to be fed every forty-six minutes, hence the cane.

When the clock in the cane rang out at the feeding minute, Miss Garden removed the ferule and gently manipulating the handle of cane, pumped his allowance of food into doggie.

"All the classy women in Paris carry canes," Miss Garden explained. "So I had mine made to feed Brussels Sprouts with. But the cane was the only Paris fashion I could endure. The latest things there are pink hair and harem veils. All the women are wearing them; but they are awful. It really will be dreadful if they come over here."

MILWAUKEE FIRE FATALITIES.

Seven Known to Be Dead in Destruction of Goodyear Rubber Plant and Three Badly Injured.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Oct. 27.—The toll of death from last night's fire which destroyed the store of the Goodyear Rubber Company, and adjoining buildings in East Water street, and wrought other damage to property within the block, still remains at seven, this morning. The monetary loss is estimated at half a million dollars.

GEORGE G. CLAUSEN.

MAX FLASCHEL, driver.

WALTER FREITAG, aged 23.

Three others are in a critical condition. Seventeen others were injured, but it is not expected serious results will follow.

PARADISE MAN-MADE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TULSA (Okla.) Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Man can and must conquer the desert," was sounded as the keynote of the dry farming congress today.

With an official welcome on behalf of the State of Oklahoma by Gov. Lee Cruce, the eighth international meeting assembled. Twelve nations were represented by official delegates who filled the large convention hall on the exposition grounds.

Gov. Cruce paid a glowing tribute to the work that is being accomplished by the dry farming congress.

"The man," he said, "who can make green the waste places of the earth, offer comfortable habitation to the teeming millions who now sit in squalor and want, will be a greater hero than history has yet produced. Back to the farm is being sung by multitudinous tongues and the student of history and those who are building for the welfare of humanity realize that the race can only continue towards higher attainment and greater development by making this movement a successful realization."

The congress was called to order by W. L. Drummond, chairman of the International Board of the organization, who introduced Gov. Cruce.

FOR FOREIGN NATIONS.

Responding on behalf of the foreign nations participating in this movement, Hector Pesmazoglu, delegate of Greece, said:

"My country is depending upon the principles of dry farming to make its unproductive areas produce more bread. Something must be done to take the poverty and misery out of my land and Greece believes this movement is the salvation."

FOR AMERICA.

On behalf of the United States, Dr. John Widtsoe, president of the Utah Agricultural College, declared man can and must conquer the desert. "I grew up on the desert," he said, "and have seen the sagebrush and cactus retreat before the intelligent domination of man. Neither must we be content with a good crop one year and a poor one the next, but must by scientific development make nature give forth bountifully year after year."

GAVEL PRESENTED.

Preceding the introduction of W. R. Motherwell of Regina, Saskatchewan, president of the congress, he was presented with a gavel made by the manual training departments of the Tulsa High School, by Miss Hattie Williams, 17-year-old High School student. In his address, Mr. Motherwell recommended a change in the method of financing the congress, a proposition which has become a stupendous and precious task with change of location and management year after year.

It is believed the movement will at this time be placed on a strong financial basis. Both exposition and congress are twice as large as last year.

CANADA'S GREETINGS.

Canada extended greetings to the congress in a telegram from Premier Robert L. Borden of Ottawa, which read:

"The subjects which the dry farming congress at Tulsa will consider are of greater interest and importance to Canada as well as to the United States. In behalf of the government I send warm wishes that the deliberations of the congress may be attended with every success and that the results may be of marked advantage to both countries. We hope it will hold its next annual session in Canada."

ADDRESSES.

Speeches were made at the afternoon session by H. M. Balmer of Amarillo, Tex., Dr. Frank S. Harris of Utah Agricultural College, United States Senator T. P. Gore spoke to a great crowd in the convention hall tonight.

PRIZE AWARD.

An error was made in the announcement of the winner of the Chicago Chamber of Commerce cup for the best State, nation or provincial exhibit. It went to Oregon, with second prize to Montana. The Oregon exhibit was compiled by Tillman Reuter, who has won trophies at expositions of this nature year after year for several years. The cup was presented to Mr. Reuter by Edward E. Gore of Chicago tonight.

Raoul Neely, 16-year-old Oklahoma boy, had the best ten ears of corn exhibited in the exposition, but as he was entered in the juvenile division, received the juvenile prize only. He scored higher than the winner of the international sweepstakes.

The Home-makers Club of Blasworth, Saskatchewan, won the prize for a collective exhibit of canning products by farm women's clubs. First prize for the greatest variety

WILL CONSULT UNITED STATES.

John Bull Has Promised to Do So, It Is Said.

Report Causes Good Cheer in Bryan's Office.

But He, in Return, Will Consult Wilson.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Reports from the British Foreign Office that Great Britain would do nothing in the Mexican situation, now that the election had been held in the southern republic, without consultation with the United States, aroused interest in official circles here today and added strength to the persistent intimations that the American government plans a note to the powers which may result in a concerted Mexican policy for the future.

Secretary Bryan, when shown dispatches from London, which asserted that Great Britain's recognition of provisional President Huerta was given to extend only until the elections, stated that such had been the understanding here all the time. When asked if a note was in preparation which would open the way for negotiations with foreign powers he said no statement or intimations along this line would be given at this time.

Some officials suggested today that the position of Great Britain with respect to the recognition of the Huerta government in case the election for President is declared void would be binding as now exists. Should Huerta continue to be the head of the provisional government, it was argued, the recognition of Huerta would necessarily continue. Others maintained, however, that the recognition extended by Great Britain was intended only to hold until election, last Sunday, no matter what might be the results. On this basis it was contended that Great Britain was free to listen to any proposal that might be made by the United States, for the formulation of a general Mexican policy which would include also the participation of other powers.

In the absence from Washington of President Wilson nothing definite could be learned about the future plans of the government, but it was generally asserted that nothing would be done until there was official announcement from Mexico City on the outcome of Sunday's elections.

It was the general belief in official circles that the newly-elected Congress would be seated after some delay in announcing the final result; that the Presidential election would be declared invalid and Huerta again chosen provisional President. Whatever happens, the United States is bound by its declaration not to recognize the government as it will be constituted and because in this situation it is deemed certain that an initiatory move on the part of this government must be forthcoming.

Secretary Bryan plans to consult with President Wilson on the subject as soon as the latter returns from Mobile. The President's speeches of the last few days with relation to a general Latin-American policy, together with the comments of the British press generally favorable to the American attitude in Mexico gave rise to expectations of important developments before many days.

Secretary Bryan said the department had heard nothing of a report that the German government had dispatched other warships to Mexican waters.

Much of the information to the department from Mexico today was routine. One dispatch dated October 25, stated that after three days' fighting in Monterey, quiet had been restored and that the Federals at that time still held the city.

TROOP TRAIN IS DESTROYED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—A troop train on the National Railroad was dynamited today by rebels near San Salvador in the State of Zacatecas and fifteen were killed, according to a dispatch from Saltillo. No details have been received here.

SIR LIONEL WAS THERE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—"The British Minister to Mexico did see some journalists, but in the course of the interview he made no reference of any sort to the intentions or the policy of the United States in regard to Mexico."

The foregoing is an authorized statement issued today at the Foreign Office, where the officials have heard at length from the minister. Sir Lionel Carden, on the divergent reports relative to his recent interview.

MATAMORAS (Mex.) Oct. 27.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Six hundred Constitutional cavalry left here today to reinforce the army at Monterey.

WHAT THE PEOPLE WILL.

Election Is Said to Indicate That Gen. Huerta Is Needed to Save the Country.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That 95 per cent. of the voting population of Northern Mexico feel that only the strong hand of the present executive can prevent a reign of anarchy was indicated by the recount of votes made this morning at the army headquarters in Piedras Negras.

Men familiar with affairs in Mexico assert that the election differed in no wise from those which have taken place in the last three decades. No one has gone so far as to charge that the results did not represent the real will of the people.

The fact that Gen. Huerta received 2765 votes against 123 in favor of Diaz caused little surprise. Interest in the election died out before the polls were opened and the people along the border have turned their attention to the real situation in Monterey.

One report last night stated that the Constitutionalists had lost 800 men at Monterey, but this is denied at the office of the Junta.

The Constitutionalist leaders appear to believe that belligerent rights will be granted as soon as a report of election reaches Washington and plans are being made to renew the conflict in this territory.

Thousands of dollars worth of merchandise is being moved across the border today in anticipation of 50 per cent. increase in duties already decreed by the President to take effect tomorrow. Most of stores consist of coffee, sugar and flour, but American manufactures of all kinds are being rushed across at the ports of entry in control of the Federals.

FRENCH MINISTER ASKS FOR HELP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—The French Minister has appealed to the American Charge, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, for aid for the French colony at Santa Ignacio, State of Sinaloa. The place is said to be have been taken by rebels and the French residents are in danger.

As no French warship is available, the Minister has asked that an American warship be sent.

GERMAN OFFICERS TO SEE HUERTA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—The commander and several officers of the German cruiser Hertha arrived here today from Vera Cruz. They will be received by President Huerta tomorrow.

CLAIM VICTORY FOR GAMBOA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—Out of 970 polling places in the Federal district, the Catholic party leaders claim a majority in 920 for their candidates, Frederic Gamboa and Gen. Rascon. This claim, they say, is based on returns reported by the party watchers at the polls.

The returns from Colima, Guadalajara and various smaller towns also indicate Catholic majorities. Huerta and Blanquet received majorities in a number of places. It is said by many politicians that enough votes have been cast for the Huerta-Blanquet ticket to invalidate the election, in view of Gen. Huerta's declaration that Congress must declare these votes illegal. The Ayuntamiento has been called to meet November 2 to pass upon the ballots for Senators and Deputies.

GERMANS COMING.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The German protected cruiser Nuremberg sailed today from Yokohama for Mazatlan on the Pacific coast of Mexico. She will remain there during the disturbances in that country.

The German cruiser Berlin will arrive at Vera Cruz in a short time to relieve the cruiser Hertha.

FIGHTING AT MONTEREY.

Rebel Reports State They Are in Possession of Advantageous Points in the City.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAREDO, Oct. 27.—Advices from Constitutionalist forces in Monterey under date of October 26, received here today State that fierce fighting was then under way in the streets. The rebels were in possession of the National Railway depot and other vantage points where they had artillery planted to sweep the broad Avenue Calzada Union.

AMERICANS DEPORTED.

OUSTED FROM SONORA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Oct. 27.—Frank Smith, John Brent and Ames Landre, American citizens, were deported today from Sonora by Constitutionalist authorities on account of their alleged association with the bandit, Raphael Campa, who was executed some time ago. The men had been in jail in Hermosillo for six months, and their nationality was all that saved them from death.

AWAIT REPORT ON ELECTION.

Result of Mexico Balloting Is Still in Doubt.

Verdict May Be Delayed for Several Weeks.

Catholic Party Promises an Early Statement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—Owing to the demoralized condition of means of communication in Mexico the result of the elections probably will not be known for several weeks. It is hoped, however, that the "Ayuntamiento," a body resembling a board of aldermen, will have prepared its report for the Federal district by the end of the week.

At the headquarters of the Felix Diaz party no headway has been made to ascertain the strength of the Diaz vote. The Catholics have promised an early statement, estimating the vote for Federico Gamboa in the Federal district.

Reluctance to go to the polls was general. Besides a lack of experience in such affairs, there was said to be generally felt a fear that some evil consequence would follow, should the voter choose a losing candidate.

Less than 7 per cent. of the registered voters cast a ballot at Ensenada de Todos, Lower California, of which a large part was composed of soldiers. The vote was practically unanimous for Huerta and Blanquet.

The Mexican Minister of the Interior, Gerza Aldape, was asked today if the few votes cast in the City of Mexico might be taken as an indication of how much voting had been done elsewhere in the republic, and if, in view of the small number of votes cast, the elections would be declared null by Congress.

The minister replied that the point which will decide the legality of the election, apart from the absence of fraud, will not be whether a majority of the voters in each electorial district cast votes; it being immaterial, for instance, if only 10,000 people in this capital cast their ballots.

"The essential thing," Senor Aldape explained, "is that the returns come in from a majority of the electoral districts and that the elections held there had been fair, even though only a small proportion of the voters may have availed themselves of the privilege of voting."

With regard to the vote for provisional President Huerta and Minister of War Blanquet, he said:

"I have no news of any great number of votes having been cast for Huerta and Blanquet. Those which have been cast for Huerta will be thrown out as illegal on the ground of unconstitutionality, in accordance with the President's direction.

"MEN OF STEEL."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN LUIS POSTOSI (Mex.) Oct. 27.—Posters announcing the candidacy of Huerta and Blanquet, and calling upon people to vote for "men of steel" and to beware of being misled in these critical times, kept many of the voters away from the polls in yesterday's elections here. Of the few votes cast, Gamboa, candidate of the Catholic party, received the majority.

Posters also announced the birth of a new party called "Anti-interventionist." All other posters were prohibited.

News from the surrounding country indicates that the number of marauding parties has not diminished. Rancheros are flocking to the city in terror. The boldness of the rebels is increasing.

VERA CRUZ (Mex.) Oct. 27.—Provisional President Huerta obtained 1540 of the 2000 votes cast in Vera Cruz at yesterday's election, according to the official returns. Gen. Felix Diaz polled 300 and the remaining 200 were scattered among other candidates.

REBEL STATEMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) Oct. 27.—Constitutionalists claim that when the Piedras Negras polls closed yesterday the vote stood about 95 for Diaz to 1200 for Huerta, and that hundreds of votes were added to the rolls last night. In scores of cases, it is asserted, a single soldier voted in the names of a dozen different persons. It is declared certain that entire companies of soldiers were voted by their officers in some instances.

ALABAMA CHEERS WILSON.

President's Special Is Met at All Points With True Southern Hospitality.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ON BOARD PRESIDENT WILSON'S SPECIAL TRAIN, OPELIKA (Ala.) Oct. 27.—Seldom has Woodrow Wilson been given the demonstration of enthusiasm with which Alabama today welcomed him, not only at Mobile, where seemingly the city's entire population turned out, but at all points en route. As his train traveled northward toward Washington tonight, the reception was one of continuous cheering. The people came flocking to the stations in happy throngs eager to hear the President make a speech, but he refrained, preferring to reach over the rail of his car and shake hands with men, women and children everywhere.

"Please make a speech," implored some man in the great crowd at Montgomery.

"I'm not much of a hand at speeches from the train," laughed the President, and then added:

"I'll admit I am not much to look at either."

"But you look good to us," chorused the crowd.

"We wish Mrs. Wilson could come along," came from a feminine contingent.

"I wish she could, too," replied the President; "she's much better looking."

The people jammed the station yards at Montgomery and gave the President a rousing cheer as his train pulled out, at Opelika, and at other stations along the way. The crowds waited until long into the night for the President's train.

Though in receipt of messages on the Mexican situation the President made no announcement nor had he anything to add tonight with reference to his speech at Mobile earlier in the day.

RE-ENLIST OREGON'S MEN.

Fifty Members of Her Crew Will Be on Board When She Leads Through the Canal.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The desire of the fifty San Francisco members of the crew of the famous old battleship Oregon to be on her decks when she leads the international fleet through the Panama Canal in 1915 will be gratified. As Congress stipulates that the term of enlistment shall be four years, it hardly would be possible to allow the old tars to re-enlist for a shorter period, but Secretary Daniels is considering a plan to invite as many of the old officers and men of the Oregon as he can assemble to make the trip. Rear-Admiral Clark, the Oregon's commander on her famous trip around the Horn, will be at his old post on the bridge.

"MEXICO WANTS HUERTA," ELECTIONS INTERPRETED.

Probable that None of the Candidates Received Vote Required by the Constitution and the General Will Remain at the Head of the Government—Dominguez Recommends Establishment of Military.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The fact of the light vote polled yesterday is interpreted to mean that the masses do not wish a change of government under the present circumstances. It is probable that none of the candidates received the majority necessary under the Constitution, and Gen. Huerta will remain at the head of the government.

THE DOMINGUEZ PLAN.

The plan submitted to the War Department by Engineer Dominguez contemplates to establish fifty military agricultural colonies throughout the republic. One thousand men will be located in each of the colonies. One-tenth of the colonists will be used in the military service while the other nine-tenths will be employed in farming. After these men have been drilled and are ready for active service they will be sent to farming and another tenth of the colonists will be drilled. The colonies will be commanded by regular officers of the army.

Mr. Dominguez believes that by the adoption of this plan Mexico, within a few years, will have a well drilled army at a relatively small cost, and at the same time the colonists also will be trained in scientific farming. According to Mr. Dominguez several bankers of Chicago are willing to subscribe a loan of 50,000,000 pesos for the establishment of these military colonies.

The offer of the Chicago bankers has been referred to the Minister of Finance, who is making a study of the case. The bankers offer to take the bonds of the 50,000,000-peso loan with the express condition that this amount will be used in the establishment of the colonies.

The loan will be guaranteed with the lands that the government will buy for the colonies. The bonds of this loan will bear an interest of 4½ per cent. annually.

THE STANDING ARMY.

The standing army of Mexico will be increased to the strength of 150,000 men, according to a decree issued by President Huerta, through the Department of War, last Friday. This decree will be effective today, when it will be duly published and circulated throughout the republic.

The reasons set forth by the chief magistrate for increasing the Federal army were that the necessities of the campaign against the rebels in different parts of the republic require a large number of troops to restore peace and tranquility.

Gen. Diaz, in a telegram to the War Department, has asked for his retirement from the Mexican army. The question rests absolutely in the hands of Gen. Blanquet as to what action shall be taken in this matter.

Programme of Wilson.

holders of concessions, seeking "material interests" in the countries affected. The President declared that through motives of morality and not "expediency" the United States desired to help the Latin-American republics to an "emancipation from the subordination which has been inevitable to foreign enterprise."

The President's speech was uttered with a confidence which bespoke the dominant part the United States expects to play in the future of the American republics.

"Not through any idea of material interests," he carefully explained, "but through a love of the people of constitutional liberty.

"The United States never again will seek to obtain one additional foot of territory by conquest," he declared amid applause.

Mr. Wilson was breakfasted, drove about the city in an automobile, was taken on a sight-seeing expedition in the harbor and started back to Washington with cheers ringing about his special train.

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

The President said:

"I come here because I want to speak of our present and prospective relations with our neighbors to the south. I deemed it a public duty as well as a personal pleasure to be here to express for myself and for the government I represent, the welcome we all feel to those who represent the Latin-American states. The future will be very different for this hemisphere from the past. The states lying to the south of us, which have always been our neighbors, will now be drawn closer to us by innumerable ties and I hope chief of all, by the tie of common understanding.

"Interest does not tie nations together. It sometimes separates them; but sympathy and understanding do unite them. And I believe by the new route that is just about to be opened, while we physically cut two continents asunder, we spiritually unite them. It is a spiritual union which we seek. I wonder if you realize the significance of the tides of commerce.

"These great tides which have been along parallels of latitude now will swing southward athwart parallels of latitude and that opening gate at the Isthmus of Panama will open the world to a commerce that she has not known before—a commerce of intelligence of thought and sympathy between north and south—and the Latin-American states which to their disadvantage have been off the main lines, now will be on the main lines. I feel that these gentlemen honoring us with their presence today will find presently that some part at any rate of the center of gravity of the world, has shifted. Do you realize that New York, for example, will be nearer the western coast of South America than she is now to the eastern coast of South America. You hear of concessions to foreign capitalists in Latin-America. You do not hear of concessions to foreign capitalists in the United States. They are not granted concessions. They are invited to make investments. The work is ours, though they are welcome to invest in it. We do not ask them to supply the capital and do the work. It is an invitation, not a privilege; and states that are obliged because their territory does not lie within the main field of modern enterprise and action to grant concessions are in such condition that foreign interests are apt to dominate their domestic affairs, a condition always dangerous and apt to become intolerable.

"What these States will see, therefore, is an emancipation from the subordination to foreign enterprise and an assertion of the splendid character, which, in spite of these difficulties, they have again and again been able to demonstrate. The dignity, the courage, the self-possession, the respect of the Latin-American states, their achievements in the face of all these adverse circumstances, deserve nothing but the admiration and applause of the world. They have had harder bargains driven with them in the matter of loans than any other people in the world. Interest has been exacted of them that was not exacted of anybody, because the risk was said to be greater, and then securities were taken that destroyed the risks. An admirable arrangement for those who were forcing the terms.

"I rejoice in nothing so much as in the prospect that they will be emancipated from these conditions and we ought to be the first to take part in assisting that emancipation. In the future they will draw closer and closer to us because of circumstances of which I wish to speak with moderation and, I hope, without indiscretion.

"We must prove ourselves their friends and champions upon terms of equality and honor. You can not be friends upon any other terms than upon the terms of equality. You can not be friends at all except upon the terms of honor, and we must show ourselves friends by comprehending their interest, whether it squares with our interest or not. It is a very perilous thing to determine the foreign policy of a nation in the terms of material interest.

"Comprehension must be the soil in which shall grow all the fruits of friendship; because there is a reason and compulsion lying behind all this which is dearer than anything else to the thoughtful men of America. I mean the development of constitutional liberty in the world. Human rights, national integrity and opportunity as against material interests. That is the issue which we now have to face.

"I want to take this occasion to say that the United States never again will seek one additional foot of territory by conquest. She will devote herself to showing that she knows how to make the most of the honorable and fruitful territory she has. And she must regard it as one of the duties of friendship to see that from this quarter are material interests made superior to human liberty and national opportunity.

"I say this, not with a single thought that anyone will gainsay it, but merely to fix in our consciousness what our real relationship with the rest of America is. It is the relationship of a family of mankind devoted to the development of true constitutional liberty.

"Reference has been made here today to some of the national problems which confront us as a nation. What is the heart of all our national problems? It is that we have seen the hand of material interest sometimes about to close upon our dearest interests and possessions. We have seen material interests threaten constitutional freedom in America. Therefore, we will know how to sympathize with those in America who have to contend with that, not only within their borders, but from outside also.

"I know what the response of the thought and heart of America to a programme like that will be, because America was created to realize a programme like that. This is not America because it is rich. This is not America because it has set up for a great population great opportunities of prosperity. America is a name which sounds in the ears of men everywhere as a synonym of individual opportunity, as a synonym of individual liberty. I would rather belong to a poor nation that was free than to a rich nation that had ceased to be in love with liberty. But we shall not be poor if we love liberty, because the nation that loves liberty truly sets every man free to do his best, and that means the release of all the splendid energies of a great people, who think for themselves. A nation of employees can not be free any more than a nation of employers can be. So, in emphasizing the points which must unite us in sympathy and in spiritual interest with the Latin-American people we are only emphasizing the points of our own life, and we should prove ourselves untrue to our own traditions if we proved ourselves unfree friends today. Do not think, therefore, that questions of the day are mere questions of policy and diplomacy. They are shot through with the principles of life. We dare not turn from the principle that morality and not expediency is the thing that must guide us, and that we will never condone iniquity because it is most convenient to do so.

"So it seems to me that this is a day of infinite hope, of confidence in a future greater than the past has been. For I am fain to believe that in spite of all the things that we wish to correct the nineteenth century that now lies behind us has brought us a long stage toward the time when, slowly ascending the tedious climb that leads to the final uplands, upon which we shall get the ultimate view of the beauties of mankind and we shall presently, it may be in a generation or two, look upon those great heights where shines unobstructed, the light of the justice of God."

DANIELS SPEAKS.

Conceding the vast benefits that will accrue to commerce through the opening of the Panama Canal, Secretary Daniels told the Congress that the opening would not double the efficiency of the navy. He acknowledged, however, that the increased mobility of the fleets would render the navy more efficient.

"The canal," he said, "will not double the effectiveness of our navy, but it will greatly increase its ability to defend every part of the Coast on the Pacific as well as on the Atlantic. It will not multiply the numbers of the army."

He said it would make necessary fortifications and troops, but that it need not be nearly so expensive or require one-half so many troops as has been predicted.

No great achievement comes without sacrifice and cost, but the benefits to be derived will be worth the moderate cost its protection and operation will require in all the years to come, and with the expansion of trade the benefits will increase a hundredfold, whereas the expense will remain practically stationary.

The military significance of the canal of course is that it enables the quick movement of the fleet from either ocean to the other, in time of war.

"It will be the most vital chord in that system of transference by which the navy of the United States can come promptly to the support on either coast of the local defenses. With a competent navy and with the canal secured, not merely as to tenure, but with guns of such range as to insure deployment in the open sea at either end—a necessary condition of all seacoast fortifications—invasion will not be attempted, for it can lead to no adequate results. Without the canal it would require four months for an Atlantic fleet to round Cape Horn into the upper Pacific; with the canal it will require less than four weeks."

Secretary Daniels, referring to the Spanish-American War days, lauded the battleship Oregon's hazardous trip of 13,400 miles in record-breaking time, declaring the cruise helped powerfully to build the canal.

W.C.T.U. Convention Favors Woman Suffrage.

Hobson Made Life Member of the Organization.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—"Suffrage has never been extended anywhere through a militant movement," declared Dr. Anna Howard Shaw at the symposium of the convention of the World's W.C.T.U. today. "When the women of England cease to be legally militant, they take that step which no woman can take and succeed.

"In America we have not been militant; we are not militant and we never will be militant. The American man is always glad to receive us courteously and listen to our arguments, but he always votes us down. A certain part of the American man is lost to us, thinks we will stop before we get the vote."

Miss Agnes E. Slack, honorary secretary of the W.C.T.U. of Derbyshire, Eng., whose late brother, Sir John Baniford Slack, introduced a suffrage bill into Parliament, also opposed militant tactics.

The greater part of the afternoon session of the convention was given over to discussion of suffrage. The convention put itself on record as favoring woman suffrage and asking government regulation of vice.

HOBSON ELECTED.

Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama, who introduced a resolution in Congress to prohibit throughout the United States the sale of alcoholic liquors, was today elected a life member of the union. The motion was taken on motion of Mrs. Annie K. Wiesel, head of the Alabama delegation, who announced that the W.C.T.U. of that State would contribute his $100 membership fee. The convention thereupon voted to send $100 to Hobson to be used in the temperance campaign in Alabama and the delegates from Maine, Pennsylvania and Kentucky contributed $300 more for the same purpose.

Announcement that the convention would work for State laws requiring a three to five-mile zone of prohibition around all government reservations was made by Mrs. Ida Hoover Thacher of Washington, D. C., head of temperance work among soldiers and sailors.

MONEY SAVED.

Mrs. Sarah L. Oberholtzer of Philadelphia, in charge of the department of schools, savings and penny, announced that more than $1,000,000 had been saved by school children in the United States in the last seven years in the school savings banks organized by the W.C.T.U.

Rosalind, Countess of Carlisle, was today re-elected president of the organization and Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens of Portland, Me., vice-president. Mrs. Anna Gordon of Evanston, Ill., was re-elected secretary, and Miss Ida E. Sanderson of Canada treasurer. The convention will close today.

The closing session of the convention held in Brooklyn tonight will be given over to one-minute addresses by delegates representing the different countries. Lady Henry Somerset, whose mother, the Duchess of Carlisle, was re-elected honorary president of the World's Union, and the temperance work of Great Britain, will be presented. A book containing the autographs of the world officers and honorary delegates was presented to Miss Lillian M. Stevens, president, to be sent to Lady Howard, to be taken to her mother.

Delegates of each country marched to the platform and sang their national anthem, and the convention closed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." It was announced $1000 had been subscribed during the convention by delegates. The next world's convention will probably will be held in [illegible].

The National Council today appealed to President Wilson to use his influence to prevent separation of negro and white clerks in government departments throughout the country, when it adopted unanimously a resolution proposed jointly by the Rev. A. C. Dixon of Washington, D. C., and the Rev. R. H. E. Proctor of Augusta, Georgia. Dr. Grimer explained the resolution was prompted by the recent separation of negro and white clerks in the government offices in Washington. Indorsement of the Protestant Episcopal Church's plan to send a commission to Great Britain to create interest in a world conference on religion, looking to the union of all churches, was given by the council when it adopted a favorable resolution. The council applied to the city of San Francisco and the board of directors of the Panama-Pacific exposition to adopt, during the exposition, every means to prevent the exploiting of the exposition by commercialized vice.

DEFENSE OF HUERTA.

Defense of Provisional President Huerta's administration in Mexico and denial that the Mexican executive had a share in the murder of former President Madero and Vice-President Suarez was made by the Rev. John Howland of Guadalajara, a missionary. He also paid strong tribute to the rule of Porfirio Diaz, saying of the great epigram:
"He made a nation and destroyed people."
Mr. Howland has lived for thirty-three years in Mexico as head of the Colegio Internacional at Guadalajara. "The widespread idea that Gen. Huerta seized the Presidency," said he, "is that he came in through the back door of assassination, is entirely inaccurate. His acceptance of the Provisional Presidency precluded his being a candidate in the present election and his government was established and both officially and popularly accepted days before the death of President Madero.
"Huerta had nothing to gain by the murder of Madero. President Madero found the treasury bankrupt and revenues were immensely reduced by the closing of most of the ports of entry. The corruption of traffic and general disturbance. The hostile attitude of American authorities against Gen. Huerta caused the bankers who had promised a large loan to delay the same and payments, and this has seriously impeded the pacification of the country. Mexico should be left alone. It is well able to take care of itself."

WASHINGTON SURPRISED.

WAHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Diplomatic and society circles in Washington heard of the marriage of Miss Katherine Elkins to William F. R. Hitt with unusual interest. The news came as a complete surprise although it had been known that the wealthy young Washingtonian had been an ardent admirer of Miss Elkins for many years.
A few years ago capital society was certain that Miss Elkins would wed the famous Duke of the Abruzzi, member of the Italian royal family, naval officer and explorer. About the time the Duke came to America in command of the Italian fleet that participated in the international rendezvous at the Jamestown Exposition, the West Virginia heiress attracted great attention.
Then, for several years there were semi-official announcements of their engagement. It was said that the Duke's family objected and then that Miss Elkins had rejected the royal suitor. Denials followed the reports but many people believed that in the end the wedding would take place. Finally the Queen Dowager of Italy was said to have interfered. At any rate, the Duke went on a two-year cruise and nothing more was heard about the romance.

Keel of the Superdreadnaught Pennsylvania Is Begun at Newport News Plant.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEWPORT NEWS (Va.) Oct. 27.—First plates of the keel of the superdreadnaught Pennsylvania which, when completed two years hence, will be the largest and most powerful fighting machine in the world, were laid at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company today.
The Pennsylvania will be 625 feet long over all and will have a beam of ninety-seven feet and a draft of forty-two feet. Her full load displacement will be 32,500 tons, or 3500 gross tons greater than the superdreadnaughts Oklahoma and Nevada. Twelve fourteen-inch breech-loading rifles are to make up the main battery of the ship. Her speed will be twenty-one knots an hour and she will be equipped with turbine engines, supplied with steam from boilers with oil burners. The total cost of the vessel, with armor and armament, will be about $11,000,000

JUDGE TALKS TO SETTLERS.

Says Government's Policy Is to Allow Entry Regardless of Other Reservations.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NORTH PLATTE (Neb.) Oct. 27.—Judge James W. Witten, who is conducting the drawing of the Nebraska forest and military lands to be distributed by lot tomorrow, delivered an address tonight which indicated the policy of the administration as it concerns the populating of the public domain thus far not under cultivation. Judge Wittem indicated that the government would give prospective settlers on unoccupied lands still subject to entry an opportunity to occupy them without regard to restrictions growing out of the so-called mineral and forest reservations.
He eulogized former Congressman Kinkaid for the Federal land law which enables entrymen to file on entire sections and thus develop grazing and similar land which former laws kept from settlement.
A brass band headed a downtown parade tonight in honor of the drawing tomorrow. The town is decorated for the occasion and red fire and fireworks are much in evidence. These spectacular features are said to be unique in the history of land drawings.

WRECK TRAINS FOR STRIKERS.

Professionals Sent Out to Do the Work.

Seven Mine Guards Captured by the Unionists.

Battle at Mile Range Lasts Half an Hour.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
TRINIDAD (Colo.) Oct. 27.—Strikers captured seven guards today at Chicosa Junction, eight miles north of Trinidad. It was also reported that they captured a Colorado and Southeastern engine.
For half an hour today more than 125 strikers battled at a mile range with several steel carloads of mine guards who were traveling over the Colorado and Southern Railway tracks, ostensibly on their way to the Hastings mine. The strikers at the Ludlow camp had been led to believe that the guards were entraining to attack the tent colony.
Train derailers were set up and switches were thrown. When the first train came into sight, a mile away, the strikers who had gone out to meet it began firing. The train was stopped and the guards returned the fire. After half an hour of fighting, in which three guards are reported to have been slightly wounded, the train was backed down the track and the strikers returned to their colony, where they were lustily cheered.

DEPUTIES DRIVEN BACK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
LUDLOW (Colo.) Oct. 27.—Nearly 100 armed deputies from Trinidad attempted today to take the coal mine strikers' tent colony near here, but were driven back toward Trinidad after a spirited exchange of shots. So far as known there were no casualties. Later it was reported that the deputies were advancing toward the strikers' camps again. Later it was said the deputies did not intend to attack the tent colony, but were on their way to Tabasco to the relief of the small force of guards said to be surrounded by strikers.

MOVE TO END STRIKE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CALUMET (Mich.) Oct. 27.—A move made to end the strike of miners in the Michigan copper country failed today, but former Sheriff James Byers and Circuit Judge P. H. O'Brien, who acted as intermediaries between the opposing parties, still hope that their efforts will be successful.
Meanwhile hundreds of men are being brought into the district to replace the strikers, two special trains arriving with men today. It was stated that these men have been guaranteed permanent positions if their work proved satisfactory. The special trains were met today by large bodies of strikers, but strong forces of deputies and militiamen prevented disorder.

HOME RULE AT STAKE.

London Newspaper Reports Conference Between Ministers and the Opposition.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

That's What a Crook Ought to Do when a Fellow Refuses to Stick Up His Hands.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
DENVER (Colo.) Oct. 27.—"I don't like to shoot people, but when they refuse to stick up their hands what's a fellow to do?"
Thus James Nelson, aged 24, calmly philosophized today on his confessed murder last Friday of Thomas Chase, which put the capstone on a career of crime begun when he was 14 years old. Nelson has committed, he says, forty hold-ups, many burglaries and many forgeries. For several nights he held Denver in terror.
Nelson, or Hillon, or Frank Allen—he's not particular as to names—says he spent his childhood in various places in California. In San Francisco, at 14, he forged his father's name to checks, and in Salt Lake forged the signature of his uncle, for which he served time.

Let the Wolves Howl. Our Stores Are Crowded

The wolf is a peculiar sort of an animal. The wolf wants everything in sight, and very evidently he thinks he has the right to want it simply because of his might, because of his sharp teeth and glaring eyes and fierce claws, and he howls and yelps at the top of his voice when he doesn't seem to reach and catch everything he is after.

Do you suppose there is any possible reason in the world outside of service and value why one of our three stores last Saturday sold over 500 Suits and Overcoats right during this time when so many say business is bad? Do you suppose there is any possible reason in the world why the crowds come and keep coming to Foreman & Clark outside of the one reason of service and value combined?

We don't deny the fact that we think our advertising attracts customers; but our advertising doesn't sell Suits. The customers themselves decide as to whether or not the suits are worth buying. You know and every other man in California knows that the average man is a pretty good judge of clothes. Not only that; but the fact is that two out of every three new customers we make daily are men sent us by some one of their friends who has bought here in days gone by and is buying here still. Why does such a man send his friends here? Why do you send your friends wherever you send them?

The most assuredly successful business is that which is built on the recommendation of its customers, and that,—yes that much more than anything else is why we are proud of our success. We are a success, an assured success. A success no one can possibly take away from us, and simply because Rain and Snow Slowly Follow the Temperature Decrease in the Central States, With More Due to Come — Texas Reports Freezing Weather and Damage to Crops.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Predictions that a general cold wave would sweep across the country from the Canadian Rockies to the southeastern Atlantic Coast have not yet been fulfilled, except in spots, although the temperature is lowering rapidly tonight.

The lowest temperature so far reported is at points in Wisconsin and Iowa, 16 above. Snow fell in Central Illinois and there were heavy rains around the Great Lakes region, Southern Illinois, Tennessee and Arkansas. These rains will probably be followed by much colder weather on Wednesday, according to the forecast for the week.

Considerable damage is reported from Northern Texas points, Amarillo reporting 26 deg. above and El Paso reporting 34. San Antonio was only 2 deg. warmer than this and it is feared there has been heavy damage to vegetables and other crops.

Snow was reported tonight in North Dakota, Yellowstone Park and Western Canada. The southeastern Gulf Coast States show a drop of about twelve degrees in temperature. All of Western Canada is below the freezing point and indications are that the cold wave is headed for the southeast.

The Ohio Valley is twenty-four degrees warmer than Chicago. St. Louis is ten degrees colder than St. Paul. Winds at twenty-two miles an hour, blowing steadily from the northeast, prevail over the lakes tonight, and will undoubtedly result in much colder weather by Wednesday. It is thought the chilly wave will sift down through the Ohio Valley by Thursday night and strike the Gulf Coast country, although considerably modified, by Saturday.

Los Angeles, with a maximum of 70, is twenty degrees warmer than Spokane, and fourteen degrees warmer than Portland. Sacramento, with 82, and Phoenix, Ariz., with 80, are the warmest spots in the country.

Edmonton sank to 6 above at 8 o'clock tonight and will doubtless experience zero weather by morning. This was a drop of twenty degrees in six hours.

VARILLA IS SATISFIED.

French Canal Builder Is Filled With Admiration for the Work Done by Col. Goethals.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Phillippe Bunau-Varilla, the French canal engineer, arrived here today from Panama, having spent four days on the isthmus with Col. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama Canal. He was present when the Gamboa dike was blown up, practically joining the waters of the Pacific and the Atlantic.

M. Bunau-Varilla denied that his mission to Panama was for the purpose of determining for private interests whether another canal in that vicinity was feasible. Such an idea, he declared, was ridiculous.

"The only possible routes where a canal might be built," the engineer continued, "are under the control of the United States, with the exception of the Atrato River route in North Columbia. But it would be foolhardy to make use of this great river for sucha project. Besides, it would be impossible to compete with the worst possible canal, such as that would be, when next to it is a perfect canal."

M. Bunau-Varilla said he returned from Panama filled with admiration for what had been accomplished.

Mrs. Eaton's Examination Lasts Six Hours.

Says the Admiral's Brain Was Full of Drugs.

Tells Court Husband Ate Medicine Like Candy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PLYMOUTH (Mass.) Oct. 27.—The cross-examination of Mrs. Annie May Eaton, who is on trial for her life charged with poisoning her husband, Rear-Admiral Eaton, was uncompleted when court adjourned tonight. She had then been on the stand twelve hours, six hours under direct examination Saturday and six hours in the hands of Attorney Barker today, and showed signs of fatigue.

Much of the examination today had to do with numerous letters written by the defendant. Regarding one of these, written in 1910, the witness said:

"The admiral's brain was full of drugs. He was almost childish at times and should have been allowed to do as he pleased. If he had, he would be alive today."

CONTRADICTS DAUGHTER.

Mrs. Eaton repeatedly contradicted testimony given by the witnesses for the prosecution, including that of her daughter, Dorothy, who had said that her mother gave the admiral medicine in food and beverages. Mrs. Eaton admitted that she had bought this medicine on two occasions. Once she said she told the admiral about it and gave it to him with his knowledge, but on the other time she did not use it.

"I never could have deceived Admiral Eaton. So expert was he in medicines that he would have detected it immediately," she said. Some of the medicine she bought for the admiral he liked as well as he "ate it like peppermint," she added.

Explaining a phrase in one of her letters, which referred to the "nettenness of the navy," Mrs. Eaton said she believed the admiral's mental condition was due in a large measure to his life abroad while in the navy.

Admiral Eaton was ashamed of his drug habit, the witness said, and often she had known of him spilling whisky on his coat and rubbing of his mustache in order to give the impression that liquor was responsible for his condition.

Regarding letters in which she told the admiral had wished to divorce women the witness asserted the contrary positive of these facts.

Her letter to Grace B. Hood in which she asked the recipient to certify that the admiral wished it, was written, Mrs. Eaton said, because she was afraid the admiral would try to fasten the death of her adopted child upon her. This was in June. She gave publicity to the baby's death, she said, "to save more lives that might be lost by him."

SCORES NEIGHBORS.

Going into details regarding neighborhood gossip, she said: "I come from an exclusive family, and I do not understand all this gossip. I sit and gasp at the goodness of New England women. Southern women would be clever enough to know which of the two parties was short of brains."

God."

PAPERS MISSING.

Documents Needed in the Trial of Donahue and Suttel in Chicago Can't be Found.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Papers needed by the State are missing from the court files, Arthur P. O'Neil, assistant to the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court testified today in the trial of Attorney Daniel Donahue and Detective Isaac Stiefel, charged with conspiring to defame the character of Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester Company.

Whether the missing papers would do the State any good was made doubtful by a temporary ruling by Presiding Judge Pam to the effect that the court record of testimony given in a civil suit is not admissible as evidence in a criminal case. This decision, if made permanent, would throw out much of the State's evidence, which was taken from testimony given in an unsuccessful action suit brought against Funk, from which the present prosecution grew.

Three Girls Confess They Put Strychnine in the Coffee at Industrial School.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 27.—Strychnine in sufficient quantity to cause the death of all the inmates of the Girls' State Industrial School at Salem was found in the coffee served in the school Sunday night, the matron, Miss Esther Hamilton, tasted the beverage. Investigation brought a statement from three girls that they had put the poison in the coffee at the request of Alice Crestwell, an inmate.

The matter was suppressed so that it could be brought before the Grand Jury today when it was decided to indict Miss Crestwell. She was said to have been released.

LARKIN FOUND GUILTY.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

DUBLIN (Ireland) Oct. 27.—James Larkin, leader of the striking Irish transport workers, was found guilty today on charges of seditious inciting to riot. He was sentenced to seven months in prison.

Attorney-General in opening the case for the prosecution said Larkin had been prosecuted, not because he was a labor leader, but because he was a "wicked and dangerous criminal."

The Irish transport workers have been on strike since early in August and such distress is reported among their families that the British trades' unions have sent large quantities of supplies.

LEMONS REACH SUPREME COURT.

Counsel for the Railroads Attack Low Rates.

Government Contends Order Is Not Unreasonable.

No "Confiscation" About It, Asserts Attorney.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The lemon rate case was reached today by the Supreme Court and the hearing of arguments in it will be concluded tomorrow.

Counsel at the outset asked for more than the four-hours' time allowed on account of there being an interpreter, and the Chief Justice granted an additional half-hour on each side, the disposition of the time to be settled between counsel themselves.

Albert Dunlap of counsel for the Santa Fe Railroad, which appealed the case, opened the argument with a review of the case. He said the only question at issue was whether the rate of $1.15 was unreasonable or not. Incidentally the Chief Justice or one of the associates would interpose a question, which being disposed of, counsel would proceed.

The old argument was lugged in about the fixing of a rate that would enable the California growers of lemons to sell their product in competition with the section growers in all parts of the United States. When, said a rate of $1.25 the growers complained that they could not compete with the Sicilians, said counsel, the roads reduced the rate to $1. This, it is contended, was an emergency rate. On appeal of the orange growers, the roads made them a rate of $1.15 in force but he said Ripley considered only a temporary rate.

The court asked a number of questions about the bearing of Sicilian competition on the reduction of the rate. Counsel insisted that this competition was the real and original reason for lowering the rate, making it evident that this was considered by the roads their main reliance for the support of the $1.15 rate. He read from briefs and opinions to support his contention that the $1 rate was made solely to enable the California fruit industry to compete with Sicily and said the railroad thought that when it reduced the rate it would not be doing business.

"Was there anything to show that this was not a compensatory rate?" asked the court. Dunlap went into details to show how the Santa Fe had figured itself that on a car of lemons from Southern California to Hurdland, Mo., there would be a deficit of $—.

"You say," asked the court, "that you are doing all your freight business at a loss?"

"We found that the average cost was more than we received for lemons, therefore the rate was not a reasonable rate, within the meaning of that section of the law."

The standards fixed in this case, said Dunlap, by the Interstate Commerce Commission, were capricious, arbitrary and unreasonable, and he quoted Florida rate decisions to support his allegation. The court remarked that if the commission had all the facts before it, as counsel said it had, it seemed strange that its decision should be considered arbitrary.

"I will go on to that issue," said Dunlap, who proceeded to dissect the findings of the commission. He denied the force of the assertion that the average haul for lemons was less than the average haul for oranges. It was a blanket rate, he declared, and distance was not considered. Any shipper of lemons, he said, was entitled to the $1.15 rate, whether his neighbor chose to ship his lemons further east in the blanket or not. Surprise was expressed because "not one word had been said" as to the greater bulk of shipments of oranges than of lemons. Counsel said the commission had fixed the principle that bulk should affect rates. It was wholly immaterial, he declared, what percentage went under refrigeration or under ventilation or the use of collapsible bunkers, he insisted had no bearing.

It was submitted that in making the second order the same as the first the commission acted arbitrarily and that it put itself in the place of the general managers of the railroads in making rates.

GOVERNMENT'S ARGUMENT.

Attorney Blackburn Esterlein, for the Department of Justice, opened the argument in reply to the appellants. He said that the contentions of the government came under four heads: First, that there was no question whatever of a reference to Sicilian competition. Second, that the blanket was fixed on the unanimous request of all the railroads and shippers. Third, that the evidence in support of the order was substantial. Fourth, that there is no confiscation. Esterlein showed that the question of Sicilian competition was stricken from the records. On rehearing commission refused to allow any evidence on that line, and in the order the commission expressly disclaimed giving any consideration to the question of Sicilian competition. As to the blanket rate said Esterlein, there was never any such rate. The commission did not fix the blanket rate, but merely reduced it as it stood. He showed that Commissioner Potvuty inquired specifically whether it was desired to leave the blanket rate or whether it wanted a graded rate. Reading from the record he showed that the Santa Fe, the Southern Pacific and the San Pedro lines specifically declared that they were not contesting the blanket rate but wished it to stand, and the representatives of the growers took the same ground.

"When they complain of the rate on 800 carloads shipped east of the Alleghenies," said counsel, "they say nothing about the enormous profit they make on the 2500 cars that are shipped into territory west of the Mississippi River." On the question of sufficiency of the evidence, Esterlein quoted A. M. Mortenson, who testified regarding the center of distribution. He said the center of distribution for lemons was a line drawn north and south just west of Chicago and that for oranges it was 450 miles east, or the latitude of Wheeling, W. Va.

Commissioner Clark was quoted as saying that while this was to be given consideration it was not a controlling question.

As to the "expediting" of this traffic, evidence introduced by the railroads showed that dried fruit, wool, even steel rails were shipped in the same trains. The diversion privilege was touched on. Edward Chambers, being quoted as saying, at the hearing, that all commodities had the privilege of being diverted en route, without extra charge just the same as citrus fruits. The speed of citrus trains was also taken up. Counsel declared there was evidence to show that the schedule was only ten or eleven miles an hour. Mortenson was quoted as saying that the time on deciduous fruit was one and a half to two days faster to Chicago than citrus fruit, particularly lemons, while cantaloupes were given two days faster time to Chicago and sometimes better than that.

Here the court adjourned.

SUSPENDS INCREASE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By an order entered October 17, the Interstate Commerce Commission further suspended from November 20, 1913, until May 20, 1914, the operation of an increase in rates for the transportation of fresh fruits and vegetables between points in California, Nevada and other Western States.

THE CURRENCY BILL.

Executive Consideration of Measure Resolves Itself Into a Hearing Behind Closed Doors.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The first day set for executive consideration of the administration currency bill by the Senate Banking Committee resolved itself into a hearing held behind closed doors.

Although hearings were officially closed Saturday the committee spent the day in secret session with Prof. Jeremiah Jenks of the University of the City of New York on the stand.

Prof. Jenks, in response to questions from members of the committee when he was on the stand last week, returned to Washington to present a plan he had drawn for the establishment of a government-controlled central bank to dominate the financial system. Today he indorsed the central bank plan proposed last week by Frank A. Vanderlip of the National City Bank of New York and declared that the Vanderlip plan in many of its details was more nearly an ideal currency scheme than his own proposal.

Prof. Jenks's plan contemplates the establishment of a central Federal bank under the control and management of government officials, with branches established in various parts of the country. With this organization to take the place of the twelve regional reserve banks proposed in the administration bill, Jenks's plans follow closely the Owen-Glass measure in the working out of details.

SEEK POSTMASTERSHIPS.

Congressman Raker Indorses a Number of Candidates in San Luis Obispo County.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ella Vanaken Augur of Victorville has been appointed postmistress of a new postoffice created at Gray Mountain, San Bernardino county.

Congressman Raker has indorsed five candidates for postoffices who have received the indorsement of the San Luis Obispo county Central Committee, and also Charles B. McDonald at Ventura, brother-in-law of former Congressman Barlow. He announced a few days ago that he had indorsed George W. Mallory for this place, but this was an error. Mallory wants to be postmaster of Nordhoff.

Exeter, Tulare county, has a warm contest for the postmastership between E. E. Barclay and T. E. Awberry, neither of whom has secured support from the Congressman.

Fourth-class postmasters continued under the civil service rules are as follows: Biancco, Monterey county, John Breschini; Lang, Los Angeles county, Howard A. Slayton; Pine Ridge, Fresno county, John W. Armstrong; Sunset Beach, Orange county, Jesse A. Armitage; Tarpey, Fresno county, Arthur B. Tarpey; Wahtoke, Fresno county, Charles B. Kern.

BORAH PROBABLY SATISFIED.

Senator Fails to Block Confirmation of the President's Appointment of Four Native Filipinos.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—President Wilson's nominations of four native Filipinos to the Philippine Commission, one of whom is to be Secretary of Finance and Justice, for the islands, were confirmed today by the Senate. Senator Borah had given notice that he would block confirmations unless satisfactory assurances were given that the nominees were opposed to slavery in the islands.

The Kenyon Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] The Kenyon Bill to eliminate Washington's segregated district was passed today by the Senate and now goes to the House, where it failed in the last Congress. It follows the Des Moines plan for injunctions against owners of property used for immoral purposes and makes them liable for the abatement of disorderly places as nuisances.

FULL-DRESS FIRE FIGHTERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A spectacular fire, which lit up the ocean for miles, destroyed tonight the extensive bath-houses of the Hotel Nassau on Long Beach, L. I. The flames threatened for a while to spread to the big eight-story hotel, but fire departments of near-by villages, reinforced by a bucket brigade of patrons of the hotel, some of them attired in full dress, kept them from doing serious damage. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

DEMANDS BETTER STATION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—A resolution was introduced today in the San Francisco Board of Supervisors demanding that formal complaint be lodged with the State Railroad Commission and an effort be made to force the Southern Pacific railroad to provide adequate depot facilities here. The charge is made that the company refuses to improve the station unless a franchise of its own dictation is allowed.

The Secret of the Success of the

Hale Glove Dept. Is "Service"

Our gloves are, in the first place, selected by an expert who thoroughly understands gloves; they are marked at a very close profit—we figure that by making less profit on each glove we will do a greater volume of business and thus even up in the end anyway; and then when you buy the glove it is fitted to your hand by experts. But our service does not stop there—we guarantee that glove to give you satisfactory wear, and if it fails we want you to bring it back. Whether you want a glove to match your new Fall suit or gown or a glove for evening wear, you will find it at Hale's.

For Infants

Some reasons why Savory and Moore's Food is so successful as an Infant's diet.

Infants like it, and take it readily.

Its use may be begun gradually, while the child is still being nursed by the mother.

It provides the essential elements of nutrition in a form that even the most delicate infant can easily digest.

It makes healthy bone and good teeth, which are so necessary for proper physical development.

It relieves constipation, which, in infancy, is so often caused by improper, indigestible food.

MOTHER'S GUIDE FREE

Much useful information on the Feeding and Rearing of Infants will be found in Savory & Moore's booklet, "The Baby," a copy of which will be mailed, Free, to all applicants by Savory & Moore, Ltd., Chemists to The King, New Bond Street, London, England.

PRESCRIPTION AIDS CHRONIC SUFFERERS

Sickness Caused by Impure Blood is Easily Relieved.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a doctor's prescription of many years, are a tonic that have been of the greatest benefit in obstinate diseases caused by impure blood. These pills build up the blood; the restored blood burns up the poisons and normal health follows. In no disease does the blood show more altering and thinning than in rheumatism. No permanent relief is possible until the blood is restored and the rheumatic poisons are cast out.

Good digestion is impossible without a supply of rich, red blood. When the blood is thin and poor, the food remains undigested in the stomach and ferments, causing gas on the stomach. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and the stomach trouble disappears.

Health Restored by Eckman's Alterative

Glandular trouble, very frequently diagnosed by physicians as "Tuberculosis in the Glands," has been found to yield to Eckman's Alterative when other treatments did not bring relief. Eckman's Alterative is a medicine which during the past fifteen years, has brought about many recoveries even in a number of supposed hopeless cases. Read this:
257 Laruston St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In March, 1909, my doctor pronounced my case 'Tuberculosis in the Glands,' and a number of operations in a hospital failed to benefit me. In the meantime a friend of mine advised Eckman's Alterative. The wounds in my neck were still open and in a frightful condition when I started to take it. After using two bottles I found I was improving, having gained weight, could eat and was able to talk. I continued using it until I was well, which was in November, 1910. On November 11, 1911, I started to work, and since that time I have not lost one day's work through sickness. I highly recommend Eckman's Alterative to anyone who is suffering from Gland trouble."
(Affidavit) JOSEPH B. WHITE.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by the Owl Drug Co. and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

POSLAM HEALS ALL ITCHING SKIN TROUBLES

Poslam offers the easy means to permanent eradication of eczema, salt rheum, rashes, pimples, and all skin diseases. Its action is surprisingly rapid, itching stops. Immediate relief is felt. Soon the trouble disappears, and the skin regains its normal condition. A single overnight application is sufficient to show what Poslam can do, and will clear away undue redness of the nose or complexion. Comforts the red, itching, blistered feet. Protects from infection when applied to abrasions and sore spots. Relieves baby of chafed and itching humors.

POSLAM SOAP used daily for toilet and bath will keep the skin in healthy condition and improve its color and texture. All druggists sell Poslam (price 50 cents) and Poslam Soap (price 25 cents). For free samples write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York City.

A LOVELY FACE--- BUT UGLY HAIR

How often you see an otherwise lovely face spoiled by homely hair—a face that would be most charmingly beautiful if she only had prettier hair. What a pity!—and how foolish! Because that ugly hair, stringy, dull, lifeless-looking though it may be, can be made as glossy, soft, silky and beautiful as the heart could desire if only taken proper care of.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—it is just a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, its natural wavy softness, its natural rich beauty. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. The Owl Drug Co.—Stores in Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Portland, Seattle, Spokane.

THROAT Troubles ARE Dangerous

because the swollen glands and inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and impair their healthy action.

Scott's Emulsion stands alone as nature's corrector of throat troubles; its cod liver oil is speedily converted into germ-resisting tissue—the glycerine is curative and healing, while the combined emulsion upbuilds the forces to avert the weakening influence which always follow throat troubles.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is best for three important reasons—it relieves the trouble, it prevents a relapse, it is not charged with alcohol or stupefying drugs.

Shun substitutes and 13-107 Insist on Scott's.

Knocked Out.

PIQUED WIFE ASSAULTS TOO PRECOCIOUS HUSBAND.

NEIL R. COLGAN, wealthy furniture dealer, perhaps will take the precaution hereafter to find whether his wife is near by before he addresses pretty chorus girls as "kiddo." About three seconds after he had used the endearing term to vivacious Dixie Day in a Spring-street cafe shortly before midnight last night, his wife knocked him out with a heavy flower vase.

The bout was brief and much one-sided. Mrs. Britomarte Colgan, the wife, led once with the vase and her husband took the full count. Subsequently, at Central Police Station, the gabfest was renewed without decided advantage to either side. Interesting as the quarrel doubtless was to the principals, Lieut. Adams did not find it so and shortly put an end to the wordy warfare.

Mrs. Colgan is suing for divorce. Charges and counter-charges of serious nature have been made by both parties. Colgan is charged with having consoled himself for the loss of his wife by interest real or assumed in pretty young girls with whom he is alleged to visit various down town cafes. Mrs. Colgan resents this.

Last night, together with her nephew, Wayne Farrar, Mrs. Colgan walked into the Standard Cafe on South Spring street, according to the story told the police. Seated at a table a short distance away were Colgan, T. C. Van Horn and several young girls. Learning that the woman who sat near them was the wife of her escort, Dixie Day went over and accosted her.

Colgan was not content to let fate work out its own problem. Instead he called in a loud tone to the girl, begging her to leave Mrs. Colgan's table and sit by him. "Kiddo, kiddo," he called, and the next minute he thought that the roof had collapsed. It was only his wife who, with a heavy vase, had sent her husband to sleep. Afterwards he was sent to the Receiving Hospital, where the hole in his scalp was given emergency treatment.

The Colgans were married less than two years ago. They separated on July 8 of this year and since that time have lived apart. Speaking to Lieut. Adams last night, Mrs. Colgan protested that, although her husband is said to be worth $50,000, she was compelled to take in sewing to support herself. Yesterday, so she said, she mortgaged her household furniture in her home at No. 1647 West Fifty-third street, to provide herself with necessaries.

PRETTY FACES PLEASE CROWD.

PROFESSIONAD AND AMATEUR ART AT THE LIBRARY.

Unique Exhibit to Increase Interest in Child Welfare and in Juvenile Department of Great Public Institution Has Auspicious Opening—Thousands Attracted.

Love of children and of child life attracted thousands to the exhibition of pictures of children in the juvenile department of the Public Library, yesterday, the opening day of what may lengthen into a two-week "stand" if the interest and attendance are maintained at the initial rate.

Over 1000 pictures—mostly photographs—of babies and youngsters of older growth, have been artistically arranged on the walls of the children's department at the library, and the subjects range from a multitude of studies of chubby little things in the nude, to a large-size tinted photograph of a demure young miss of 14, one of the prettiest in the collection. Among the pictures which tell a story are three in particular which attracted favorable comment yesterday. One entitled "Not a Grain Too Much," represents a grocer weighing sugar for a little girl customer, who is absorbed in the delicate operation of arriving at an exact balance of the scales. Another is "Five O'clock Tea," and shows two little folks having a party in the back yard, their evident enjoyment not lessened a whit by the crudeness of the soap-box furniture. "Let's Play Hookey" is a combination of two boys, a brook, with its possibilities, a fishing pole, and some school books. The answer is evident.

The Camera Club has sent over 100 pictures, while professional and amateur photographers of this city, Pasadena, Tropico and Palms have very generously sent their pictures to help out the good work of attracting greater interest in the department of the library devoted to little ones. The Million Club, Ad Club, Friday Morning and Ebell clubs have shown their interest in the work, and are helping in making the attendance as large as possible. Next Saturday will be children's day, and Superintendent Francis has arranged to have the children of the schools attend, so far as practicable.

In connection with the exhibit, a collection of beautifully-illustrated books of the highest type is shown, including most of the favorites among children, such as animal books, a perennial "best seller" with the young. A profusion of flowers furnished by the park department for every day of the exhibit adds greatly to the beauty of the setting. James D. S. Chalmers, a well-known artist, has given valuable advice to the library management in the matter of hanging the pictures with the best effects; he also has lent a large number of Madonna pictures from his collection, which is said to be the largest collection in the world. His collection of beach "jewel" stones, in the rough and polished, is a source of continual pleasure to connoisseurs who visit the reference-room at the public library.

Jesse H. Buffum, who originated the idea of holding the exhibit, has worked unselfishly for nearly a month in making arrangements for the display, his hobby for years being the betterment of conditions for children. He is to conduct a department devoted to child life at the San Diego exposition. He said last night that additions to the loan exhibition had come in during the day in large numbers, and that it is not too late for any persons so disposed to send fine pictures of children from their homes.

The display will be open to the public every day and evening this week, and possibly next week.

SMUGGLING KING PLEADS GUILTY.

OSTERHUIS THROWS UP HIS HANDS AT LAST.

Notorious Captain of the Illicit Traffic Tires of the Long Fight and Will Take His Medicine—Run of Hard Luck Brings Picturesque Figure to His Knees.

John Osterhuis, king of the Chinese smugglers, who has been a shadow before the local immigration officers for the past half-dozen years and who has made and lost more money in the contraband game than any other man in it, threw up his hands in the United States District Court yesterday and pleaded guilty to assisting in bringing Chinese laborers into the United States. He will be sentenced Monday.

Osterhuis, in the years of his activity, gave the officers more trouble than all of the other Coast smugglers combined. He had a line of agents in every port from Ensenada to San Francisco, and was clever enough to keep under cover himself until about a year ago, when he was picked up in San Francisco Bay after just making a successful landing of Chinese at the Oakland wharf. Osterhuis was convicted of this offense and Judge Van Fleet sentenced him to a year in the Alameda County Jail, which he completed but a few weeks ago. He was then brought here to answer for the Sunset Beach job and is now at liberty on $5000 bond.

Immigration Inspector Connell chased Osterhuis to the doors of the Alameda jail and was ready to pick him up when the oily Holland Dutchman was about to get out of the bay. But with the completion of his term at Oakland, Osterhuis made up his mind that the smuggling game did not pay. A half-dozen of his co-conspirators are in jail; several have been driven into Mexico; two are dead; two of his boats, the Alert and Mae, have been seized by the government and sold; a third, the Tourist, lies on the rocks somewhere along the Mexican coast, and it is no secret that Osterhuis has been compelled to pay out a large amount of "hush" money to his various crews. Two of his assistants on the Sunset Beach trip, Julius Nyhagen and Bill Klings, have already pleaded guilty and served a thirty-day sentence; Harry Lloyd and Jack Orr, also a part of the crew, are held as government witnesses and will tell all they know. O'Bannion, Kirby and Wertz are at liberty under bond.

WELCOME FELLOW MEMBER.

Board of Education Gives Glad Hand to Returning European Tourist—Meeting November 7.

An ovation was tendered H. W. Frank last night as he entered the meeting of the Board of Education for the first time since his return from his European tour. As he came in the minutes were read and by order of President Steadman, proceedings were immediately suspended and all rose in their places out of respect to their fellow member, accompanying the act with laughter and clapping of hands. Frank passed around the table, shaking the hand of each, and then gave expression to his pleasure at being once more in his place. He briefly told of his trip and advised them all to "go and do likewise."

The business of the board was entirely of a routine nature, and President Steadman, in accordance with instructions, received at the last meeting, presented a highly eulogistic resolution in recognition of Maj. Judson's trip over the battle fields of the Civil War with the Peace Flag," which was adopted, with the parting petition from Scott: "Now, let the flag rest in peace."

Due to the fact that a holiday in the schools has been declared for Thursday, November 6, on account of the aqueduct celebration, the board adjourned last night to meet on Friday, November 7, at 1 o'clock p.m.

GATHERS DATA FOR BOOK.

State Mineralogist Seeks Information on Southern Oil Fields—Studying Serious Water Problem.

The water problem, which is one of the most serious confronting the California oil operator, is to have especial consideration in a comprehensive book on the petroleum industry in this State, for which data are now being gathered by F. McN. Hamilton, State Mineralogist, and R. P. McLaughlin. Hamilton has been at the Hotel Alexandria while visiting the fields in this section of the State to gather first-hand information.

Probably millions of barrels of oil have been lost through flooding of oil sands in various sections of the State with water, frequently owing to insufficient precautions taken to prevent the water from breaking through from upper strata. In certain instances the damage has been so extensive that oil sands have seemingly been irretrievably spoiled, while in others great difficulty is encountered because the wells produce large quantities of water with the oil.

The damage is not always confined to the property where the water first breaks through into the oil sand, but also affects equally wells on adjacent holdings. This has given rise to dissension among producers. A great deal of money has been spent in efforts to solve the water problem, and it has become of such widespread importance that oil men all over the State are interested.

"The problem is one which demands very careful consideration, and although there are many phases to its solution, I think that probably the mutual co-operation of producers in handling the problem will prove the most effective in the end," said Hamilton last night.

"As far as the damage done is concerned, although it is temporarily irreparable, the oil will at some future time separate from the water owing to its lighter gravity and thus be recovered. This process will require many years, though."

The book upon which Hamilton and his associates—who are well versed in their knowledge of the industry—are working is to be the first of its kind concerning oil in California. Full consideration will be given to all phases of the business, from production down to refining. Hamilton expects that a year will be needed to prepare the book, and his present trip is one of a number which he expects to make through the State.

In company with his secretary, W. W. Thayer, who is with him at the Alexandria, he has already visited all the northern fields, including Coalinga, Midway, McKittrick, Lost Hills, Belridge and Sunset. Yesterday he spent in Fullerton and Whittier territory. He will leave tomorrow for Ventura county, en route to Sacramento.

MASS MEETING ABANDONED.

Ministers of City Will Preach in Protest of Action of Russia in "Ritual Murder" Trial.

The contemplated mass meeting in this city, to protest against the trial of Mendel Beiliss in Russia, charged with having murdered a Christian boy, that his blood might be used in the celebration of the Passover, has been abandoned. Those in charge of the matter decided that as the trial of Beiliss is practically in collapse, that it would be better to pursue another course, which would more effectually aid in averting what they believe to be a scheme for inciting another massacre of Jews in Russia. They propose to have ministers of all denominations either preach a protest sermon next Sunday or make some special reference to the subject. Among those who have consented to this plan are Rev. Baker P. Lee of Christ Episcopal Church, Dr. Charles Edward Locke of the First Methodist Church, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Temple Baptist Church, Dr. E. A. Healy, who is temporarily occupying the pulpit of the Hollywood Methodist Church, and Rev. J. A. Geissinger of University Methodist Church.

TO GATHER IN THE TAXES.

Supervisors Authorize the Collector to Work His Force Overtime for Purpose.

The Board of Supervisors authorized Tax Collector Welch yesterday to employ his force on extra time during the rush of getting in the taxes. Welch explained that in some departments of his work inexperienced men would be valueless, and said his employees are willing to work over-time in order to keep up with the tabulations which have to be made to the County Auditor.

Supervisor Norton voted in opposition to the plan on the ground, as he asserted, that there are men without jobs walking the city streets. Tax Collector Welch tried to explain that he needed experienced men but Norton waved him away impatiently with the remark: "Your are honest in your ideas, but your ideas are wrong."

BEATEN BY FOOTPADS.

Three Men Assault Pedestrian, Break His Arm and Rob Him on Castelar Street.

Assaulted and robbed by three men at Castelar and Bernardo streets at 10 o'clock last night, George Giegerich, No. 603 Lookout drive, is in a serious condition at his home. The injured man declined to be taken to the Receiving Hospital for emergency treatment.

According to the story told by the victim he was walking toward his home when three men came up from behind. They jumped on him and prevented an outcry, at the same time taking from him a gold watch and 90 cents. Apparently angered because of the small amount of cash found on their victim they beat him unmercifully.

When examined at his home shortly after the assault, he was found to have sustained a broken left arm in addition to numerous cuts and bruises. He disclaimed any knowledge of the identity of his assailants and could gave no description other than to say they were all young men.

ADOLPHUS BUSCH'S WILL DISPOSES FIFTY MILLIONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—The will of Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer who was buried here Saturday, will be probated in St. Louis tomorrow and will dispose of holdings aggregating $50,000,000, it was authoritatively stated by a friend of the family tonight.

From the same source came the prediction that a trust company would be formed to handle the vast estate. It is believed Charles Nagel, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor, now attorney for the Busch family will head this trust company.

In breweries, $13,000,000; railways, $5,000,000; St. Louis realty, $9,000,000; Texas realty, $7,000,000; Chicago realty, $5,000,000; Pasadena, Cal., realty, $1,000,000; realty in Germany, $1,000,000; in Cooperstown, N. Y., $1,000,000; Caddo Oil fields, $1,000,000; local bank stock, $574,000; personal property, $400,000.

No details as to the disposition of all this wealth were given out today.

Controversy Caused by Trial Extends to Army.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

KIEV (Russia) Oct. 27.—The second act of the Beiliss trial was begun today with the submission of evidence of medical and religious experts on the alleged practice of ritual murder. Strangely enough in an orthodox country, Father Prenaites, a Roman Catholic priest, figures as the principal ecclesiastical denouncer of the Jews.

The testimony of the Orthodox archimandrite Ambrosius was read today, telling of alleged ritual murder practices with much detail. All are mentioned were based on hearsay from converted Jews, however.

A serious affray occurred this forenoon at Lodz between Christian and Jewish army recruits. Only the prompt action of the police prevented a mob attack on the Jews.

POPE'S PRONOUNCEMENT.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Correspondence between Lord Rothschild and Cardinal Merry del Val is published here. The papal Secretary of State endorses the statement that Pope Innocent XI issued an encyclical in which he declared that the charge of ritual murder as applied to Judaism was baseless and wicked invention, and that other Popes had made similar pronouncements.

This has a bearing on the trial of Mendel Beiliss, as part of the case of the prosecution is an affidavit by the priest, Father Prenaites, presenting alleged historic proof that ritual murder of Christians was sanctioned by Judaism and pronouncing statements to the contrary, attributed to the Pope's forgeries.

Long Beach Pastor Exonerated by Presbytery by a Close Vote and Given a Letter of Dismissal.

At an adjourned meeting of the Los Angeles Presbytery, held in the Presbyterian Church yesterday, the commission appointed to examine into the charges made against Rev. H. L. Mason of Long Beach, made its report.

The report exonerated Dr. Mason and recommended that he be given a letter of dismissal to the San Francisco Presbytery, in accordance with his own request. There was considerable debate on the subject and when a vote was taken the report was declared adopted, though the vote was very close.

"It was a technical acquittal," Dr. Mason," said a member of the presbytery last night, "but I don't say that almost one-half of the members voted against the adoption of the report. It is a rule that when a commission is appointed to go carefully into the details of anything and make a report, that report is adopted. Dr. Mason may not have been guilty of any wrong; I do not know, but there was a strong feeling against the report. At any rate he was given the exoneration of the presbytery and the matter is closed."

Through a spokesman, the elders of the church who resigned in July on account of the trouble with the Presbytery to reinstate them in their official positions, but the request was voted down.

It will be recalled that Dr. Mason was charged with taking improper liberties with young women of the Long Beach Presbyterian Church of which he was pastor, while admitting indiscretions, denied all wrong intentions.

JURORS THE CENSORS.

To View Motion Picture of What Is Declared a Too-Realistic Big Scene. Case on Today.

"The Shadow" is believed to contain much substance. It is so concrete and finite that the City Prosecutor issued a complaint yesterday alleging that it is "lewd and lascivious, obscene and indecent, and contains a murder with gruesome details entirely objectionable."

Deputy City Prosecutor Kelley issued the complaint on the evidence of Mrs. Mary N. Whipple and Mrs. E. K. Foster of the Examining Board.

"The Shadow" is a motion picture film. It was unreeled at a theater on South Spring street in July. As "The Shadow" sped across the sheet, such an intense unfolding of passions and deeds occurred that tales of its spiciness reached official ears.

So the gossip sped. There was a scene between a man and a woman that was remarkably frank, dealing with realism. The action became so naughty, it is alleged, the audience stood up and cheered.

Those who are named in the complaint as defendants are the California Film Company, and B. M. Uhrlamb, J. A. Long, and J. W. Barlow.

Today, the case will be in court. The City Prosecutor is making arrangements to have the film shown in the presence of the jury, the judge and all involved.

How To Heal a Stubborn Abscess
A Home Method Sure to Restore Flesh to Natural Health.

Here are some very valuable facts for all who have any blood trouble with external sores.

Do not cover any sore so as to interfere with perspiration and the formation of protective scabs. Keep it clean and bandaged. If it is a stubborn case, flush your blood with S. S. S. This famous blood purifier works wonders. And you can easily give your blood a good, thorough cleansing by using S. S. S.

There is no need for anyone to be despondent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each selects its own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to scientific medicine than ever before, and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line.

Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. If your abscess is of such a nature that you would like to consult a specialist, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 214 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Beware of any attempt to sell you something else for the blood. Many people have been imposed upon by having some mineral mixture palmed off on them. Ask for S. S. S. and insist that S. S. S. is what you propose to get.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Woman's Republic Meeting.

The members of the Woman's Republic will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon in room 518, Grosse building, for a general discussion on the subject, "Atascadero."

Onion Salad Seized.

A libel was filed in the United States District Court yesterday, involving 287 cases of onion salad which, it is claimed by the government, were not properly branded. The salad was declared to contain saccharine, without such information being printed on the label. The stuff was seized and will be held awaiting the action of the court.

New Name for Credit Men.

At the last meeting of the Los Angeles Retail Credit Men's Club it was decided that the title is a misnomer. To place the organization before the public in its true character, it was decided to change the title to "The Associated Retail Credit Men of Los Angeles," being more in conformity with a large, dignified body of financial men.

Sunday-school Graded Union.

The Sunday-school Graded Union will meet in Berean Hall, Auditorium building, at 9:45 o'clock, tomorrow morning, and commence a course of hand-study with the map of Palestine, under Mrs. A. Gentry, instructor. At the same time the teacher-training course in the life of Christ will be commenced by Rev. C. H. Seccombe. All teachers are invited.

Indictments Dismissed.

In the United States District Court yesterday the pending indictments against Fred H. Thompson and his wife, Etta M. Thompson, were dismissed by order of Atty.-Gen. McReynolds. Thompson is now serving a term of five years at McNeil's Island for appropriating and concealing $15,000, stolen by Orlando F. Altorre from the Los Angeles postoffice, and his wife was similarly charged and indicted. There has never been any intention of pushing the case against Mrs. Thompson.

Judge Conrey Sworn In.

In the District Court of Appeal yesterday, Judge Conrey, appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of presiding Justice Allen, took the oath of office before William D. Shearer, clerk of the Court, and at once entered upon the discharge of his duties. There was no special ceremony in connection with the event. Ex-Judge Wheaton A. Gray presented the resolutions adopted by the Los Angeles Bar Association on the death of Justice Allen, and they were spread on the minutes of the court. The calendar, consisting of fifty-five cases, was then taken up.

Adventists May Meet Here.

The Seventh-day Adventists, at their general meeting of the North American Division, now in session at Washington, chose California for the quadrennial conference, to be held in 1915. It is estimated that it will bring 6000 delegates from the United States and Canada. An effort will be made by the local officials of the denomination to bring the conference to Los Angeles, the rival being Mountain View, forty miles south of San Francisco. Like their other large gatherings, the conference will be held under tents, and for that reason Southern California offers the greatest inducement.

Shepherd to Speak Tomorrow.

R. P. Shepherd of Chicago, educational director of the International Sunday-school Association, will speak at the meeting of the graded union of Sunday-school teachers tomorrow in Berean Hall, Auditorium building. He will be heard three times—at 11 o'clock; at the luncheon at No. 440 South Hill street, and again in Berean Hall at 2 o'clock. Shepherd formerly lived in Los Angeles and has achieved a national reputation along religious educational lines. He will discuss high school credits for Bible study; Sunday-school buildings, and a church board of education. An open discussion will follow each address.

Brotherhood's Anniversary.

The Brotherhood of the Y.M.C.A. will celebrate its fourth anniversary this evening, beginning with a dinner at 6:30, and followed by an address by B. F. Pearson, who is a member of the unique organization. It is the only one of the kind in connection with Y.M.C.A. work, and was started with thirteen members by E. H. Emett, director of religious work. It now claims 4000 members, scattered throughout the world. Its main purpose is to create and sustain a spiritual atmosphere among men, particularly those who come as strangers to the city.

H. S. Cheek, the Sacramento ball player, and Mrs. Cheek are at the Hollenbeck. They will spend the winter in Southern California.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Oct. 27.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.03; at 5 p.m., 29.92. Thermometer, the corresponding hours showed 58 deg. and 68 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 90 per cent.; 5 p.m., 70 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northwest, velocity 3 miles; 5 p.m., south, velocity 6 miles. Maximum temperature, 70 deg.; lowest, 54 deg. Rainfall for the day, .02 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The pressure is slowly decreasing over the greater portion of the United States, the most marked areas of low pressure being in North Dakota and Tennessee. Cold weather is reported in St. Louis and Memphis, the latter reporting a temperature of the greatest amount, .54 of an inch, having fallen in the past twenty-four hours. A ridge of high pressure extends from Washington into Texas, and fair weather prevails. Freezing weather covers Colorado, the greater portion of Nebraska, the central portion of Texas, and the northern portion of Minnesota. The distribution of pressure is fair over the Pacific slope, the coast reports being clear. Rain has fallen in the northern and central portions and snow is reported as falling in Western Arizona. Fog prevailed generally along the coast of Southern California, and will probably occur again this morning. Rain has fallen over the greater portion of the Rocky Mountain region, and the weather in Los Angeles and vicinity will be fair during the ensuing thirty-six hours.

SISTER MARY EMMANUEL BURKE RESTS IN PEACE.

Noted Charity Leader Among Pioneer Orphans Dies After Long Life of Usefulness — Celebrated Golden Jubilee Two Years Ago—Tributes Sought Throughout State.

Sister Mary Emanuel Burke, 77 years old, for over forty years connected with the Boyle Heights Orphan Asylum, and one of the best-known members in California of the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, died yesterday morning at 9 o'clock of heart disease, at the Sisters' Hospital. She had been ill but six days and her death was unexpected. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning in St. Vincent's Church, at 9 o'clock.

Two years ago Sister Mary Emanuel celebrated her golden jubilee as a member of the Sisterhood, and the occasion proved a memorable one in the annals of the order. Among those who took part in the reception were Bishop Conaty and prominent Catholic clergymen as well as mother superiors and sisters from various sections of California. About two years ago Sister Mary Emanuel became associated with the Sisters' Hospital and her work among the poor soon became widespread.

She was born in Santa Fe in 1836 and joined the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul in Emmitsburg, Md., at the age of 18. Her first appointment was to the Santa Cruz Orphan Asylum and she served among the inmates when her recognition that she was appointed a few years later to the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum on Boyle avenue. Largely through her efforts the present Boyle-avenue asylum was made possible, and since its erection has had her transfer to the Sisters' Hospital, as she was one of the leading nurses next to the superior of the institution.

Among her friends she numbered practically every Catholic priest in the State, and her advice on matters pertaining to orphans of that care was sought from many institutions throughout the country. In the care of her juvenile charges she exercised a patient, motherly control and many men who have since become prominent in the various walks of life, owe their success to the foundation of her teaching, while hundreds of boys under her charge. At the Sisters' Hospital she was a favorite and the devotion and the manner in which she performed her duties won her many friends, all of who will learn with sincere regret of her death.

Flower Show Plans for 1915 Already Under Way.

Permanent Exhibit for Whole Exposition Year.

Growing in perspective, enlarging in scope, the proposition to hold a great permanent floral and plant show in this city in 1915, yesterday received the enthusiastic indorsement of many leading business men. The special committee appointed by the Los Angeles Horticultural Society met yesterday afternoon and decided to report favorably on the plan and to recommend that the society call a general meeting for Friday, November 7, at which business men and commercial and boosting organizations will join in taking the first steps toward placing the movement on a strong, practical basis.

The committee is composed of the following members of the county organization: Theodore Payne, Fred H. Howard, John Reeves, Jacob Dieterich, Edward Rust and Charles Chas. Winsel, as president of the society, is an ex-officio member of the committee. Their report will be made to the society at the regular meeting in Kruckeberg Hall, next Monday. It is proposed to hold the regular meeting on the Friday following at the Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary Wiggins, who is heartily in accord with the plan, and prepared to give it vigorous assistance, said yesterday that he will provide the necessary room for the meeting.

When it was suggested at a meeting of the county society several weeks ago that a floral display be arranged for some week in 1915 some of the members objected because an exhibit planned for only a few days would entail too great expense in proportion to the results to be secured.

Now that the scope of the show has been enlarged to include practically the whole exposition year, this objection is removed and the nurserymen and horticulturists all over the county are unanimously in favor of it, provided it can be properly financed and managed. They predict that it will be the biggest, most beautiful and most impressive display of the kind ever held anywhere.

THE PLAN OF IT.

Nurserymen are agreed that the show must be for Los Angeles and Southern California—a magnificent display and a big boost for the entire community with all individual advertising or suggestion of advertising carefully avoided. Its scope must be

The committee will report in favor of a great permanent floral and plant show to be held in Los Angeles in 1915 and will recommend that a general meeting be called next week at which everybody interested in the movement will have an opportunity to assist in putting it on a practical basis. Individually they have already agreed to make extensive exhibits.

OUR EXHIBIT IN NORTH DEPENDS UPON PEOPLE.

Attitude of Board of Supervisors Likely to Be Governed by Public's Expressed Wishes — Don't Like to Submit to Exposition Officials' Arrogance, but It's the Only Way to Get Showing.

LOS ANGELES and the other counties of Southern California will exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition if the citizens and business men of this city and of the other cities and counties, emphatically make it known to the Board of Supervisors that exhibits should be placed there.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce discussed the matter yesterday noon at a luncheon with Chairman Pridham of the Board of Supervisors. The subject was thoroughly thrashed out, but no decision was reached. Neither the directors nor Chairman Pridham of the Board of Supervisors, who was a guest of the chamber, were inclined to recede from the former position that the Exposition officials ought not to charge for space in the State building. But it appears to be the sentiment of those present that some compromise must be adopted rather than have Southern California lose the tremendous benefit to be gained by advertising her varied products in a building that will be visited by millions of persons during 1915.

From an authoritative source it has been learned that the future attitude of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Board of Supervisors will depend entirely on the expressions of opinion from the people of this community.

It has also been learned that many of the Supervisors realize the humiliation that will fall upon Los Angeles if no exhibit is made at the international fair to be held in the very State of which this is the leading county and city, and that they will not be unsusceptible to the pleas and requests of citizens who urge that exhibits be placed at San Francisco for the great world event.

Telephone messages are unusually effective. Those persons of Los Angeles who believe that it is the duty of the counties of Southern California to submit to the stipulations laid down by the Fair Commissioners and purchase floor space for the exhibits, rather than have this most renowned and glorious part of the richest State in the world without any representation whatsoever, may make their opinions known by telephoning any or all of the members of the Board of Supervisors, whose numbers follow:

R. W. Pridham, Fifth District, chairman; Colorado 4228, Pasadena.

R. H. Norton, Second District, 23862 (Home.)

W. E. Hinshaw, Fourth District, 726 (Home,) Long Beach.

PEN WOULD BE MIGHTY.

Stronger arguments, perhaps, could be placed in writing. A telephone message followed by a letter, containing forceful arguments and opinions, would have a decided effect.

Letters to the respective Supervisors addressed to the clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Hall of Records building, would be sure to come to the notice of the officials and would have weight in determining their attitude.

There is no question in the minds of all those who have given the subject attention but that Southern California has been imposed on by the fair commissioners in requiring that $2.50 per square foot be paid for floor space after the State (Southern California contributing more than 33 per cent. of the amount) voted $5,000,000 for the purpose of erecting fair buildings.

Also there is no question in the minds of those who have looked at the matter with unbiased eyes but that Los Angeles will feel deeply chagrined when the fair opens, and visitors from all parts of the world gather there and find Southern California in no way represented.

The Supervisors are in a tight quandary. When they delivered their ultimatum to the effect that no money would be appropriated to purchase floor space for an exhibit, the business and commercial organizations expressed their approval of the ultimatum. The citizens also complimented them upon their stand.

But since that time it has developed that there is absolutely no other way that any of the Southern California counties can have an exhibit—that is, unless floor space is purchased. When the ultimatum was delivered no one thought otherwise than that an amicable agreement would be reached when the fair commissioners awakened to the injustice of their position.

Now the proposition resolved itself into this: Southern California counties must either consent to bear the same impositions as all the other counties in the State or not exhibit.

The Supervisors, remembering that their position, when they declared that they would not submit to such an injustice, was entirely supported by the citizens of Los Angeles, and of the other counties, will not retreat from that position unless such retreat is shown to be the desire of the people.

Letters and telephone messages, personal expressions of opinion from all sides, will quickly let them know what is the wish of the people and give the Supervisors time to act before it is actually too late. Every day that goes by with the matter in abeyance handicaps the people who will have charge of the exhibits from the Southern California counties.

BACK TO OLD PLACE.

Snively Resigns as Mayor's Secretary to Resume Same Position With Chief of Police.

A shake-up involving three men and two jobs occurred in two city departments yesterday when Claire E. Snively, who for the past year has acted as secretary to the Mayor, resigned.

Snively will go back to his old position as secretary to the Chief of Police on November 1, at which time John J. Hill, the incumbent, will get out.

George Reuter, for many years a newspaper reporter in Los Angeles, becomes secretary to Mayor Rose, succeeding Snively.

In his letter of resignation Snively calls attention to the fact that he was "loaned" to Mayor Alexander in November, 1912, by Chief Sebastian and that he has held the position only until Mayor Rose has been able to find a successor.

POWER-BOND PROJECTS HARNESSED TOGETHER.

Conwell's Fight in Council for Segregation Lost and Voters Will Have to Vote Blanket Ballot or Not at All—Mayor Breaks Deadlock by Taking President's Chair—Companies Would Be Agents.

BY resolution yesterday the City Council declared for a power-bond election at which shall be voted two separate and distinct propositions as one, linking the $1,250,000 in bonds for the completion of the aqueduct power plant with the altogether different issue of $5,250,000 for a power-distributing system.

The Mayor hurried back from Catalina in the morning and broke the deadlock by relieving President Whiffen of executive duties and making it possible for the necessary six Councilmen to vote for the joint proposition, while two opposed it vigorously.

The upshot of the Council's vote on the long-standing question is that if voters favor power bonds they must ballot for both propositions; if they want to vote for one and not the other, as many have expressed a desire to do, it can't be done.

Following the vote, Councilman Conwell suggested that all representatives of power companies be invited to meet with the Council and discuss a proposition of the city leasing the existing electrical distributing systems with a view to ultimate municipal ownership. This suggestion was headed off by President Whiffen, who presented a communication, unsigned, by the three companies, suggesting that the city lease their systems and employ the companies as operators to distribute the energy from the city's substation.

No time was set for this conference, nor was a date selected for the bond election. However, it is believed that the perfunctory ordinance fixing the bond-election date will be passed in a few days and it is more than likely that Tuesday, November 18, will be chosen.

Councilman Whiffen sent personal letters yesterday to the three power companies inviting them to be represented at a conference with the Council Wednesday morning. Their joint proposition will be discussed at that time.

The adoption of the power-bond proposition as a unit came up on the majority report of the Public Service Committee, Betkouski signing it as chairman. Simply enough, the report recommended the passage of a resolution calling for unit vote on the two propositions.

MINORITY REPORT.

Supplementing his minority report, Conwell opposed the unison of the two propositions vigorously. Into the record his report was read as follows: "With reference to the resolution, re

Malibu Road Case Dismissed by Judge Bean.

Blocked Thoroughfares Not Public Highways.

Government May Appeal on "Fence Law" Question.

In a decision handed down yesterday, Judge Robert S. Bean of the Northern District of Oregon dismissed the suit of the government against the Rindge estate to force the latter to open roads through the Malibu, declaring there is no equity in the bill. This conclusion to the monumental piece of litigation constitutes a sweeping victory for the defendants, May K. Rindge, executrix of the estate of the late Frederick H. Rindge, N. D. Darlington, the Pacific Life Insurance Company and the Hueneme, Malibu and Port Los Angeles Railway.

The action has occupied the attention of the courts, State and Federal, for the last ten years. The transcript of the evidence read before Judge Bean in this city made more than 1,000,000 words, and the arguments of the attorneys continued for weeks at a time. Under the Federal laws each party will pay its own expenses. It is likely that the case will be appealed by the government, as it is contended that in the twenty-two-page decision of Judge Bean the constitutionality of the "fence law," covering fences around the Malibu ranch, upon which the government largely rested its case, is not completely covered.

The action was brought by the government against Mrs. Rindge and other defendants to compel the abandonment and removal of certain gates and fences erected and maintained by the defendants on the premises, on the ground that these are an obstruction to the public highways and an unlawful enclosure of public lands.

Stalking Tragedy.

CYCLE OF DEATH TAKES TWO AND MARKS THIRD.

SEVERAL weeks ago, back in Watersville, O., a little old woman received news from Los Angeles of the death of her brother, Jackson Deets, of Upland.

Sixty years of life had not dealt lightly with the sister of the dead man, and the news proved a blow that would not permit her to take the long journey West.

Her brother's death aroused in her a wild fear for the safety of her daughter, Miss Cora Frazier, a teacher in the Fifty-second and Main-street school, who came to Los Angeles two years ago.

To relatives who were coming West she begged that on their return they would bring with them the girl. So, at the funeral of Jackson Deets, these relatives implored the young woman to return home with them. She delayed her answer.

Yesterday the relatives prepared to take the girl back home. And tomorrow she will start—but in a casket.

For Miss Frazier was mangled to death under a somersault automobile on the Long Beach boulevard, between Long Beach and Compton, Sunday night.

And now the relatives here, of the little mother back in Ohio fear that the cycle of death which hovered over the family and swooped upon it for two victims within a few weeks will not be swept way until a third victim is drawn.

And that, they fear, will be the mother of the girl, the sister of the girl's uncle. That she will survive the shock they do not believe. She is aged and she is weak and sorrow is a poignant thing.

Nor is tragedy merciful even there. Miss Cora Frazier was taken just when even death of her uncle could not entirely becloud her happiness. For it was anticipated, she was shortly to have become a bride.

And it was in the car of her reputed fiance, John T. Adams, a West Virginia oil man and capitalist, residing here at No. 752 Hartford avenue, that death swooped out of the night and claimed its second victim of the cycle.

John Adams was injured, but the physical lacerations are as nothing to the mental torment he is undergoing. Nor is even death itself as tragic as what he is to face.

For John Adams is to return with the girl's remains, to the little mother back in Ohio, all that is left of the girl that meant so much to her and, perhaps, to him.

Adams was in bed last night unable to see interviewers, prostrated by shock; and his reported engagement to Miss Cora Frazier could not be verified or contradicted.

For Adams, man enough to take all that is left of the girl back to her mother, in the hope that he may be able to lessen the shock and perhaps stay Death's third card, is not the sort of man who talks much.

All his friends knew last night was that he had been Miss Cora Frazier's constant companion and confidant for the past year and that her death had literally made a wreck of him.

He will survive, however; all men do. But whether the mother back in Ohio will, rests with the fates.

The story of the fateful wreck on the Long Beach boulevard is told in a word. Adams was blinded by the searchlight of another machine and his car was driven over a ten-foot embankment. It somersaulted twice, the first roll throwing him clear of danger. Death had not marked him. But the girl was within the cycle.

Miss Frazier made her home here at the Netherlands Hotel, West Seventh street. She was a friend of the City Superintendent of Schools and came here to prepare the way for her mother. She leaves that mother the savings of several years, invested in Long Beach property.

The girl's relatives here are Mr. and Mrs. James Kifford of No. 334 West Forty-seventh street, the widow of Jackson Deets, in Upland, and Edna Jackson and Reckord Deets, who came here to attend one funeral, not a second.

John Adams has been in Los Angeles six years. He took Miss Frazier to Long Beach Sunday afternoon, hoping the music and salt air would relieve the depressive feeling that had been her's since the death of her uncle.

Glorious Mission Ends.

SCHOOLHOUSES HIS MEMORIAL.

Life Dedicated to Children Passes Serenely.

Well-Known Architect Taken While at Desk.

Eyes on Picture of One of His Best Works.

With the passing of Andrew C. Smith, a well-known Los Angeles architect, whose funeral is to be conducted this morning, there has come to light the remarkable story of a man whose life has been dedicated to insuring the health and happiness of small children.

He was prominently known throughout the country as "Smith, the school architect." At least fifty buildings in California, including the Van Nuys school, the Burbank High School and buildings in Whittier and Alhambra, Fillmore, Upland, Azusa, El Monte and various structures in Nevada and other States, attest the perfection of his work.

According to the little circle of friends who knew him intimately, Smith's aim in life was not to amass a fortune, but to give to the children in California buildings that would be an incentive to knowledge; buildings that would not only be ornamentally graceful, but would amply provide light, sunshine and space, which he believed were paramount considerations for the physical and mental well being of the child.

MEMORIALS.

Such buildings, Smith often said to his friends, were monuments more lasting and glorious than any lofty tablet that might encircle his ashes. It was his particular source of pride to point out to his intimate acquaintances the many photographs of school buildings that were everywhere about his office walls and to state that these were far greater compensation to him than any sum received for the time and effort expended in making the designs.

When he was suddenly stricken with heart disease in his office Sunday morning, he died as he would have wished, gazing on a photograph of one of his best works, the latest building he had designed.

Smith was born in 1857 in Marietta, O. When left an orphan by the death of his parents, he moved from his native town, locating in various other cities.

In 1888 he came to California, locating in San Francisco, where he was employed with a number of building concerns and developed his architectural craft. About eighteen years ago he came to Los Angeles, later identifying himself with the firm of Smith & Elder, with offices in the Purtell building.

Smith became affiliated with the American Institute of Architects, but because he could not consistently approve of certain regulations, tendered his resignation.

Strikingly individual in his beliefs, Smith, according to his friends, took issue with the regulations that forbade competition in the submitting of bids for contracts. Rather than sacrifice principle, he severed all bonds with organizations.

LOVED CHILDREN.

Opening offices in the Muskegon building, he isolated himself to all but a few friends and spent his time investigating the needs of school children and perfecting plans for buildings that would best adduce to their general health and welfare. He gratified such time and effort by the statement that he loved children, and deemed it his duty to make them happy.

At his funeral this morning, but a few friends will follow his remains to the cemetery. While a humble stone, if any, will mark his resting place, the buildings he designed, about which merry children romp and play, and in which they enjoy every convenience for intellectual expansion, will live to perpetuate the genius of one who died alone and practically apart from the world, in his effort to accomplish a definite, glorious mission.

A pathetic feature of Smith's life was that he had just finished paying for a little ranch on the outskirts of the city and was about to retire thither when death overtook him.

PREPARING FOR CARNIVAL.

Native Sons to Begin Work Today Fitting up Old Postoffice Building. Features.

Beginning this morning the Native Sons will start fitting up the old postoffice building at Seventh street and Grand avenue for their carnival of next week. Stage carpenters will transform the interior of the structure into a replica of a mining town of the days of '49.

There will be rehearsals each evening in order that the amateur actors and actresses may become perfect in their parts. Among the features that will be shown will be an old-time gambling saloon, Mother Grady's boarding-house with Mrs. Alexander Hall, a native of Placerville in the chief role; a Chinese laundry with real and imitation Celestials, a dance hall, various rough-and-ready cafes and other things that used to go to make up a typical mining town.

Director Stoermer has secured the promise of a squad of police to eject any too noisy customers, and a number of surprises are being prepared for each evening in addition to the regular programme.

AVOIDING NEEDLESS DELAY.

Board of Supervisors Wants Power and Light Franchise to Go Into Effect Quickly.

County Counsel Hill was instructed by the Board of Supervisors yesterday to draft a new ordinance which will embody provisions satisfactory to the Pacific Light and Power Company and also to the Supervisors.

The matter has been under consideration for several weeks. The Supervisors realize that the city railway lines are suffering for lack of power and light while the franchise is held up. The Pacific Light and Power Company has contracts with the Pacific Electric Company and the Los Angeles Railway Corporation to furnish each with approximately 25,000 volts, which will lessen street congestion and move the cars faster in rush hours.

The new franchise ordinance will be advertised in the usual way and be ready for action within the legal time.

Buds, Blooms.

big enough, they say, to give the hundreds of thousands of visitors an adequate idea of the many wonderful and beautiful plant products of the Southland and to permit everyone who desires, amateur growers, and all interested in small garden culture, to participate by making an exhibit, whether it be large or small.

On this basis they regard the exhibition as one for the whole community to present. They will help make the show big enough and grand enough to attract the attention of the whole country, and will spend thousands of dollars in preparing exhibits, but the general plan of financing the show and its preparation must be handled in a broader way.

For these reasons the committee will couple with its favorable report to the horticultural society a recommendation that a general meeting be held to arrange preliminary details and appoint committees.

The general committee, according to suggestions made yesterday, will be made up of horticulturists, bankers and other business men. One subcommittee would have charge of the business end of the show, arrange for the necessary financial guarantees, and decide whether or not admission shall be charged. One suggestion is that a small fee be charged at all times, and another is to charge only on special days or occasions.

Another subcommittee, to be composed of members of the society will be placed in charge of the exhibition grounds and arrangements. This committee would need to begin work early next year, as many trees and plants must be planted a year in advance to get best results.

It is believed that the eastern end of Exposition Park, along Figueroa street, would not only be a suitable location for the show, but would provide plenty of room. At least twenty acres of outdoor space, in addition to housed exhibits, will be necessary to properly display all the exhibits, in the opinion of the committee.

WAYS AND MEANS.

It is only a question of ways and means and a businesslike organization, say the horticulturists. That the show can be made on a bigger and grander scale than was ever before attempted in any city in the world they have no doubt. Southern California has every advantage, not only for producing the flowers and plants, but for displaying them through the entire year. There is little doubt that 1,000,000 people will visit the exhibition and go away to tell of it as the most beautifully impressive attraction offered them during their visit to the Pacific Coast.

Paris, St. Petersburg, London, and one or two other European cities have held rose and flower shows lasting for a month or more, but nowhere has an all-year exhibition been held or attempted, for in few cities will the climatic conditions permit.

Cut flower exhibits and delicate plants will be shown under cover, but the greater part of the show can be held outside. To prepare for some of the exhibits, such as deciduous trees, planting must be begun next spring. Evergreen trees, rose plants, orange and lemon trees, bearing fruit, flowering bushes and bulbs should be planted in the fall and winter of next year.

Tentative plans include a widely diversified programme. It has been suggested that each Southern California county that desires to participate be given one week with its exhibit as the chief attraction. The big Pasadena rose and flower show might be given as a part of the big exhibition. At least two weeks in the spring would be devoted almost exclusively to the biggest and finest display of roses probably ever gathered in one place.

A chrysanthemum show in the fall, a day or two for sweet peas and another period for each one of the many beautiful varieties of flowers that are grown here at their nearest approach to perfection, could be arranged to keep interest at a high pitch through every month.

There would be children's days and a great school garden contest with prizes for best results.

That the show will be visited by many of the world's greatest horticulturists is certain. During the year the Society of American Florists, the Association of National Nurserymen, the Pacific Coast Nurserymen's Association and other similar organizations will hold conventions on this Coast and every delegate is sure to attend the Los Angeles show and study its exhibits.

Exhibits showing results secured in original research and experiment in Southern California will be an important feature, and one that will make the fame and glory of the event known to growers throughout the world. Amateur gardeners and plant lovers, of whom there are many thousands in this and neighboring cities, will add to the magnitude, beauty and importance of the show, even though their individual exhibits may not be extensive.

The question of awards, regarded as important, will probably not be taken up until the permanent committee has been appointed and has accomplished the preliminary work of organization.

"OH, SUCH A HEADACHE!"

Norton's Snortin' Stops When He Finds His Petty Bickerings Fall on Deaf Ears.

Supervisor Norton went home yesterday noon with a severe headache. He denied it was due to the action of the other Supervisors who passed over his head a vote to have County Counsel Hill placed firmly in his present seat without undergoing a civil service examination.

Norton protested but in vain. When Registration Clerk McAleer was also installed in his position as registrar of voters, also without examination, Norton remarked that it was evident his wishes were always ignored by the other members.

He put on his hat and left the meeting. He did not return for the afternoon session.

This action of the Supervisors probably marks the end of previous "friction" between the majority members and Norton, for the latter has voiced his determination to keep silent hereafter and let the county "go to the demnition bow-wows."

SWEETHEARTS' FUSS.

He Needs Conceit Cancelled, She Thinks, So She Used a Razor on Him.

Charles Bender had a fuss with his sweetheart, Carrie Elmer, yesterday, at her home, No. 624 Turner street, and the girl decided Bender needed some conceit cancelled; she did it with a razor.

Bender started down the street and ran through a saloon. He was much the worse for wear. After him came Carrie, who was fleet of foot. But she was interrupted in her flight by the police, who were notified. They caught up with Carrie, but Bender had a lead of two blocks, and they never could find him. He is supposed to have been seriously injured.

MOTOR CAR MEN PREPARE FIGHT.

REHEARING OF THE CELEBRATED DUNNAGE CASE.

Half-Million Dollars Yearly Involved in Controversy Between Automobile Interests and Railroads—Before Interstate Commerce Commission.

With $500,000 yearly as the guerdon sought, the automobile interests of this and other Pacific Coast cities are preparing to do battle in San Francisco on Monday with the railroads, in a rehearing of the celebrated dunnage case by Special Examiner Flynn of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A hearing of the same case, with Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco automobile concerns as the complainants, was staged before Commissioner Marble in the northern city two months ago and resulted in a victory for the automobile men. The commission's decision, however, offered the loop-hole of "general" interpretation, of which the railroads took advantage in a plea for a rehearing.

The point at issue is whether the railroads will be permitted to charge a flat rate of $3.10 a hundred pounds for the billets of wood, denominated as dunnage, with which automobiles are braced for their long voyage from the eastern producing centers to this and other Pacific Coast cities.

W. W. Brackett, who is to conduct the case as traffic manager for the motor car dealers' associations of San Francisco and Los Angeles, states that dunnage per car ranges from $31 to $37.20 and that the total of all dunnage sustained yearly by Pacific Coast dealers is $500,000. S. D. Leavitt of this city is to go north to assist Brackett as the representative of thirty-two automobile dealers of this city.

Examiner Flynn while in the northern city will probably hear the supplemental arguments of the automobile men against the railroads' advance of the automobile carriage rate on April 15 from $3 to $3.10, $3.20 and $3.30, according to the value of the automobiles transported. This hearing will be preparatory to a concerted demand later for a general reduction to $2.50 per 100 pounds for the handling of automobiles from the East to the Pacific Coast.

THOUSAND GUESTS.

TO WELCOME THE CONGRESS.

Four special trains, carrying more than 1000 persons from this city, including the Mayor, members of the City Council and the Harbor Commission, will leave here at 3 o'clock this afternoon for San Pedro to welcome the new leviathan of the deep, the $1,500,000 steamer Congress.

With Capt. Cousins in command, the Congress is expected to dock at the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's wharf shortly after 1 o'clock on its first trip to this harbor. The distinguished welcoming party are to be the guests of District Passenger Agent Brittan of the Pacific Coast company.

Three hours, including the period for luncheon, are to be given to the inspection of the new boat, which is by far the finest and also the most costly ever assigned to coastwise service on the sunset side of the continent. Its arrival tomorrow means the inauguration of improved service by the company between this port and Seattle. Word from San Francisco last night was that the Congress is bringing nearly 600 persons into this port, many of them for a winter sojourn here.

STILL NON-COMMITTAL.

LOVETT LEAVES FOR NORTH.

Non-committal to the last, ex-Judge Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific system, passed through here early yesterday morning, en route from San Diego to San Francisco. He was accompanied by B. L. Winchell, director of traffic of the Union Pacific; R. S. Stillman, son of the New York banker, and others.

Regarding the object of Lovett's visit, the words of ex-Senator Clark, builder and president of the Salt Lake road, with whom Lovett held several conferences, is probably the final evidence. Clark said:

"Judge Lovett is here to ascertain the needs and possibilities of Southern California with the object of being prepared to pass intelligently on any appropriations which the Salt Lake will make in the future for harbor work or extensions."

Clark's statement takes on added significance when it is remembered that the Union Pacific system, through its ownership of the Oregon Short Line, controls 50 per cent. of the stock of the Salt Lake road.

Significant features of Lovett's visit were a conference at Coronado on Sunday with Clark, after a trip over the Santa Fe to San Diego and a stop of several hours yesterday at Bakersfield in a daylight trip through the San Joaquin Valley.

First Vice-President Bancroft of the Salt Lake, who was a party to the conferences here, will leave today for Salt Lake City, while ex-Senator Clark purposes to leave either tomorrow or the next day for Butte.

Will Meet Here Next Year.

The 1914 meeting of the American Bridge and Building Association will be held in this city, beginning on the third Thursday of October. This information was conveyed in a telegram received here yesterday from D. E. Plank, bridge superintendent of the Pacific Electric, who is in Montreal attending the 1913 meeting. The association has over 2000 members, including many bridge and structural engineers of note.

Batturs Goes to Meet Fee.

General Passenger Agent Batturs of the Southern Pacific Company left yesterday for El Paso, where he will meet Passenger Traffic Manager Fee, who is returning to San Francisco headquarters after an eastern trip. The party is expected to reach here tomorrow.

PAYABLE IN JAIL.

Motorist Can't Raise Hundred and Fifty Dollars, So He Must Work It Out.

John P. Sweeney may have to work for $1 a day for the first time in his life.

Sweeney was arraigned in court yesterday on the charge of having driven an automobile while in an intoxicated condition, and was convicted and fined $150, having run into a street car. The fine is payable in his services in the City Jail if he could not raise the money.

All day yesterday Sweeney tried to communicate with his friends, to get hold of that amount of money, but failed.

answer on the original charge—that of securing a check for $125 from Mrs. Minnie G. Pelzer by means of a trick. Bail of $1000 was furnished. The defendant did not appear disturbed by the court's finding. Her attorneys said that the defendant will never be found guilty, in their judgment.

During a part of the session a number of club women were in attendance, but their number dwindled away before the final adjudication of the court.

THE CHARGES.

Mrs. Pelzer was the first witness. In response to questions of Deputy District Attorney Graham, she told of loaning the defendant $500, which was to be secured, as she understood, by a mortgage given by D. D. Sallee, a relative of Mrs. Huey's. She also told of the check she gave Mrs. Huey for $300, which was supposedly given as a bond to insure the good faith of Mrs. Pelzer as employee of the Woman's Mutual Service League, which, the State claimed, is a defunct organization.

The witness admitted receiving $121.25 as payment on the bond, but testified she was not repaid the $500 given on the mortgage for the $125 loan.

The evidence offered by the State was confined mainly to the testimony of Mrs. Pelzer, who plainly showed that she knows little about business affairs.

For the defense, David G. Hathaway, who was originally asked by Mrs. Pelzer to collect what Mrs. Huey owed her, gave testimony relating to his conversations with the defendant.

He told of getting a $200 check from Mrs. Huey, which he cashed and returned a balance to her after retaining $121.25, due on the bond. He said his understanding was that Mrs. Huey had paid Mrs. Pelzer previous amounts at the rate of $13.25 a week.

Finally, Hathaway testified, in the presence of Miss Mary Foy, Mrs. Huey tendered him a check for $625, which he tried to get Mrs. Pelzer to accept in full of all demands, but that she would not take it. It was a short time later, said he, when he was notified that Mrs. Pelzer had gone to some lawyer with her affairs.

UNINTENTIONAL, SHE SAYS.

Mrs. Huey said in her own behalf that she intended to repay Mrs. Pelzer and that she never thought to defraud the woman of her money. She told of the efforts made to settle the case and said that her friends offered the money during her own temporary embarrassment.

Charles A. Huey, husband of the defendant, a lawyer, told of returning to his office one noon and seeing Mrs. Pelzer hand a slip of paper to his wife. Later, he said, he looked on his wife's desk and saw the check for $125, which was offered in evidence.

In summing up the case the court took occasion to speak of the evident keen business ability of Mrs. Huey as compared with the lack of business shown by the complaining witness. He said it was an unusual case and in many respects unequaled by any he had ever listened to.

He said that the evidence also appeared to show that the defendant had been guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses. After the preliminary examination Deputy District Attorney Graham stated he will consider the advisability of issuing another complaint based on the bond transaction. The evidence was to the effect that Mrs. Pelzer gave Mrs. Huey $300 as a bond and that Mrs. Huey drew out the money for her personal expenses.

Holds Up Bond Issue.

On the ground that the data accompanying the request was insufficient, the State Railroad Commission has held up the application of the Pacific Light and Power Corporation to issue $1,730,000 of refunding bonds to cover expenditures already made. Officials of the corporation stated yesterday that the information desired by the commission will be supplied.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: A line of powders and perfumes made in Paris by a high-class house especially for a Los Angeles firm has recently been received. Not only is the quality excellent but the package is charming, carrying out as it does the effect of the equally charming name—Poppie d'Or—in honor of California. The boxes are the color of old gold and fasten as does a glove. The toilet water, the essence and the sachet all have a delicious, haunting odor, alluring as in California itself.

How we do preen ourselves when we are the recipients of a "private view."

There is something so exclusive, so sort of "better-than-thou-art" about being among the very few who see the thing before the general public is admitted. To be invited to a private view rather implies that we are thoroughly informed and whether or not we are, we pretend to be.

If it is a private view of clothing—rich and imported—to which we are invited, we forthwith take on a critical air and scan the most minute details, offering suggestions that this should have been cut so, or that, thus—when maybe we couldn't afford to buy a fraction of an inch of the material from which the skirt is composed or the tail of the coat made up. Just being invited to a private view makes one feel rich.

Fist Dolls.

They well deserve their names—fists—for they cast their eyes downward shyly, or raise them underneath long lashes, or cast them to left or right in the most bewitching way. Truly, you would think them debutantes of the real, live girl sort. They are in that great concourse of dolls which arrived for the grand tea party of dolls in one of the big Broadway stores.

• •

A Halloween Bat.

Of course—everyone will go on a "bat" on Halloween—but that is not the kind of bat I mean. This is a rara avis among bats, and although he has to do with Halloween, he is not the sort of bat which revelers will mount. This bat is in a Broadway window, one of the most cleverly arranged Halloween windows on that thoroughfare, and until you look closely, you would never suspect the family to which this bat belongs. You know how it is with plants and insects, how they conceal their relationships. Who would think, for instance, that the humble apple was related to the aristocratic strawberry? Well, this Halloween bat is related to the oak tree. In fact, he is derived from the oak. If you look closely, you will perceive the fact that his head and body are the product of the oak. See? His features are painted on the round balls which grow upon oak trees and his wings—well—they look like oak leaves, but I will not swear that they are. This bat is one of the genuine novelties of this season. By the way, the old witch in that window looks as though she had been dead, buried and dug up for the occasion—fairly reeking with mould, in fact.

• •

Nut Anvils.

A big Broadway china store has an importation of wooden nut bowls with metallic anvils in the center, for cracking the nuts upon, and are accompanied with small metal hammers. I wonder why no one thought before of making them thus.

Russian Wood Carving.

In a Broadway jewelry house which is so noted for its fine art display, there is a collection of Russian wood carving which is simply charming. Fruit craft—as I would like to call the dishes for holding fruits, since they have what look like prows and sterns of quaintly carved birds and animals; odd boxes for holding various treasures, containers for tobacco, nut dishes in most unexpected shapes, all decorated Russianly, and made from fine wood of a rich and mellow tone.

Popular Operetta.

DAILY TUNEFUL BEGGAR STUDENT.

BEST PRODUCTION YET GIVEN BY TIVOLI SINGERS.

Beautiful New Costumes Aid in Presentation of Comic Opera, Well Sung and Acted by Capable Cast. Evolution of Chorus Attractive Feature.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Thirty years have brought great changes in the meaning and in the theme of "The Beggar Student," presented last night by the Tivoli Opera Company at the Auditorium.

Originally composed as a veiled protest and expression of a desire for the reinstatement of King Stanislaus upon the throne of Poland, Millocker's comic operetta has passed through many evolutions. Satirical and political at its incipiency, it became comical after leaving Vienna, where it was first produced, and through numerous adaptations and additions is, today, only a farcical play with some charming melodies: a harmless entertainment.

The first act opens with a view of a jail and the most frolicksome inmates guarded by the most accommodating superintendent of a Polish military prison, Gen. Ollendorf, Governor of Cracow, who has vainly attempted to win the hand of Countess Laura, in revenge by passing off a beggar student, incarcerated in his military prison, as a prince and marry the haughty Countess to him.

The plot succeeds beyond the hopes of the general, but at the hour of retreat, after the wedding, he finds himself foiled by the beggar student and his friend Jantsky, who is a political agent of high lineage sent to Cracow for the purpose of capturing the citadel and re-establishing King Stanislaus's power. The beggar is enabled and lives happy ever after with his bride.

Through the three acts composing the play a great latitude for comedy and farce has been given. Enterich, the jailer, is most amusing as the irresponsible and unthinking turnkey of the Crakow prison, with a fascinating wart on the apex of his dome cranium and a beautiful thirst. Walter Catlett, the comedian, impersonated Enterich in a clever manner, lively and full of good taste non-

Charles E. Galagher gave a very acceptable portrayal of the explosive but not over brave Gen. Ollendorf, which was much enjoyed.

Of the singing parts, the role of Jadwin Symonovitch, the beggar student, is the most important, and Lee R. Phillips acquitted himself with credit in the dual personality of student and the prince; he sang best also "The World to Soaring Thus Ever," "Behold the Police Court-flyer" and a delightful love duet with Laura, "Shall I Tell Her Keep Silent." Henry Santry as Janisky invested the role with much charm and manly vigor.

As the countess Laura, Rena Vivienne sang exceptionally well "But When a Song is Sweetly Sounding" and the love duet suited to her voice. Sarah Edwards was a good impersonation countess and Myrtle Dingwall a very hungry and very naughty Slaviava, with a superabundance of horse-play. In the minor parts, Jeanne Mai proved to be a very clever lieutenant Lieut. Poppenberg, of attractive mien.

The chorus in beautiful costumes, especially in the third act, ran away with the show, amidst the plaudits of an enthusiastic audience, which compelled it to repeat the march and evolutions.

The costumes, scenery and ensemble of the "Beggar Student" is by far the best production given by the Tivoli company thus far.

Rindges Win.

south by the Pacific Ocean, and north, east and west by lands ceded by the King of Spain to private individuals. The Santa Monica Mountains extend through the tract east and west, three or four miles back from the coast and between it and the Calabasas road. The portions to which title was given to the original owners of the Malibu ranch was surveyed by the government in 1871, and in August was regularly patented. It lies along the coast sixteen miles west from Las Flores Canyon to a point three or four miles west of Topango Canyon, one and one-half or two and one-half miles wide, and contains 13,000 acres of land. A small porion of the remainder of the big tract, originally entered by one Tapia, has since been patented and is in possession of settlers in whose behalf the action was instituted on the ground that they had no access to or egress from the land by reason of the Malibu ranch gates and fences, and that it was too expensive to construct other roads.

For years there has been more or less travel into the Malibu Ranch on the shore road, except where it was not possible to use the beach. In 1884, when the ranch was open, people began to enter upon the unsurveyed lands in the canyons back of it and to make settlements. There was at this time much controversy as to the rights of these people to cross the Malibu Ranch, but in 1905 the owner constructed a road through the Rindge land and built a railroad for the transportation of goods. In 1907 a fence was built and enclosed gates were placed at various places on the ranch barring all access from the outside and especially on the part of settlers on the government land.

It was contended by the government that the beach roads and other roads contracted by the settlers were public highways; that when the patent was issued, there was reserved by implication to the government and its grantees, a right of way over the land so patented to the public land back of it. The court holds that the evidence fails to show that the roads leading from the beach across the ranch are public highways, and that if they are not the government has no concern with the controversy as to the existence of such a way along the beach, since it has no access thereto by a public way.

There are ten roads built by the settlers to reach their claims but not established by public authority—Las Flores, Beiule, Carbon, Malibu, Puerco, Corrall, Sosto, Latigo, Suma and Nicholas Canyon roads. The evidence showed that for years they were traveled more or less by everybody having any business in that part of the country.

JUDGE BEAN'S ARGUMENT.

Judge Bean says that the occasional travel across the ranch by land claimants and hunters is not evidence either of the abandonment or dedication of the land to public use by the owner, remarking that the character of the beach road was now in controversy in the State courts where it would be settled. This suit, follows the court, is maintained by the government as landed proprietor and is entitled to no more relief than if brought by a private owner. If the position of the government should be sustained, said Judge Bean, it would be to divide the Malibu Ranch into ten different tracts, injuring its value and usefulness to the owner without compensation. It was doubtful whether the doctrine of implied necessity has any application in this case under the public land laws. Judge Bean then speaks at some length on the contention of the government that roads cannot be built for the use of settlers, except at a prohibitive cost, and decides that while the expense is heavy in some places there is no reason why they may not be constructed and used by the settlers back of Malibu ranch.

The court further finds that the fences constructed by the Rindge estate are reasonable and proper means of protecting the lands from trespass, built in good faith with no intention of appropriating or inclosing public lands or preventing lawful access thereto.

Closing, Judge Bean says: "In connection with the fences and natural barriers to the west and north they amount to a substantial enclosure of privately-owned lands, and the crux of the question is then whether the defendant can use reasonable, proper and appropriate means to enclose her own land without violating the Federal statutes. In my opinion she can."

Redfern Corsets $3.50 to $15

The Lines of Fashion Are Exacting Redfern Corsets Fill All Requirements

The name REDFERN stands for the best there is in corsets. The designing, boning and material of a Redfern is the equal of the highest priced "custom-made" corset.

A Redfern Corset is sinuously yielding. In any attitude the figure is graceful. The lines of Fashion are so exacting that the slightest break of the long, slender silhouette—and the entire effect is marred. A Redfern Corset will assure you the long, unbroken sweep of line that is requisite to the achievement of a fashionable figure. They are made of strong coutil or beautiful brocade, boned with pliant walohn. These excellent corsets are designed for every type of form. Ask to see the new fall model especially suitable for your figure. Courteous and experienced corsetieres in attendance. Prices range from $3.50 to $15.00.

We also show an excellent collection of

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets

Priced From $1.00 to $8.00

These celebrated corsets are too well known to need any commendation—but we wish to emphasize the fact that you will always find the newest models here. There is comfort for all in wearing a WARNER RUST-PROOF CORSET—tall or short, stout or slim.

There are many points worth noting about Warner's style—aside from its shape—the pliant nature of the boning, which gives the figure great flexibility—its Rustless feature—and lasting quality.

INOPPORTUNE.

They say it is a bad time of the year to signal to Mars. We are sorry to miss the greetings of the season with such a bright neighbor, but how about signaling Mexico instead?

NOT NEW.

Carranza will ignore the result of Sunday's election. Nobody expected it to be unanimous. It has been merely a question of eliminating the greatest possible number of revolutions and of starting the fewest possible new rebellions.

A CALIFORNIA BEAUTY.

In the Far South the mosses swing low from magnolia and live oak to meet the slow flowing rivers of Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida. In California there are no large rivers of delight, but the live oaks of the North are festooned with lovely moss like patriarchs with fine gray beards.

GETTING DANGEROUS.

The English exploded a mine eight miles away without wires. They did it by aerial electric waves. Pretty soon a man will be able to explode a bomb under another by mental telepathy. The world has already reached the pass where a great many men and women go around hating themselves to death.

A GOOD MAN.

Rev. R. P. Howell, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, South, has been made presiding elder of this district for his denomination. He has been tried in the Los Angeles balance for many years and has endeared himself to a large and growing congregation. Added to eloquence he has fine executive ability and will fill his new position with satisfaction.

FIREWORKS.

A line of fire thirty miles long is sweeping the Cucamonga watershed. Hundreds of men are fighting it, but it would take ten thousand to do the work. It makes a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night. The National Guard of the State and every regular army man at the Presidio ought to be called out for this important work. The growth of a century is being defeated.

THE OTHER SHOE.

Right now Southern California seems to be in doubt about how much its counties want to make exhibits at the big San Francisco exposition in 1915. It is more than likely that our people will be begging for space before the time is up. So much work as yet to be done on the fair ground buildings and the intervening time is so short that the South may be lucky to get good space. The commissioners are not going to have any trouble about securing exhibits.

AN INVITATION.

President Wilson helps pay for an advertisement in a Sunday newspaper urging men to go to church. We are glad that the President is a good little boy who never misses Sunday-school and who says his "now I lay me" before he goes to sleep. We are glad, too, that churches will unite in the general advertisement of this kind rather than have a few specialists get all the glory and the benefit. We are not quite sure, however, that they might not reach a greater number of non-church-goers if they would buy their space in the sporting section.

THE TWO WORLDS.

There is no man's world and woman's world, in spite of all the feature writers in both of them. Novels and plays often leave us sorry that men and women cannot understand the same way about the one world. Wives are jealous of their husbands' work, yet husbands do well in their work only for the sake of wives. Men start things that engage them arduously, but the reason is a woman. Wives often play society to reflect credit upon their husbands. Petulance on the part of either spoils the chance for understanding between them. Lives are not united for indulgence, nor for selfishness of any kind. Marriage celebrates a union of forces for better work and greater development. Those who meet it in this way find comfort and joy. Those who fail the higher obligations must often face them through pain.

HORSES IN TREES.

If a man arrived home at night and told his wife that he had seen a team of fine horses resting contentedly in the top branches of an oak tree she might conclude that he had been looking too closely on the wine when it is red. Yet this thing actually happened in Pasadena, and men in Pasadena don't drink. Then, also, Pasadena has a special variety of sturdy oak trees, and horses fed on Pasadena hay are very tenacious of life.

So when a team of horses on the top of Oak Knoll lost their footing and rolled down into the green valley below they stayed their downward career in the top branches of a kindly oak waiting to receive them. When released from their novel refuge they were still as live as the oak. No doubt as they cantered home they compared notes on their unique experience. These Crown City horses went Longfellow's blacksmith one better. He was content to view life under a spreading chestnut tree; they were fired with ambition to get a wider aspect from the top of a California oak. But the Pasadena people have to admit that in this case it was "a horse on them."

THE COUNCIL'S BLUNDER.

The City Council yesterday, ignoring the petitions of the Chamber of Commerce, the Municipal League, other civic bodies and hundreds of business men, perpetrated the unfairness and the folly of refusing to segregate the power plant and electric distribution bond issues. The Council voted to prepare an ordinance submitting to the people the necessary bonds for the completion of the aqueduct power plant and the unnecessary bonds for building a parallel distribution system as one proposition.

This ordinance practically disfranchises thousands of voters who believe in one issue, but not in the other; for if they vote at all they must vote against their judgment on one of them. The practical effect probably will be to defeat both of the bond issues. It will be surprising if the resentment of voters does not take that turn. And perhaps it will be just as well if the bonds are not voted. It would be practically impossible to sell them.

It is possible that a majority of the Council, while apparently playing to the galleries, are really giving the galleries the double X. But why make a farce of such an important matter?

Meanwhile the Councilmen are still apparently negotiating with the electric companies as to the municipal acquisition of their lines, and it may be that some fair trade will be made, although the spirit of confiscation is still rife.

VAGARIES OF DIVORCE.

Europe is in no condition to sneer at Reno because the bad little town on the banks of the Truckee affords unusual facilities for uncoupling those with whom marriage is a failure.

In Austria divorce is allowed to non-Catholics only, but Protestants and infidels may be divorced for "invincible aversion" to each other.

In France the infliction of "grave indignities" by either spouse upon the other is cause for divorce. Habitual drunkenness, willful desertion, imputations of infidelity, refusal to receive wife under conjugal roof and letters reflecting on each other are each classed as a "grave indignity."

In Germany and Norway there is no enumeration of causes for divorce, but a divorce may be granted "in the discretion of the court."

In Belgium, Switzerland and Roumania a divorce may be granted by mutual consent of the parties. In Russia such a divorce may be granted to Jews, but is granted to Greek Catholics only for adultery, conviction of felony, or extreme cruelty.

In Servia the scriptural cause for divorce is not recognized, but desertion, conviction of felony or apostasy from religion is.

In Spain, Portugal, Italy, Mexico and all Central and South American republics no divorces are granted.

In Japan a divorce may be granted for adultery of wife, but she cannot get rid of her husband for a little thing like that, unless he has been tried and convicted criminally therefor. But either may be divorced for insulting or ill-treating a mother-in-law or by mutual consent.

In Formosa a divorce may be granted to husbands only. In addition to the other causes loquacity is a cause. Divorce may be granted the husband for his poverty. But this cause is seldom assigned, for he is allowed to sell his wife and then he may divorce her for lewd conduct with the purchaser.

Among the Russian Jews the wife may be divorced if, in cooking, she rings in a piece of pork on him.

In England prior to 1857 marriages could only be dissolved by act of Parliament, and Parliament required as a condition of acting that the husband should first sue in ecclesiastical courts for legal separation, and also bring an action for damages against the seducer of his wife. It is different now. Divorces in England can be obtained for substantially the same causes as in Reno, but the cost is prohibitory to persons in moderate circumstances. A divorce in London will cost from $1000 to $3000. But as a Lord Chancellor once boasted: The just laws of England make no distinction between the rich and the poor."

In South Carolina a divorce is not granted for any cause whatever. In New York it is granted for adultery only. But transportation to New Jersey or Connecticut is cheap and rapid, and if the divorce seeker has the patience to wait for two years in Jersey, or three years in Connecticut, a divorce can be obtained for almost any old cause. If the party of the third part, with whom it is proposed to take on a new dose of domestic felicity, is in a hurry a six months' residence in Idaho will give the court jurisdiction.

There was a time, when Utah was a Territory, when her probate courts had jurisdiction of cases for divorce when the plaintiff alleged in his or her sworn complaint that he or she was there and intended in good faith to become a permanent resident. But those halcyon days have gone forever.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

Traveling men in the East are attending night schools where the Spanish language is taught, making ready, when the canal shall be open for business, to take away from Europe one-half, at least, of her trade of $125,000,000 per annum with Ecuador, Peru and Chile.

An eastern exchange analyzes the prospective American exports as follows: Cotton and woolen goods, $17,000,000; machinery, hardware, carriages and similar articles, $14,000,000; coal and coke, $11,000,000; explosives, $2,500,000; chemical articles, $1,200,000; paper for printing, $1,200,000; boots and shoes, $650,000; printed books, school text-books, etc., $500,000; canned goods of all kinds, a large and growing market exists for this class of goods, $500,000; furniture, $250,000.

Buenos Ayres, with 1,500,000 people, imported in 1911 $2,430,000 worth of woolen and cotton ready-made clothing, of which only $500,000 worth came from the United States. Our exportations on this line of goods should be quadrupled.

In 1908 the United States exported to South America $1,385,412 worth of steel rails. In 1912 these exports had grown to $3,883,126. Experts say that, with the canal completed and the Pan-American market cultivated for projected roads, we should sell there $15,000,000 worth of steel rails per annum.

In 1908 the United States sold only 163 automobiles, valued at $194,011, in all South America. In 1912 we sold in the same territory 2201 automobiles, valued at $2,539,166. These sales were made in Brazil and Argentina by displacing the French cars. With the canal completed our autos should be honking down the South American coast all the way from Panama to Valparaiso.

There are certain lines of goods in which Los Angeles can compete with New York in the Mexican, Central American and South American markets, in both the Atlantic and Pacific ports, and there are some details with which they should be familiar. Catalogues should be printed in Spanish. Weights and measures should be expressed by the metric system, and prices in the currency of the country to which articles are to be sent. The $-sign means a variety of things in South America. In Peru it means a sol, worth 49 cents. In Uruguay it means a sol, worth $1.03.

Charles Lyon Chandler of the United States consular service gives the following advice to American exporters who are now being attracted to the Pan-American markets as never before:

"Study the wants and needs of particular countries, as well as the needs of the continent as a whole. Do not think that because you can sell automobiles in Buenos Ayres, you can sell them in places where there are no roads. Above all, be patient in the export business, not merely because it pays in the long run, but because it is what the English, the Germans, the French and other European exporters are doing. We must imitate them if we are to succeed as they have done."

In the East the manufacturers and merchants are preparing for the South American trade. Newark, N. J., has issued a comprehensive export trade directory in four languages. Boston has had a party of fifty business men in South America studying trade conditions at first-hand, and a four-year course in Spanish is now required of all pupils in the Boston High School of Commerce. Baltimore business men are preparing to make a tour of Pan-America similar to that made by Boston. The Chicago Association of Commerce in 1911 founded an agency in Buenos Ayres.

What are Los Angeles merchants and manufacturers doing in the way of preparing for the South American trade?

PLUMED HATS.

The importation of aigrettes or other bird plumage is forbidden by the new tariff, and ladies returning from their European trips with feathers in their headgear will be required to strip these adornments from their Paris hats, and as they descend the gang plank, hand their plumage over to a ruthless customhouse inspector.

This provision of the new tariff is just in time to check the growth of the new fashion of men wearing plumed hats, which has already made its appearance in Los Angeles, Boston, New York and Baltimore. Yet, while the Federal law may prevent foreign birds from being deprived of their narratives, it will not extend its beneficent protection to birds hatched under the Stars and Stripes. We may yet see Holy Hiram with the posterior plumage of a turkey gobbler on his head, and Chattering Chet flaunting upon his would-be Senatorial brow the gorgeous ultimate end of a peacock, and Gates Ajar with half a dozen stuffed parrots making a halo around his hat, and Toopious with his head surmounted with a stuffed vulture that has so lately come from the taxidermist's shop that passers-by will hold their noses and think it is the bird when it isn't.

Senator Martine of New Jersey is out in a tirade inviting a commercial war against the United States. President Wilson ought to muzzle Martine. It is due to the interference of the Chief Executive that Martine has been inflicted upon the country.

His Dream Shattered.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

All summer long the land was dry, no moisture from the clouds deriving; we saw all vegetation die, and yet our whiskers kept on thriving. We didn't need a whiskers crop, we needed oats and wheat and barley, and yet their growing didn't stop, they wouldn't die, so help me, Charlie! When autumn comes the flowers fall, they perish when cold winds are blowing; the vines all wither on the wall—but human whiskers keep on growing. And what becomes of all the bales of whiskers grown on manly faces—the one great crop that never fails, no odds what weather freaks it faces? The one great crop that laughs at drouth, defies the frost king and his legions, that prospers West, or North, or South, on desert sands, in Arctic regions? Do we conserve this great resource, this crop that we can' count on always? No! Science plods along her course, and finds no use for human galways. She's making paper out of straw, and nutmegs out of elm or willow; she's forming cigarettes of slaw, and drawing salt from ocean billow. She's looking ever for new ways to utilize the waste, and save it, but for your beard no market prays, when with a butcher knife you shave it. Our hangdowns glitter in the sun, we sadly sigh whene'er we lose them; we're raising whiskers by the ton, and cannot find a way to use them.

WALT MASON.

[Copyright, 1913, by George Matthew Adams.]

More Than He Could Stand.

[Kansas City Star:] "It is only once in a long while," Tom McNeal quotes Abe Peters as saying, "that you find a plain, homely man who is really aware of the way he looks. I knew one exception. Jed Perkins, who used to live down in Southeast Kansas, was certainly the homeliest human critter I ever laid my eyes on, and, what was more, Jed knew it. One winter down there Jed attended a revival meeting and the preacher, aided by the sisters and deacons, decided to make a combined effort to bring him into the fold.

"'Think, brother,' said the preacher, 'of the delight of meeting your loved ones in the better land.'

"'Is it your idee?' Jed asked of the parson, 'that if I do the right thing I will show up in the better land a lookin' as natural as life?'

"'Certainly, Brother Perkins,' said the preacher.

"'Well,' said Jed, with a gloomy sigh, 'if that's the case, I believe I would ruther be lost. Of course, if I'm among a lot of goats it won't make so much difference, but if I have to try to work my way into good society in the New Jerusalem wearin' this face of mine and havin' to wear it always, it will be a leetle more than I kin stand.'"

WORD JUGGLING.

BY LILLIAN COLLINS.

Amid the blaring of trumpets, and the rolling of drums, heralded by clever press agent tactics, an international figure leaps upon the American platform and makes her ironic bow before an eagerly-expectant public.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is with us.

The manner of her entree provides food for reflection. It would, perhaps, be a rather severe judgment to fasten upon a person of Mrs. Pankhurst's fanatical attitude toward right and justice the quality of depravity constituting "moral turpitude," within the strict definition of the term; but undesirable alien she unquestionably is.

However, an element of doubt as to the exact cataloguing of her repeated acts of violence in England was permitted to play an important part in determining the disputed question of her right of entrance to the United States. In fairness one cannot exclude the reasonable doubt from deliberations affecting the character and limiting the freedom of an individual; so this reasonable doubt, in the present instance, interpreted Mrs. Pankhurst's delinquencies as of the order of "political offenses."

Now this decision opens up a rather pretty point in the suffrage discussion for and against.

I have never been an eager student of ancient history, yet sometimes one must point an argument by the citation of events past. A few years ago, when woman suffrage was the one absorbing topic of feminine interest in California, certain of those opposed to woman's enfranchisement timidly advanced the theory that political activities for women tended strongly toward sex antagonism.

This theory was vehemently denied by the Boosters for the Cause, with much vituperative scorn for the order of intelligence that could entertain such an absurd belief.

With this historical data in mind, let us see what bearing it has upon the subject under discussion.

While the project of Mrs. Pankhurst's American tour was being considered, and the question of her admission to the United States was still a matter of doubt, Mrs. Harriet M. Johnstone Wood, a prominent suffragist lawyer, of New York I believe, is reported to have declared:

"If the United States government attempts to deport Mrs. Pankhurst we will create a revolution such as the world has never before seen—a battle to the death between men and women?

So!

Proceeding a step further: Upon what interpretation of conduct was Mrs. Pankhurst admitted to the United States?

Upon the assumption that her record of lawlessness could be construed as a "political offense"—this upon Mrs. Pankhurst's own declaration that a state of actual war exists between the men and women of England.

Sex antagonism—war between men and women! It's a very fine distinction, if a difference does, in fact, exist.

The memory which deals with mental processes of indirection must be long and accurate in its recollections. The system of word juggling that involves a re-collection of arguments in a new order of arrangement demands a subtle understanding and a crafty skill somewhat in excess of ordinary capacity.

To repudiate the charge of sex antagonism today, and tomorrow parade its actual existent fact as a means to their own ends—

That is the stuff from which real politicians are made.

Mrs. Pankhurst further affirms and declares that it is not her intention to incite to militancy during her stay in the United States.

Then what is the purpose of her descent upon America?

Fees!

Money to continue militant tactics in England!

Funds with which to prosecute this "war" between British men and women!

American women and American men, through the medium of a cleverly-arranged sideshow of ingenious seductiveness, are made to contribute to the support of this campaign of violence. Earnest club women, themselves eager champions of the universal peace movement, are lured through the unique personality and spectacular activities of this woman incendiary, into financing the bitterest civil war in the history of the world.

Curiosity!

It's not a high note these militant financiers strike, but it gets the money every time—and money is their one crying necessity now, if they are to continue to sit in the game.

With a strong reaction toward law and order already setting in, even within their own ranks, and a withdrawal of financial support from hitherto loyal adherents, a desperate situation demands a more or less desperate remedy.

Despite their jibes and jeers for American manners, British subjects entertain a wholesome respect for at least one thing which Americans possess—American money. It was inevitable that the covetous eye of longing should, sooner or later, be directed toward this abundant source of supply.

How to tap the till?

How to levy tribute upon a people avowedly opposed to the methods of their purpose?

How to cajole peace-loving women into providing the munitions of war?

The solution of these separate problems involved many fine points of diplomacy, requiring not a little skill in adjusting differences of international importance. But solved they finally were, and, strange as it may appear, the answer to each problem was exactly the same—Mrs. Pankhurst.

Result of Topnoody's Resolve.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] Topnoody made up his mind that he was not going to be henpecked any longer, so when he went home to dinner he called out, imperiously:

"Mrs. Topnoody!"

Mrs. T. came out of the scullery with a dish-rag tied round her head and rolling-pin in her hand.

"Well, sir," she asked, "what's your good will?"

"Mrs. Topnoody, I want you to understand, madam"—and he tapped his chest dramatically—"that I am the engineer of this establishment."

"Oh, you are, are you? Well, Toppy, I want you to understand that I am the boiler that will blow up and sling the engineer over into the next county. Do you hear the steam escaping, Toppy?"

Toppy did hear it, and meekly inquired if there was any assistance he could render in the house.

THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER

Some time ago the Watchman mentioned the circumstance that Hon. Walter J. Bordwell, former judge of the Superior Court, was much and often talked of as the right man for the Supreme Bench, when the next vacancy might arise. This suggestion has met with a hearty response, not only from members of the bar, but among laymen as well. Judge Bordwell made a noble record and has won the highest respect of the people of the State. I consider him as the most likely "prospect" for the succession to the Chief Justiceship. As for Judge Bordwell, himself, while his friends are talking, he is not saying a word.

Rehabilitation of the Republican party of California before the consideration of the candidacy of any man or set of men, preparatory to active participation in the general primary and final elections throughout the State next year, is favored by the members of the Republican State Executive Committee, who spent three days last week in conference at San Francisco with Hon. Phil A. Stanton of Los Angeles, who is the member from California of the Republican National Committee.

This conference was attended by many men long identified with the true representatives of the G.O.P., and have never been tainted with the various fads and fancies that have been utilized to cause disruption among the men and women who ordinarily would be found in the Republican party ranks. Chief among them was Gustav Brenner, chairman of the State Central Committee, and one of the well-known business men of San Francisco. Only the members of the Executive Committee were called to the meetings and most of them responded.

Interest and enthusiasm marked every session. There was a free and general discussion of the political situation as it exists today in California, with an eye single to the ways and means to best bring about the complete restoration of the Republican organization so that the regular party machinery will be in proper working order next year. Another and larger conference will be held two weeks hence.

It must be remembered that the present Progressive party machine stole the regular Republican organization two years ago to help Roosevelt and Johnson in their political robbery and jobbery. This means that the legal Republican organization is in the control of the so-called Progressives. The regular Republican State Committee was, primarily, a "rump committee," but as it was truly a Republican organization it has been officially recognized as such by National Committeeman Phil Stanton, and is so regarded by the Republican National Committee. How would be the way to reorganization and rehabilitation were the Progressives to keep their oft-made promise of entering the next State campaign under the name of the Progressive party; but little if any faith is placed in these fulsome promises.

No matter what public utterances are ventured by the Johnsonites and Hiramites, there is no mistaking their private views, which are to keep absolute control of the regular Republican organization, if possible. It is well understood that the election laws provide for only one party nomination for any one candidate or set of candidates, and attention has been given to the frequent announcement that the Progressives will keep to their own particular name. But the fact is not forgotten that two years ago the Progressive bosses hung onto both the Progressive and Republican names. It isn't contended that they are today inoculated with any higher sense of political purity than they were at that time. That they fear going before the people stripped of all disguise as straight-out Republicans is also understood; but few politicians of any party are to be found who believe that they are eager to go before the people on their fearful record of incompetency and extravagance that has been the past three years characterized by the Johnson administration of State affairs, and under the fungus name of "Progressives."

Upon one thing there was unanimity of sentiment at the meeting, and that was in regard to the inadvisability of giving any considerations whatever to any man as a possible candidate for United States Senator, Governor or for any lesser office. It was agreed that the less talk of individual candidates at present, the better for the party as a whole.

"We know what we are about and we are determined to do it and do it right," said National Committeeman Stanton. "It isn't at this time a question of candidates. Not in the remotest degree. We will get around to the matter of candidates in plenty of time. Now we want to get the Republican party in the hands of its friends and reorganized along the right lines. Personally, I want to do everything and anything I can to bring about this condition. I want to be in position to carry encouraging news back East with me when I go next December to attend a formal meeting of the National Committee."

WANTED IN ARIZONA.

Former Secretary of Farmers' Association Arrested Here on Charge of Embezzling Its Funds.

After living in this city as a man of means since April, W. H. Schultz of No. 635 West Fifth street was arrested by Sheriff's officers on a warrant from Arizona. It is alleged he embezzled several thousand dollars in Holbrook, that State, while serving as secretary of a farmers' organization. Schultz said he was not aware of any reason why he was wanted in Holbrook and declared that the books of the Farmers' Alliance were in good shape when he left. He said he will not resist extradition.

The officers report Schultz has been spending money lavishly and has been a well-known figure in the cafe life of the city. When arrested he was in the company of a handsome young woman who later disappeared.

LETTER SENDS HIM TO JAIL.

In the United States District Court yesterday, Ben Dyer pleaded guilty to the charge of sending an obscene letter through the mails, and was sentenced to six months in the County Jail. The girl, to whom the letter was sent, was a ward of the Juvenile Court. Dyer was arrested in San Francisco and brought here by a deputy United States marshal.

The Housing Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—[To the Editor of the Times:] Permit me short space to write regarding the closing of buildings on North Main street owned by me, by the Housing Commission, mention of which has appeared in The Times and other Los Angeles papers. The Housing Commission seem to be taking considerable pains in advertising this one act in proof of their "efficiency." The "Six Houses" are ancient cottages of three and four rooms each, situated at Main and Ann streets and were occupied by poor Mexican families unable to pay on an average the small rent of $8 per month. Some of them were ten months back on rent when the houses were closed on October 1. One poor woman who conveniently died just before the Housing Commission swooped down on them had not been asked for her rent for six months. This is the one whose demise was undoubtedly hastened by the daily visits of a female "inspector" from the commission who seemed to take pleasure in warning her she would be thrown into the street if she didn't move out.

This pseudo inspector has literally camped on the premises for the past three years, and when she was not busy counselling these tenants not to pay their rent (advise superfluous to this class of tenants) she seemed to be hunting for cockroaches and other insects on the premises.

For reasons unknown I seem to have fallen under her displeasure about three years ago, since which time she has been very busy reporting against the unsanitary condition of the houses.

During that time I have complied with every demand of this commission, no matter how ridiculous and unreasonable, until last July when they ordered me to tear off all cloth and paper put on by their order a little over a year ago and substitute the heaviest canvas. Who ever heard of the "heaviest canvas" or any kind of canvas being used for house-lining? Many other demands have been more ridiculous than this.

The tenants were put out October 1, and today received another notice, dated October 14 to "fix up the toilets and the plumbing therein." This is another riddle I am unable to solve—why they should wish the toilets kept up when they have fired the tenants.

Complying with other demands during the last three years has cost me $725, while the income from tenants has been less than $500. So from a financial point they have done me good service by closing the cottages, but if this aggregation is given power commensurate with the future growth of the city, God help the city!

BABE BORN; FATHER DIES.

Child's Birthday Marked by Tragic End of Parent When Cave-in Buries Him in Street.

"Well, boys, I got to work hard today, for I got another baby in my home," said Felix Juarez, as he started digging, at Forest and Brooklyn avenues, yesterday, in a ditch. He was elated over the youngster who had just arrived at his home, San Fernando and Lake streets.

A few minutes later Juarez was dead. The bank of the pit had caved in, and pinned him beneath tons of dirt. Caught with him was Jack Grizich, No. 1547 North Main street, who was slightly injured.

Juarez received the full force of the dirt, and was crushed beneath the weight. He died at the Receiving Hospital.

BACK TO CHINA.

Fifteen Chinese laborers, "transit men," were brought up from Calexico yesterday and examined at the immigration office in the Federal building. One of the party, Lum For Lim, aged about 35 years, who was suffering from diabetes, and who had to be taken from the train in a taxicab on account of his weakened condition, died in the County Jail within half an hour after reaching the place. He leaves a wife and children in China. The prisoners will be sent back to China as soon as the papers in the case can be prepared.

BORDEN CASE SUBMITTED.

Supreme Court to Pass on Appeal By Wife of Condensed Milk Manufacturer—Other Cases.

In the Supreme Court, yesterday, the case of Helen M. Borden against Gail Borden, the condensed milk manufacturer, was submitted on appeal from Superior Court Judge Houser, who had denied the prayer of the plaintiff for divorce, on the ground of desertion. The Bordens were married at Rockdale, N. Y., December 5, 1893, and they have one child, Ramona Borden, a daughter, aged 14 years. By the terms of an agreement entered into between the parties, the wife was paid $12,000 a year, for the support of herself and child. By the decree of Judge Houseron August 30, 1911, the court found that the charge of desertion was not proved.

The Supreme Court, in both departments, will close up its work in Los Angeles today. Among other cases to be submitted is that of Hazel Keating against Edward Keating, for divorce, on appeal from Superior Court Judge George Church.

In the case of the Newmark Grain Company against the Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles, to make the defendant corporation responsible financially for drafts and checks deposited in the bank by a book-keeper named Schickl, who afterward embezzled the proceeds, the Supreme Court denied a rehearing. Some weeks ago the court decided the case in favor of the bank.

Power-Bond Projects.

proposed bond issue of $6,500,000 for the electric power department of the aqueduct, the undersigned as a member of the above committee begs to report that, while he is most enthusiastically in favor of the entire issue, he cannot approve the contemplated submission of the question to the people in a lump sum.

"It is a fact that the proceeds of the bonds will be applied to two distinct and separate purposes, to wit:

"First—The partial completion of power plant No. 1 to produce 37,500 horse power, and the transmission of such power to the city limits.

"Second—The distribution of this electrical energy throughout the city.

"Personally, I believe that the people, if treated fairly and frankly, will approve both issues overwhelmingly, but as there are two questions involved, and as there is a conceded difference of opinion on the questions, I maintain that to insist upon placing the question in a lump sum is unfair, un-American and undemocratic. The very purpose of the election is to determine the will of the people, and to that end the people should have full knowledge of the issue and the right to vote in accordance with their own convictions.

It has been urged as an argument against segregation that the power companies want segregation in order to defeat distribution and that therefore the power companies and all those who think as they do, should be barred from the right to vote. This, in short, is gag law, unjust and indefensible.

Moreover, I maintain in that the true friends of our great aqueduct, those who aspire to its full development and the quickest method of placing it on a paying basis, will not desert it at this time.

"They will understand the situation and vote for both completion and distribution provided all in connection with the election is fair and above board. But if you will put the opponents of either issue in a position to justly charge unfair treatment you will place in their hands a weapon capable of precluding the very ends you desire to attain, for nothing is stronger in our citizenship than the love of fair play and nothing more furiously attacked than a violation of fair play rule."

Betkouski, Bryant, Reed, Snowden, Wheeler and Whiffen voted for the majority report, while Conwell and Langdon opposed it. Conwell described the unified proposition as an engineering crime, a financial folly to create a colossal debt by saddling upon the city an additional $5,000,000 in bonds.

The vote for the resolution showed the same alignment as the vote for the majority report.

PLAN OF COMPANIES.

The unsigned proposition of the power companies, as made public by President Whiffen, follows:

The city of Los Angeles to lease the existing electric distributing systems now in Los Angeles and necessary extensions thereof under a contract for a period of years to be agreed upon.

The city of Los Angeles to deal directly with consumers, fixing consumers' rates from time to time, and making all collections from consumers.

The city to employ the companies as operators to distribute the city's electric energy from the city's substation in Los Angeles, to the individual consumers' premises.

The city to pay the companies for the lease of distributing systems and all expenses of distributing on a schedule of charges based upon the amount of electric energy distributed to consumers.

In the event that the city shall not at any time have sufficient electric energy to supply the needs of the city of Los Angeles and its inhabitants, the city may purchase such additional energy from the companies. Should the development of the city's power as outlined in the report of the consulting board of engineers bureau of Los Angeles aqueduct power, of February 12, 1910, be such as to provide more electric energy than is necessary for the demands of Los Angeles city and its inhabitants, the companies will agree tod istribute all such additional power on a satisfactory basis to be agreed upon.

All operation under this leasing plan to be under a board of control, on which both the city and companies would be represented.

The lease shall recognize the sentiment of the people of Los Angeles in favor of the municipal distribution of power, as expressed by the majority at previous elections. This arrangement is the best that can be done at the present time, inasmuch as the companies cannot secure release of their property used for distributing energy in Los Angeles from mortgages made by them, for the reason that, at the present time, a very large percentage of their business is in Los Angeles.

The lease, a co-operative arrangement for a limited period, for the use of the distributing systems of the companies and of the city's power during which the companies would be able to build up sufficient other business to make full use of that part of their generating plants now used for Los Angeles business. When this is done, the companies will take up in good faith the matter of securing releases from the mortgages on their distributing systems in Los Angeles so that the same may be sold to the city at a fair price to be then determined by appraisal, should the sentiment of the people then be for direct distribution by the city over a system owned by it.

The lease must be approved by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, who would investigate the conditions, including the rate to be allowed the companies for the use of their property and the expenses of distribution.

Charles Edward Anthony,

DEATH COMES QUICKLY.

Well Known Business Man of This City Suddenly Passes Away at His Home.

Charles Edward Anthony, familiarly known in all business circles of this city, died suddenly last night at his home, No. 3200 Wilshire boulevard, aged 70 years. The deceased was taken with a severe attack of heart disease last July, but made a good recovery and continued active in business until a few weeks ago, when he showed signs of a return of the trouble. It was thought, even yesterday, however, that he would recover, and his death at 7 o'clock in the evening came as a great surprise.

Mr. Anthony came to this city from Peoria, Ill., where he was engaged in banking business, in 1890, and has lived here continuously since that time, taking a great interest in the city and its business enterprises. Some years ago he founded the Western Motor Car Company and retained his interest until his death. He was a director of the German-American Savings Bank, a member of the California Club and Los Angeles Athletic Club, was a Knight Templar and a Shriner.

He leaves a widow and one son, Earle C. Anthony, also well known in this city. Funeral arrangement have not yet been made, but interment will be private.

Miss Ethyll Jones Merriti,

A charming Los Angeles girl, recently arrived from Rome, who has been engaged by the Tivoli Opera Company of San Francisco.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES ELECTS FRESH OFFICERS.

Recent Scandal Forgotten in Determination to Live Up to Principles—Ask Indorsement of Municipal Commission—Request People to Contribute Funds.

Smooth sailing for the Associated Charities was assured at a meeting yesterday of the old Board of Directors which some weeks ago placed the business of the association in the hands of the Municipal Charities Commission, which appointed a reorganization committee. At yesterday's meeting the old board formally resigned as individuals, and each resignation was followed by the election of one of the Reorganization Committee to fill the vacancy. Harmony prevailed yesterday and it was found that whatever differences existed between the old board and the Charities Commission, the misunderstandings were readily adjusted by President Frank when he returned to the city after an extended absence.

The new board is composed of women prominent in charitable work in the city. Mrs. Eugene Overton was elected to succeed President Frank; Miss Florence Moore to succeed Secretary Sewall; the position of vice-president was left vacant for the time being. The other members of the board elected yesterday are: Miss Mary J. Workman, Mrs. Helen H. Wernick, Mrs. May T. Goldman and Mrs. Mary J. S. Burkelman.

Yesterday's meeting was described last night as more of a love feast than a business session, and the new board takes up the exacting work with apparently no opposition or ill-feeling. The board immediately made application to the Municipal Charities Commission for its indorsement, and the application will be acted upon at the commission's meeting this afternoon.

During the period of uncertainty as to the future of the organization the Associated Charities suffered from a shrinking in the voluntary gifts which they need to carry on their work, and the new board asks the generous people of the city to come to the rescue so that much needed relief may be offered at once.

In Play of Man Knowing Woman's Ways.

Miss Pauline Bush
Of the photoplay "The Ways of Fate."

Analyzing the downward steps a discouraged man, one unjustly accused, takes until he casts aside all pretense of upright living and becomes the head of a band of robbers, and paralleling in psychology the life of the leader of the infamous Jennings gang of highwaymen, the photoplay, "The Ways of Fate," just completed, is startlingly realistic.

Allan Dwan has of late favored psychological plays for picturing, and his dissecting of the human mind in this film will probably prove uncomfortably accurate to many, but none the less interesting to others.

LAST OF THE KIMMESS FAMILY IN THE TOILS

THE municipality took into its care yesterday the fourth and last member of the family of Kimmess. She was arrested at the juvenile home in an automobile, where she is supposed to have been making an attempt to take her two children from that institution. To regain possession of the boy and girl she risked arrest and prosecution, after she knew that she was comparatively safe.

The last member of the strange family is Mrs. Etta Kimmess, mother of the children, and wife of Dr. Bruce Kimmess, now serving a term in Patton to free him from the drug habit. While seeking leniency in the courts, Kimmess pleaded that his wife was a victim of the drug habit and had forced him to issue the checks that they might live.

While the prosecution was in progress Mrs. Kimmess came from San Francisco to be at hand. She is a wisp of a woman, carrying the imprint of unusual beauty.

THAM LANGFORD EASILY KNOCKS OUT JACK LESTER

Fight Is Really a Farce, as Langford Was Much Too Good—Could Easily Have Ended the Fight in the First Round—Management Lost Quite a Little Money. Many Women Enjoy the Show.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TAFT, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The boxing fans of Taft were treated to one of the biggest farces ever pulled off in a boxing ring this afternoon, when Sam Langford and Jack Lester met in their scheduled twenty-round contest.

Langford stopped Lester in four rounds and could have done so at any time after the first two minutes of boxing if he wanted to.

It was very evident in the first round that Lester did not have one chance in a thousand to win. Sam simply toyed with Jack from the first round on and did about as he pleased with him. He hit Lester a good solid cross-counter in the first round that spun him around, and if he had wanted to follow it up could have ended the bout right there.

THAM TOO GOOD.

It was the old story of a selling plater against a stake horse. George Wilson, manager of Lester, said before the contest that he figured Sam Langford was on the down grade and that Jack had everything to win and nothing to lose. He also said: "If Jack can make any kind of a showing against Langford, it will be a big boost for him, and if he gets knocked out he loses nothing."

The contest was on the square and both men were out to win. It was a case of a good, game, willing boy against a seasoned man, and one of the best in the world, at that. Some were unkind enough to say that Lester quit, but he is as game as any man that ever entered a ring.

Any time that the Boston Tar Baby hits he hits hard. In the fourth, Sam hit Jack one of the hardest punches in the stomach I have ever seen delivered and knocked Jack's wind out. He was about all in and his seconds made a claim of foul and started to holler from their corners. George Blake, the referee, was right on the job, and would not stand for it. Lester's seconds were the only ones that made any kick.

SOME MOVIES.

There were moving pictures taken of the contest and Lester's manager, Wilson, has an interest in them. They have been taking pictures of the oil well regions and are intending to dramatize them. This did not have anything to do with the contest itself, but will be worked into the pictures to make the story more complete.

The new Taft arena is a good one and an open-air affair. The day was warm and most of the fans sat with their coats off. Many ladies were present and apparently enjoyed the show.

When Langford and Lester appeared there were about 2500 present, which left about one-third of the seats empty. The prices ran from $5 to $10. The betting was even money that Lester would not stay ten rounds and 8 to 10 that he would not stay five, but there was little money bet at any odds on Lester.

LOST MONEY.

Manager George Wilson said after the contest that he lost about $2000 on the show, but, as bad as it was, most of the fans went away satisfied that they had seen Sam Langford fight, and said that Wilson was on the square and took a chance to help the game along. Lester, at that, stayed longer than Jim Flynn did when he met the Tar Baby in 'Frisco.

Taft is a small town, and it would have cost Wilson many dollars to get a man in Langford's class that was good enough to give him any kind of a contest. Langford is considered by the fans to be the best man in the world today and Wilson deserves credit for his gameness in landing him for any kind of a match.

Lester was the first to enter the ring at 2:40 and was shortly followed by Langford. Just as the second preliminary was about to start one section of the seats went down. There was a lot of excitement for a few minutes, but luckily only a few were slightly hurt. About fifty fans went down and each got a $10 seat when he arose from the mixup. Lester appeared in a dark-brown bathrobe and wore green boxing trunks.

Langford appeared in a green silk kimona with flowers worked in silk and wore black boxing trunks. He was seconded by Bob Armstrong, Kid Kenneth, Liver Davis and Joe Fern. Lester had Chick Brown, Pete Norris, Young Ketchel, Monte Michaels and his manager, George Wilson. Lester took the northeast corner and Langford the southwest, with the sun on his back.

Lester looks enough like Tommy Burns to be his twin brother. Both men appeared confident and cool when they sat in their corners. George Blake, the well-known referee of the Vernon arena, was the third man in the ring and refereed the contest in high-class manner.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Round 1—They rushed to a clinch and after the break Sam nailed Jack with beautiful cross counter on the jaw that knocked him groggy, and he could have finished it right then and there if he wanted to. Lester landed a hard left swing to Sam's stomach, but Sam did not appear to notice it in the least. Sam came back with the same kind of a punch and nearly stopped Jack, but Sam backed away and let him get himself together again. It was plain to anyone who knew anything about the game that Sam was holding back.

STANFORD HAS MANY ELIGIBLES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Cal.) Oct. 27.—Coach Floyd Brown has submitted the names of sixty players eligible to enter the lists for Stanford in the Rugby game against the University of California. Coach Schaeffer of California, despite the greater number of men on the Berkeley squad, has submitted the names of only forty-five men to the Stanford athletic authorities as eligibles.

BRACKLIN SCORES.

CARLISLE (Pa.) Oct. 27.—[By A. J. Night Wire.] Coach Glenn Warner announced tonight that it was Bracklin, the Indian right halfback, and not Guyon, left halfback, who scored the touchdown against the University of Pennsylvania eleven in the annual football game Saturday. When the play was made it was announced that Guyon was the man who carried the ball across the Pennsylvania line.

HOW A PET BEAR NEAR WRECKED CHAVEZ' MIT.

A PET bear came near bringing disaster to the Chavez fortunes and removing from active service one of the most valuable bantamweight fists in the ring yesterday.

Benny Chavez, the little fellow who is to box Eddie Campi next week, was playing yesterday with a pet bear at Jack Doyle's. They started scuffling and Benny landed a punch on the bear's ear that caused Bruin to lose enthusiasm for the boxing business. He started on a marathon round the tree to which he was fastened, winding Chaves up in the chain in such a way that his right hand was caught and twisted in the chain. With every revolution of the bounding bear the pressure on the hand grew until it looked as though a postponement would be in order for the Campi-Chaves fight.

The bear was finally coaxed into unwinding himself by means of a pan of milk.

JOHNSON DOESN'T PITCH VERY WELL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JOPLIN (Mo.) Oct. 27.—Walter Johnson and Christy Mathewson did not oppose each other today, as had been announced by the promoters of the game between the New York Nationals and the Chicago American teams. Johnson was on hand and pitched the first three innings, holding the New Yorks to six hits, but Mathewson did not appear. New York won, 13 to 12. Score:

Chicago, 12; hits, 19; errors, 4.
New York, 13; hits, 17; errors, 2.

M'CORMICK'S DEFEAT BY BARKER IS BIG SURPRISE.

THE defeat of E. R. McCormick, singles champion of Oregon, at the hands of Clarence Barker of Pasadena, in the first round of the singles tournament of the Pasadena Tennis Club, Saturday, has resulted in a mix-up in the "dope" surrounding the determination of the championship of the club.

McCormick was touted to win the tournament or at least to reach the finals, but in encountering Barker he met a tartar. However, the "dope" was again spilled in the second round of the tourney when Horace Donnell disposed of Clarence Barker in rather easy fashion. McCormick has been winning consistently throughout the last summer and invaded the northwest where he won many tournaments among which was one carrying the title of Oregon singles champion.

The semi-finals of the Pasadena Club's tournament will be played this week between Allyn Barber, Horace Donnell, Eugene Warren and Victor Dixon.

COMISKEY SAYS BASEBALL SHOES SHOULD BE HIGHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Comiskey of the White Sox, who returned today from a brief inspection of his world's tourists in Kansas City, advocated with some vehemence the abolition of the low shoe as part of a ball player's uniform, and the substitution of the old-fashioned high shoe for the purpose of minimizing injuries to the underpinning of the star players while on the diamond.

Comiskey's advocacy of the high shoe grew out of the accident to Hal Chase of the White Sox, whose disability resulted in the addition of Frank Isbell, former South Side idol, to the globe-girdling party. The master of the Sox was delighted to have Isbell join the party, but deplored the injury to Chase. The crack first-sacker has been nursing a weak ankle for a whole season, and it interfered with his playing to a considerable extent. The recent sprain happened to the other ankle, and it is believed a winter of complete rest will be necessary to put Chase's locomotive machinery in good shape again.

The White Sox president expressed the opinion that the Chase accident and a lot of sprains that occur on the ball field are largely due to the players' predilection for low-cut shoes. Comiskey himself never wore them when playing the game. In fact, in his day, the shoes made for ball players were high enough to lace around the ankle and furnish good support for that weak spot in the athlete's anatomy.

POLO PONIES TOO FRISKY FOR MOVIES

A few Pasadena polo ponies came very near breaking up a magnificent production of "Marius" by the Universal Film people yesterday.

The play, which was produced on the grounds of Throop College at Pasadena, necessitated the use of a Roman chariot, and four spirited polo ponies were secured from the nearby stables at Tournament Park to haul it.

The hero, Marius, was supposed to come dashing up under a tree and stop directly in front of the camera, but the high spirits of the ponies nearly broke up the show.

The leading man, a Hercules in frame, but apparently unable to handle a Los Angeles cab horse successfully, much less a quartette of high-spirited polo ponies, had an awful time with the chariot, being carried to every section of the Throop grounds not in focus of the camera and not once landing at the appointed spot.

Finally, in order to get the production on before the shades of night settled on the scene, an old groom from the stables was hurriedly bedecked in a flowing toga and the triumphant Marius, instead of dashing madly up to the tree and leaping lightly to the ground, was driven there in a very circumspect manner by the groom, whose chief worry was rather to hide his scrawny legs than to present a noble appearance.

The brave leading man remarked that after the completion of this picture he would limit his appearance to automobiles, as he far preferred that means of locomotion to being whirled over the ground by a quartette of wild polo ponies with a groom as chauffeur.

Loss of Game to Poly Will Doom Athletics.

Long-Time Cock of the Walk Is Slipping.

Mechanics Determined to Down Old Foes.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

The most important game in the history of Southern California High School football is to be played Friday between Los Angeles High and Polytechnic.

For many years Los Angeles High has dominated High School athletics. This year they will meet their old foes with a weakened but desperate team. The loss of the game to Polytechnic would send many prospective athletes to the other High Schools, where championship teams are to be found. This game involves not only prestige but the possession of future athletic material.

The Blue and White have been handicapped by a forty-five-minute ride out to their football grounds, while the other schools had their training quarters at their doors.

The Hill-toppers have a fighting chance to remain Southern California champions in spite of the loss of all but one of their last year's team, but the athletic future of the old school depends upon the winning of the game with Polytechnic Friday.

Not since the good old days when Polytechnic and Los Angeles High Schools used to settle their differences on the gridiron and then indulge in a magnificent free-for-all fight afterwards, has there been so much interest aroused in any one football game as that over the Los Angeles-Polytechnic fracas scheduled for next Friday.

The hill-toppers have been on the slide of late and their teams have been growing weaker and weaker. Only the old "You can't beat Los Angeles High" spirit has kept them in the championship class. The other High Schools have been growing stronger and stronger, until it now looks as though the Blue and White have their backs up against the wall.

Only one veteran player remains on the Blue and White line-up. True, Brooks is a host in himself, but his team is much weaker than last year and only by showing the old-time fight have they remained undefeated up until this time.

Poly hasn't the strongest team in the world but the Blue and Gold have been working overtime getting ready for their ancient foes, and Friday's battle promises to tell the tale.

There is going to be a battle of giants when Brooks of Los Angeles High and Red Wilson of Polytechnic hook up. Wilson is the red-headed phenom who came unheralded to the Washington-street school last year and practically won the basketball championship for them single-handed. This year he has blossomed out as a regular fiend at Rugby and the Poly rooters feel that Brooks will meet his match when the two meet.

The Polytechnic line-up is not to be had at the present time, but the Los Angeles High team will be picked from the following men: Forwards, Westerhaven, Eason, Coleman, Henry, Prendergast, Floweree, Leake, Farquhar, Janes, Hastings; backs, Dell, Headley Johnson, Brooks, Fishburn, Downs, Blanchard, Sheedy, Overall and Splane.

Dell, half-back, has been called away from school, but will return in time to play; Fishburn will be moved out to center three, and his place at first five, taken by Johnson. Splane and Overall are having a hot fight for full-back, with the odds in favor of the former because of his defensive ability.

Coach Featherstone of the hill-toppers has gathered together a bunch of scrappers who may not be able to win the State championship, but who are certain to give any and all of their opponents a very warm time of it.

Much Mystery.

There is an air of deep mystery at Hollywood this week for Coach Webster is grooming his team for the big battle with Manual Arts High School next Saturday afternoon. The Hollywood bunch are far lighter than Manual Arts, but they are very aggressive and are hard and fierce tacklers.

Capt. Richardson at first five is a tower of strength, both on the offensive and defensive, and his booting ability is worth many points to his team. Harley Earl, the human stringbean, is showing startling form as lock, and will be a star at the game as soon as he gets wise to the fine points.

Manual Arts has a couple of stars in Thayer and Gilman in the back field. Thayer gained much fame last year by his classy work at center three, and Gilman turned out to be a fine booter. Both of these men are showing a big improvement this year and should star Saturday.

Pomona Very Strong.

Pomona High School bids fair to have another wonderful Rugby aggregation this year. The up-country boys have made a hash of their opponents in the Citrus League, and in addition took down the strong Manual Arts squad by a close score. They Lack of Condition Explains Portola Disaster.

Southern Athletes Not at Best Out of Season.

Northern Meet Hurts Standing of Athletes.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

With his green hat jammed down over his ears and a cynical smile on his face, Fred Kelly, the great, blew into town yesterday, followed by the rest of the Portola track and field squad that was so gloriously sent forth by one of the twilight sheets, "for to conquer" the north and its strong men. By this time you all know the result — overwhelming disaster — but the why of all this gloom is still a mystery, although most of the clouds were cleared away yesterday at the indignation meeting held on Bovard field.

There was so much to say and so many things to tell that it is difficult to pick a proper beginning unless one gets down to basic facts and works up. So we will start in the basement.

To start with, no star ever won anything on past performances or a reputation, it takes hard training and lots of it to bring home the first places and the records. The athletes that were sent north had little or no time to train, it being out of the track season, and when they did train there was no proper place to work, as all the college cinder paths are out of commission, now that football is on in full blast.

All the men who competed in the north tried to get into shape for the big meet inside of ten days, and then went against men who had been training for the competition for at least two months—which is the proper period of time necessary to get into the right condition.

LESSON TO BE LEARNED.

It is worse than foolish to try and make southern athletes do their best in the fall season in the north, where there is nothing but cold fog and raw winds. The change is too radical, and I wonder how long it is going to take to get this lesson imprinted in the minds of those who are always trying to pull off a meet out of season.

In the past, when our all-southern track teams wiped up the northern universities, and also when the individual varsities did so well on several occasions, the work was done in the regular track season and when the teams were sent north in a rush, jumped off the train and into their suits. Under these conditions, the climate and the water do not get a chance to dull the keen edge of the southerners' condition.

This business of going up three days before a meet in order to get acclimated is all bosh. If it were made ten days or two weeks, there might be some sense in a movement of this kind, otherwise it is nonsense, as in three days a southern athlete loses all he has built up in the past month. This is not guesswork, I have seen it proven time and again.

NO STAMINA.

When Kelly, Courtney and the others came out one week before leaving for the north, it was easily seen that they were just coming into shape, and needed at least three weeks more work in order to be fit for the going, such as was found at the Portola meet. All the men had their speed, but the element lacking was strength and stamina, no matter what is said to the contrary.

Would Kelly have knocked down three hurdles and gone loggy in the low barriers? No. He never did it when in a regular intercollegiate season and when the next one rolls around, see if he does it again. Many say that it was the three heats in the 100-yard dash that wrought havoc with our great Fred. Probably it was, but in the regular season he runs the high and low hurdles, generally wins the shotput, and runs a fast lap in the relay without even getting up an overheated condition.

No, it was not the work of the meet that spilled the beans, it was the short training period. Neither Kelly nor any of the athletes, even the mighty Fred Thomson, should have been allowed to go north with so little preparation.

WE HAVE NO QUITTERS.

It is absurd to think that any of our men are quitters, but sometimes the spirit is almighty willing, when the flesh is terribly weak. When a man is hopelessly out of the running, he needs no alibi, but those who asked him to compete under these conditions do need one, and need it badly.

Kelly said yesterday that it took the entire day to run off the meet, as there were heats in almost every race. This kept the men on the field from 9 in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon. During the entire day the field was swept by a thick, cold fog, save when this was changed to a raw wind.

After running heats in the 100 and the final and heats in the hurdles, Kelly came to the last and final heat in the 120 hurdles. He and Case got an even start and were together at the second hurdle. Kelly hit the hurdle an awful blow, sending him to his knees. He got up and began gaining on Case. On the seventh he again hit a barrier, but went on, only to spill over the next. At that, he had made up all but a yard on the flying Case, and many think that he would have passed him but for the last spill, but there it is again—not enough strength.

ONE RACE ENOUGH.

Kelly went north with hardly enough condition and strength to get through a good hurdle race, but no, he must needs be shoved into the 100, a race that he is just picking up as to form, and then made to run a lap in the relay.

After this unhappy affair, it is to be hoped that there will be no more of this "out-of-season" stuff. It is advisable that all these poor, misguided athletes of Portola fame stay on the shelf for the next two months and get a little rest, for all of them have enough on their store of reserve energy to put them back nearly a whole season in efficiency.

FELTON PROMOTED.

WARREN BOVARD RUSHES TO FRED KELLY'S DEFENSE.

Trojan Graduate Manager Says Northern Reports Full of Venom, that Kelly Never Quit in His Life. Delves Into the Archives to Prove the Point—Speaks of Climatic Conditions.

BY WARREN B. BOVARD,
Graduate Manager U.S.C.

FRED KELLY a quitter? Fred Kelly a "has been?" It seems only right that someone should immediately rise to the defense of the young athlete who never makes excuses when he loses and never boasts when he wins.

The dispatch from the northern correspondent published this morning first gives one reason for the poor showing of the Southern California athletes and then goes on to say that their failure is almost inexplicable, and he further insinuates that Kelly quit cold in the low-hurdle race.

I have not as yet heard from the returning athletes, but I can easily see the venom contained in the article, although it was carefully smoothed over.

For over a year now, Kelly has come out of the south and consistently wiped up the earth with the pride of the north. Many of the other southern athletes have done nearly as well, but the northerners seem particularly pleased to state that there is no explanation for the failure of the south's greatest athlete.

EASY EXPLANATION.

Any fair-minded person after looking over the results of the meet can easily understand why Fred was a poor third in the low hurdles. In the first place, let me state that he was in poor condition, having had practically no time to train for the northern expedition. Since his hard expedition to Chicago, where he defeated all comers, he has been working indoors almost exclusively and working hard, at that. He went from rather hot weather into the cold, damp fog of the north, ran two heats in the 100 yards, and got a close third in the finals after a poor start. He won his heat in the high hurdles in 15 1-5s. and was running neck and neck with the winner in the finals when he struck a hurdle and was disqualified. All this on a muddy track and in poor condition was enough to make an ordinary athlete so tired that he would have refused to enter the low hurdle race.

CONSISTENT WORK.

Kelly has a splendid physique, a good head, and lots of determination, and has won every high hurdle race he has entered since winning the world's championship at Sweden a year ago last July. During the last intercollegiate season, he not only consistently won every race in the high hurdles but won most of his low hurdles (although he does not pretend to be a first-class low hurdler,) won first place consistently in the shot-put, won the broad jump at Chicago, and to help his team out of a hole, ran a quarter-mile race in the intercollegiate relay race.

For a man as heavy as he is to run a fast quarter is a remarkable thing, especially after winning several other hard events, and it certainly eliminates him from the stigma of "quitter."

There are probably many minor excuses for the poor showing of the men in the north, but the climate itself is practically sufficient. I have been fortunate enough to conduct ten different teams in various kinds of sport to the northern end of the State, and without exception have found that three days of the northern climate and water has thrown almost every man on the team into a slump, the usual snap and dependability of their muscles seemingly being dampened to cold knottiness, holding up until the final strain and then failing to respond.

I believe that we produce the finest athletes in the world right here in Southern California, and I am hoping that some day matters will shape themselves so that all petty quarrels will be thrown aside and at the end of a regular intercollegiate season, when the men are trained to a fine point, Occidental, Pomona, U.S.C. and L.A.A.C. may be able in some way to combine in sending a real representative team north and shoot them into a meet before the change of climate has had its deadly effect. The northerners would not stand a chance.

IN THE OLD DAYS.

One cannot help but recall the old days when we had a team headed by such athletes as Owen Bird, Boyd Comstock and Bill Himrod, a combination team of the colleges of the south, which invaded the north with unqualified success. These boys traveled all night in the train, jumped off onto the athletic field, defeated the Stanford varsity team and then went north, and even after the climate had had its inning, gave the University of California track men a tremendous run for their money.

Some day we may do it again, and some of these men who are labeled "quitters" at their first failure to win will be the first ones to carry the south's colors to the top of the mast.

Pasadena Versus San Diego.

One of the big battles of the year is going to be waged at Pasadena this Saturday. At the present time the situation is in a hopelessly muddled condition. Whittier High School got a big start at the beginning of the season, but has been slipping lately. Pasadena High and San Diego High have each lost one game by a close score and the winner of the fracas at Pasadena Saturday will be right up with the leading contenders for the championship.

At the present time the San Diego boys appear to have the edge as they were barely nosed out by the strong Long Beach team last week. Dana, the great half-back, and Hyde, the wonderful quarter, make a speedy combination in the back field, and Pasadena will be kept busy watching these two speed merchants.

Waddell's Cadets.

Whittier High is expecting to have a walkaway in the game with the Army and Navy Academy at San Diego, but Waddell's aggregation of wildcats have a habit of coming through with a tremendous amount of pep at critical times and since the Santa Monica High team was able to tie the Quakers last Saturday, there is a good chance that the cadets may spring a surprise on them.

Langford Beats Lester.

Round 4—Sam jabbed Jack several times in the mouth with his left hand and then landed a hard right to his body that knocked his wind out. He was about all in and his seconds, seeing this, claimed a foul, which George Blake would not allow. Sam put another right to the body and Jack went down for the count of nine. He then put several more to the face and body and Jack went down again for the count of five. As the bell rang for the end of the round, Lester was taken to his corner and was unable to continue the contest, and his seconds threw up the sponge.

FOOTBALL THIS WEEK OF VITAL IMPORTANCE.

Three Great Battles Are Scheduled for Local Fields. Tiger-Quaker Clash the Most Doubtful and Full of Thrilling Promise—L.A.A.C. to Make Last Stand—L. A. and Poly Annual Feud on Friday.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THE three football battles scheduled for this week mark the mid-season high-water line. When it is all over something of a definite line can be drawn on who is to be who and why it is to be thus.

First, there is the annual clash between the Quakers and the Oxy Tigers on Baer Field Saturday afternoon. The Tigers are the present champions of the south, while the Quakers have a football machine this year that bids fair to be the most dangerous title contender in their history.

Second, the Trojans and the L.A. A.C. meet for the third and last engagement of the season for the Silverwood cup. The Trojans won the first game, the second was a tie because of the fact that the varsity subs and second-string men were used, and also because of the referee, so now the final test is to be made.

Third, the Los Angeles High School and the Polytechnic Rugby squads are to hold the annual war on Bovard Field, Friday afternoon. This is easily one of the feature events of the local football season. The two institutions are bitter rivals, and at every game the two mighty student bodies turn out in force, lending keen zest to the play on the field.

Two Scoring Machines.

All three of these games are doubtful as to the outcome, but the Occidental-Whittier affair is by far of the most doubtful nature. These two aggregations have practically been under cover for the entire season. Wild rumors have emanated from time to time, from the two seats of battle, but nothing definite has been learned to date. One day the entire Oxy back field would be in the hospital, while on the next the whole Whittier line would be hors de combat.

However, everytime the teams of the two colleges have gone into action the result has been a terrible beating for the other fellow. Take for instance, when Whittier faced Redlands with a crippled team and later Throop Institute under the same conditions, 47 to 0 was the score rolled up in both cases. Then we have the Tigers, "al stovel up," beating the husky Pasadena High School team 53 to nil, in thirty minutes of play, in fact they say that for a bunch of cripples these Tigers put on about the snappiest parades ever seen in these parts.

Guess Yourself.

Now comes the rub. The crafty coaches have taken good care to stage their games when nobody was looking and now the Tigers have gone behind closed gates, where even the fool who rushes in, fears to tread, so it is going to be largely a matter of conjecture as to who will be in the running for the title Saturday night at 5:30 p.m.

• • •

Make-ups Differ.

Be that as it may, as Mr. Wad says, there are several things that we do know, even though the coaches have wrapped deep mystery around every little movement. It is this, the Oxy line is a bunch of heavy, fighting, wild-eyed bear cats, averaging 178 pounds per man from end to end, while the back field is made up of some very lively young men, such as Foster, McClung, Long and Lenz, who know more than the usual amount of football, even if some of them are prep-school stars, in the process of varsity-making. Yes, I think that these Tigers will be a lot of very sweet-looking young things when they trot on the field.

Now for the Poets, Poets in name only, however. Here we have the opposite condition, a wonderful back field, machine like in its working and terrible on the attack, with a line that is not so good, owing to some lack in weight and experience, although one must not get the idea that the line is a sad thing, oh, no, it is only a case of being a few shades under the efficiency of the back field.

With these conditions prevailing, it is not a hard matter to predict the type of football that will be played on Saturday. Whittier is terrific on the offense and with the forward pass as a means to gain ground would make yards on any team in the West or Middlewest, therefore it is up to the Quakers to get the ball and keep it. The Tigers know this, and they also know that their line is a human battering ram, good for that ripping stuff, which tears the heart out of an opponent as the ball is forced yard by yard down the field. So Mr. Tiger must needs to hang on to the ball.

Taking these elements of play and team characteristics into account, it looks as though the coming game would be one of those smashing, ripping, open, brilliant battles, where the tide of fortune is ever ebbing and flowing with the final result open to doubt to within the last time warning in the final quarter.

Third and Last.

Now for this U.S.C.—L.A.A.C. thing. Even if the club wins this game, the cup cannot be claimed by the men in blue, so the Trojans can afford to take another chance and give some more of these aspiring knights a chance to show their worth. However, most of the varsity men will be in the game and only a few of the promising ones will be in the line-up. The L.A.A.C. squad expects to go on the field stronger than ever before, it is to be their last chance to win fame and glory in local circles and as the gents making up the team are real live hobbies they can be counted on to produce some of this inspirational stuff in a pinch.

• • •

Bracing the Backfield.

The Trojan backfield is still the weak spot, and it is going to take a lot of fixing to make it right. This weakness is mostly on the defense, due to the lack of tackling ability. This week is being spent in perfecting this art of spilling the enemy and other speed elements, and it is for this reason that there is to be but one day of scrimmage and no practice games with any teams on the outside. The whole idea is to win all these preliminary games of course, but it is for the big games with Stanford and California that the team must be fit and right.

Size versus Spirit.

A few words about the high school game between L. A. and Poly. On form and material L. A. should win, but there is a factor of fight and do-or-die spirit among these Washington-street mechanics, that is a terrible thing to beat. L. A. does not play any too well against a team that fights them, as has been proved in the games against San Berdoo and Hollywood, while on the other hand it was the fighting spirit alone that held up the gritty little Polyites against the heavy Manual team. Manual should have beaten Poly at least by four scores, but Poly refused to be scored upon but once and it had to go at that.

The one trouble with the L. A. team so far as I have seen it work is that too much dependance is placed on the work of Captain Brooks in the backfield. Now Brooks is a great little fellow, but neither he nor any other one man can be a whole football team and until the Blue and White lads wake up to this fact, the team is bound to be below the standard of the past

• • •

Lively Cripples.

One more word and it has to do with the Pomona Huns. Here is another case of a bunch of battered cripples coming to life. Last Saturday the walloping administered to the fast Y.M.C.A. eleven, opens a field of doubt as to these reports stating that the Pomona team is a wreck, without a backfield and with little or no attacking ability. These Huns have always been tough birds to beat any time they start and when the day for the clash with the Tigers or the Quakers, comes around, have a care, have a care, or there will be a lot of students living on bean soup and walking to college.

AMERICAN TEAM WILL START LATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—James E. Sullivan, American Olympic commissioner, announced tonight that he would request the German Olympic Commission on behalf of the United States team to postpone the opening of the Olympic games in Berlin in 1916 at least one week. According to cables received from Berlin today, the opening events in the track and field events are set for July 1. This date would require the United States representatives to sail before the closing of the American colleges and universities, from which many members of the 1916 team are expected to be recruited.

The American team, Mr. Sullivan said, would number about 150.

DATES SET FOR TRACK EVENTS.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE T.-MIR.]

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The principal track and field events of the Olympic games to be held here in 1916 are to be decided between July 1 and 10, according to an announcement made today by the German Olympic Committee. The June dates contemplated earlier were abandoned by the committee at the instance of the United States, which objected because college athletes from that country would be unable to attend at that time of the year. Football and hockey championships are to be contested on May 29 and June 5, respectively, and the rowing on August 12. The dates for the sailing, golf, etc., have not been fixed.

FROM A CARR WINDOW.

THE colored race seems to be a jinx of powerful potency for Tommy Burns. The hoodoo is so strong that it descends through Tommy to all who have any dealings with him.

The latest victim of this circumstance is Jack Lester, who was mauled around the ring at Taft yesterday in a absent-minded manner by black Sam Langford.

Lester was a protege of Tommy Burns's. He was working as an engineer at a mine hoist in Washington when Harry Burns, now a prosperous resident in this city, discovered him. Tommy Burns happened to referee a bout in which Lester fought and persuaded him to leave Burns and come with him where the championship bloomed.

After a stormy and disappointing career, the finish has been written by Lester at the hands of a colored man.

Burns's own career as champion was ended by Jack Johnson. The bright light of George Memsic's ambitions was snuffed out by Joe Gans in the old Naud Junction. At the time Memsic was under the management of Tommy Burns.

Incidentally it would be well for the boxing ring if all these fellows who take who can't box but who "can take an awful beating," were promptly hooked and dragged out of sight. They make all the trouble that has been made for the ring. You might as well ask people to pay good money to hear a grand opera singer who has no idea of the key but has a powerful pair of lungs. If boxers are not skilled in boxing they have no business before the public.

Steam engines, by the way, do not seem to supply the proper inspiration for boxing genius. Some of the grandest dubs in the ring have come from steam engines. Carl Morris and Jim Flynn were firemen and Lester was a stationary engineer.

Johnny Kilbane, however, was a railroad switchman for a time when he was first learning to box.

Most of the great fighters of the day have come from the crowded cities and from occupations distinctly of cities. If Bud Anderson ever becomes champion, he will be one of the first farmer boys to achieve that distinction.

Johnny Coulon was a messenger boy in Chicago. Joe Mandot, a baker's boy in New Orleans, and Johnny Dundee drove a fish wagon in lower New York.

Ad Wolgast came from a small town in Michigan; but his occupation was that of a cigar maker's apprentice, which gave him practically the environment of a city boy.

Of all the famous tin ears attached to the anatomy of prize fighters, Benny Chavez has one beside which all the others I have seen are mere amateur tin ears. SPEEDY POLO PONIES TO RACE AT HARNESS MEET.

INVITATIONS were issued yesterday by Secretary E. J. Delery, of the Los Angeles Harness Horse Association, to the Santa Barbara Polo Club, Pasadena Polo Club, Los Angeles Polo Club, Coronado Country Club, Riverside Polo Club, and the Midwick Country Club, asking their participation in a series of inter-club pony races, which are to be held during the fall meeting of the association at Exposition Park.

It is planned by the harness association to offer a beautiful silver cup for these races. As far as the plans have been formulated, there will be one race run each of the five days of the meeting, and the cup will be presented to the club whose ponies have the largest number of firsts.

The plan is on that has met with the approval of the various polo clubs of Southern California, as it will further the first opportunity of the present year to ascertain the comparative speed of their best ponies.

It is expected that Dr. E. J. Cooke, Mayor of Santa Barbara and owner of the polo team of that city, will enter his famous horse, "Blue Knot," which two years ago swept everything before it in teh polo pony class he held then.

Since the victories of "Blue Knot," there have been over a half dozen unusually fleet ponies developed by the polo clubs in this end of the State, and there is a natural desire of their owners to try conclusions with the famous horse.

There are at least two other ponies which are expected to lower the colors of the Santa Barbara pony. One of these horses is "Natalie," owned by Carleton Burke, of the Pasadena and Midwick clubs. This horse was used by the world's champion Meadowbrook polo team, and played in last summer's international polo matches. There is also "Tipperary Boy," owned by Walter H. Dupee, of the Coronado club. "Tipperary Boy" also was used in last summer's polo cup matches. That wonderfully fast horse of Bobby Neustadt, "Muggins," will also have to be reckoned with in these inter-club matches, as the horse is one of the speediest polo ponies now on the Coast. It is expected that Harry Weiss and Reggie Weiss of the Los Angeles polo team will have several fast ponies to enter.

In addition to the ponies mentioned, all of whom have won their spurs on the polo field and in pony racing, there is a large number of so-called "green" polo ponies, being raised and developed at "Santee," Walter H. Dupee's famous polo ranch, in the El Cajón Valley, and at "Jarmel," the big polo ranch of Maj. Colin George Ross, secretary of the Coronado Country Club. These animals are still an unknown quantity as to their relative speed, and the heads of these two ranches will welcome the opportunity of trying out their most promising ponies in these inter-club races at Exposition Park.

Police! Police!

GRAVES, LOCAL FORD MAN, TAKES WRONG MACHINE.

L. GRAVES, manager of the local Ford branch, narrowly escaped falling into the embrace of one of the largest patrolmen on the downtown police force yesterday.

The manager was in a hurry as he came out of the Security building with a rush and started for his particular Ford car which he had left standing at the required distance from the street corner. He had the switch key in his hand.

Mr. Graves had carefully avoided the other that switch key behind as the doors were troublesome. He unlocked the key, jumped into the car and drove rapidly away. Imagine his surprise when on arriving at his destination he saw to his disgust that he was driving a car that did not belong to him. It had seat for a touring car and looked in every way like his own machine—except that it was a mistake.

He then hurried back quickly into the building and drove hurriedly back to his starting point fearful he had caused a Ford owner some trouble. He certainly had. Outside the Security building he found an irate owner of a vanished Ford car explaining to a giant policeman just how he had left his car, where the machine had been. The angry man was begging the big patrolman to get busy and find the thief.

"There he is now," said the Ford owner as Graves drove up. The policeman at once pinched the Ford manager.

"Yes, that's my car," insisted the Ford owner and Graves, of course, was obliged to admit it was. It took thirty minutes to explain to the Ford owner that Graves had made a mistake, had inserted his key in the wrong switch box and had driven away thinking it was his own car.

Not until Graves had taken the Ford owner to his own machine and had explained its similarity was the Ford man convinced that he had not caught a thief. Then they all laughed together and Graves drove off with his own car.

At the Country Club.

MISS JAMES AND LINES WIN MIXED FOURSOMES.

BY BONNIE GLESSNER.

PLAYING splendid golf, Miss Margaret James and Sterling Lines won the first mixed foursome tournament of the golf season at the Los Angeles Country Club Sunday afternoon, making an 84½ net score. Mrs. Frank Griffith and Judge William Frederickson were second with an 88 net score.

The mixed foursome tournaments will be held monthly during the winter and it is expected will attract a great deal of attention. A number of the new golfers, it is understood, will be entered for the second tournament.

Following the game Sunday tea was served the players on the broad terrace overlooking the links. The terrace is one of the most delightful places at the club, especially at sundown, so the rest following the game was doubly pleasant to the players.

Following are the players and their scores:

	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
Miss Mary James Sterling Lines	93½	9	84½
Mrs. Frank Griffith Judge William Frederickson	92	4	88
Mrs. Guy Cochran Dr. Dudley Fulton	96	7	89
Mrs. Dudley Fulton Dr. Guy Cochran	100	11	89
Mrs. Frederick T. Griffith R. H. Ingram	102	11	91½
Mrs. H. D. Requah Henry Keller	101	9	92
Miss Carry Coleman W. W. Butler	105	13	92

Miss Margaret James,

Who made the best score of the women in the mixed foursomes. Above is Mrs. Griffith, whose score was second.

The Greatest Player.

TY COBB IS OUTCLASSED BY MODEST EDDIE COLLINS.

UNTIL Eddie Collins shone so brilliantly in the recent world's series, Ty Cobb had been hailed as "the greatest ball player of all time."

The sterling work of the second baseman of the world's champions has led many to come to the conclusion that Cobb must hereafter play second fiddle.

This man Collins, without doubt, is the greatest player of this generation. There can be but little doubt that he outshines those other stars who have gone before. He is a natural batsman, a daring and resourceful baserunner, who slides as well, if not better than Cobb, he fields his position with grace and precision, and, best of all, he is thinking all the time not of his own record but of the good of his team. He is intelligent above the average in professional baseball, and his desire to win is actuated by an ambition to be with the best team.

Withal he is modest and so far from self-seeking as to make those others who are more widely advertised, appear at disadvantage.

He is, without doubt, the "greatest ball player of all time."

At San Pedro.

YACHTING CUPS ARE PRESENTED.

ALERT CARRIES AWAY FIVE TROPHIES.

Sloop Columbine Wins Second Largest Number of Cups—Little Wasp Wins "Times" Trophy at San Diego—Commodore Hubbell Wins Three Cups With Mischief I.

BY E. D. SEWARD,

Secretary of South Coast Yacht Club.

The numerous silver cups and trophies won by the racing yachts of the South Coast Yacht Club during the races of the "1913" season" were presented and filled at the closing banquet which was held at the clubhouse at San Pedro last Saturday evening. Commodore C. E. W. Hubbell presided at the closing "feed" which brought out a large number of the club members and their "stag" guests.

The fast Alert owned by H. N. Logan and W. W. Bailey won the greatest amount of "silverware" this year, having captured five first prize cups, the race for the Nordlinger trophy and a compass put up as a third prize in the arbitrary handicap. The first race of the season went to the Alert, the race on May 11 for Treasure Goodnow's cup being won by the trim craft. On May 18 and again on June 29 the Alert won the race for the E. C. Hyans cup and gained permanent possession of this handsome prize. Rear-Commodore Elsen's cup went to the Alert on June 15, and on July 19 in the long race to San Diego for the commodore cup she was again victorious. The beautiful cup put up by Director W. S. Wright for the race on September 7 was the last cup won by the fast boat.

Albert Sepulveda, owner of the racing sloop, Columbine, had four cups to fill, his racer winning the big Hotel del Coronado cup at the San Diego regatta and the replica which goes each year to the winner, also the second prize put up by the hotel in the arbitrary handicap at San Diego and the second prize club cup won at the arbitrary here on October 12.

Commodore Hubbell with Mischief I, won three cups, Vice-Commodore Soiland's offering for the race to Newport on June 21, the Van Valin trophy for the ladies race to the Isthmus on August 2, which was won by his daughter Miss Lila Hubbell and Port Captain Percival's cup, which was the fourth prize in the arbitrary handicap. The Little Myth won two prize cups, her owner, H. W. Mellen, getting the Montgomery perpetual cup for the race around Catalina Island on June 7, and Dr. V. A. Goodrich, who took the little racer over the big triangle on September 7, receiving Secretary Seward's cup for R. and S. class sloops.

The Jeffers brothers, Paul and Sterling, had the honor of bringing the Los Angeles Times cup back from the San Diego Yacht Club, having won the race at San Diego on July 22. This was enough glory for the trim little Wasp this season.

Ted Hyans captured Fleet Captain Suckow's cup in the race on May 25 around Point Vincente buoy, the Mischief II being handled that day by her old owner Walter Folsom.

The Sloop Marie owned by Lee A. Lighthipe and sailed on October 13 by R. N. Coulter was the winner of the first prize cup in the arbitrary handicap event.

In all, nineteen prizes were awarded on Saturday night and the season officially closed in jolly good form. There will be something doing, however, all winter-long—most of the yachts staying in commission and Saturday-Sunday sailing parties being the order of the day, whenever the weather permits.

FRENCH GOLFER SETTLES IN EAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Louis Tellier, one of the best professional golfers in France, who made a good showing in the recent national championship in the United States, will become a resident of this country next spring. He has accepted a position as a salaried golfer at the Canoe Brook Country Club in place of Orrin Terry, resigned. Wilfrid Reid, the English professional, is also reported in golfing circles to be a candidate to fill a similar position at the Baltusrol Golf Club.

HART AS COACH.

PRINCETON (N. J.) Oct. 27.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Eddie Hart, captain of the Tiger championship team of 1911, made his first appearance on the field here as a coach today.

There were two changes in the varsity line, Phillips returning to tackle and Gile taking Heyniger's place at guard.

YALE LOAFS.

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Oct. 27.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Yale's varsity football team was given a complete rest today.

Fifteen players are at the college infirmary. Head Coach Jones sends them charts of the new plays daily.

CONDON WINS OVER FRICK.

Milo Condon continued his successes in Morley's amateur three-cushion billiard tournament last night by winning from Frick in forty-seven innings, the scores being thirty-five to seventeen. Condon made high run of six.

Gould and Ashton are matched tonight.

Yale University will re-enter the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League this season. This will make the organization consist of Cornell, the present champions; Columbia, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth and Yale. The coming series of games promises to be well contested. Cornell will have three members of its championship team back in the game. The Princeton team loses but one man through graduation. Pennsylvania, Dartmouth and Columbia will all have fives made up mostly of last year's men. The competition will begin in December.

LATEST MODELS AT TRUCK SHOW.

KisselKars, Federal Trucks to Be Exhibited.

Packard Hydraulic Hoist Cars Newest Novelties.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

Federal trucks, the latest 1914 models, are to be shown on a floor space of the motor truck show that will occupy the entire end of the Broadway Rink building. Bob Robinson, manager of the local branch of the Pacific KisselKar Company, yesterday closed with Manager Walter Hempel for a space that will give his company an opportunity to show both the Federal and KisselKar models of the latest vintage.

With the closing of the Federal, other dealers showed a keen desire to increase their space, and the L. R. Carpenter Company at once closed with Hempel for room to exhibit a new line of trucks which that concern expects to control. The motor truck show space is being taken by some of the leading truck dealers as a result of the desire on the part of the local autoists to make an interesting exhibit.

Peerless trucks will be shown on a space that will give an opportunity for Smith Brothers to exhibit the latest 1914 products. These new trucks are most interesting because of the devices for hoisting and dumping, which have been included in the 1914 models. The Peerless five-ton truck is one of the big sellers, and this will be shown in the latest improved bodies, which should prove of especial interest to contractors and those having big jobs to handle.

Watt Moreland will show his complete line of Moreland trucks. This will be the first time that the Moreland has been exhibited in a motor truck show. The dumping bodies, the ore-carrying rigs, and the spacing freight trucks will make a most interesting exhibition from the local factory. The concern plans to display a complete line of every truck that is manufactured in the home plant and as a result the space already secured may be found to be inadequate.

PERFEX TRUCKS ALSO.

The Perfex trucks are to be shown, of course, for the first time. These will be in the new light delivery class. James Pouch, consulting engineer of the Perfex factory, is arranging to exhibit a line of his new trucks, which are adapted to fast city work, and should prove of special interest to the merchants of this city and of Southern California.

Demonstrations that will show the serviceability of trucks are to be made each day at this show. The use of the motor truck in our civic life will be emphasized and the abuse of that same truck by the careless driver will be shown. The most economical means of operation will be exemplified by the latest methods of operation and all the new fuels; the latest distillate burners and carburetors will also be displayed, with a full line of accessories.

The new Packard five-ton hydraulic hoist truck is to be here in time for the opening of the show. This will be one of the latest of the Packard models, and will show the skill of the expert designers, who have turned this truck out with the idea of making it serviceable in the sections of Southern California where it is necessary not only to haul heavy loads over rough roads, but to hoist heavy loads into the high-powered trucks.

PHOENIX RACE.

The date of the motor truck show has been set for November 17 to 22. The Phoenix road race will not interfere with the exhibit, as it will be out of the way before the cars are displayed. The road race is to be started on Monday. Most of the dealers will make the trip to Phoenix, but will return in time to prepare for the truck exhibit.

There is particular interest in the truck exhibit this year because it is the first of the kind ever held in the West. Commercial cars of almost every make represented in Los Angeles are to be exhibited at the show. The sanction of the dealers makes this exhibit most important from a business viewpoint and special stress will be laid on the advantages which merchants and business men can obtain from a visit to this show.

At the show headquarters, No. 203 Majestic Theater building, Manager Hempel is busy signing space, and it is expected that before the Howdy Special leaves for Phoenix on Monday morning, every inch will have been taken. The dealers are falling in line steadily with the plans of the show management, and the exhibit promises to be complete in the minutest detail.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

The annual International American Bowling Congress championships will be held in the Broadway Auditorium, Buffalo, N. Y., from March 8 to 28, 1914. The annual championships of the National Bowling Association, the eastern governing body, will be held on the Columbia Hotel alleys in Atlantic City, N. J., beginning April 8, 1914, under the auspices of the Philadelphia City Association. The annual Middle Western tourney will open at St. Louis on Thanksgiving Day. The American Congress bars the use of "dodo" balls. Chicago passed a ruling, prohibiting the use of loaded balls. A scale company has manufactured a balancing scale which will weigh the ball and show how much overweight on the unequal side it is, even to a quarter ounce. This will be used at the Chicago city championships. The rule applying to the balls passed at the last American congress in Toledo last year is "Rule 11. The ball shall not in any case exceed twenty-seven (27) inches in circumference nor exceed sixteen (16) pounds in weight. Any bowling ball, which has been tampered with by loading, or which has been manufactured so as to make it weigh more on one side than on the other, is hereby declared unfair, and its use is against the best interests of the game, and the use of such balls in any game played under the rules and auspices of the American Bowling Congress is hereby positively prohibited." Breaking the rule means suspension for sixty days.

STANFORD GOSSIP.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 27.—Since the Varsity-Santa Clara game, scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, has been canceled, there is but one more opportunity left to see the Stanford ruggers in action before the big game. Coach Brown is unwilling to play his men too often just before that game and if the Santa Clarans meet the varsity it will be in a post-season game.

The physical fitness, speed, and football knowledge of the varsity players will be finally demonstrated in this last game, and the dopsters will watch it with interest.

Several minor injuries that have crippled the varsity line-up, have now been remedied. K. L. Kaufman, who was operated on Thursday night for a blood clot near the ankle, will be out Monday to resume his fight for the full-back position. Watkins, Wines and Hall, who have been kept out of the scrum on account of minor leg injuries, played in their positions in the scrum Saturday.

All future intercollegiate debates between Stanford and the University of California will be held in San Francisco, as will this year's, which was scheduled to be held here November 7, the evening before the big game, but which will now take place on the evening of November 22. Previous to 1906, the intercollegiate debates were held in San Francisco, and were better attended, and accompanied with more interest than when held at either university.

Zebe Terry, captain of the baseball team, has announced the discontinuance of the fall baseball season, on account of the shortness of the days. Although the workout was of short duration, some promising new material was discovered, and the older men were given good training. Practice will be resumed early in the spring.

The interclub doubles tennis tournament is down to the final round, which will be played off next week. R. L. Murray and S. Chapman of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity, will meet L. Sloss and H. L. Hahn of the Encina Club for the championship.

Work on the freshman bonfire has not proceeded as rapidly as it might and Chairman Miller has reminded his classmates that unless they turn out to help they may be subjected to the water cure.

California has voted to change the date of the intercollegiate debate from November 7, the evening before the big game, until some time later, when it can hold the entire attention of the two student bodies. Whatever action is taken by the Stanford Intercollegiate Committee will be final.

Stanford Military Band was a part of the big Portola street parade in San Francisco, and also played at the stadium in the afternoon. It will take a trip to San Jose this Saturday.

Post-season Rugby this year is to be conducted by the Skull and Snakes Honor Society, which is composed of the big "S" men. The Timothy Hopkins trophy, is to be given to the fifteen which wins the championship of the post-season. Plans for the formation of teams grouping of players, and scheduling of games to be played will be considered immediately.

J. A. Holmes, chief of the United States Bureau of Mines, last night addressed the Geology and Mining Society on the work of the bureau.

Every energy on the track from now on will be devoted to training the freshmen and new men in preparation for next spring's work. The varsity men will devote their entire time looking after all the athletes who are out for track or field events on the oval.

Last year the same system was inaugurated for the spring work, but it is the first time that so much emphasis has been laid on fall work. The men who train this season will undoubtedly be in better trim to start on spring training next January, after two months' workout, than if they did not train regularly.

At the same time as the annual cross-country race there will be a novice interclass track meet, for all men who have been training regularly on the track. No varsity men will compete in this contest as it is primarily a meet set aside for new athletes.

Several new features will add much to the 1915 Quad (Stanford's annual publication,) which is now well under way. A. E. Worthy of Santa Ana is editing it; Miss Mary Gard of Redlands is handling the women's activities; J. R. Davis of Pomona is attending to the senior honor roll; W. B. Blodgett of Huntington Beach, and Miss Hazel Clark of Redlands, are on the art staff, and Evelyn Trent of Los Angeles is writing dramatics.

Active work on the new venture to hold an annual football game at Stanford, between teams of preparatory school stars from the north and Southern California, has now begun. Two committees of three men each, who are in close touch with High School games and players, have been chosen. One committee will choose the northern team and the other the team that will represent Southern California. Tehachapi has been made the dividing line between the north and the south in the present case, as it is usually considered, and should be the fairest possible division.

Each team will be allowed nineteen players and a manager coach, making in all, twenty men. It is likely that a second list of players will be chosen by the committee, to act as substitutes in case of accident to the first teams. The expenses of the visitors will be paid from the time that they leave their homes. During their stay on the campus they will be entertained at the fraternity houses. Varsity men will be assigned to coach the two teams as soon as they arrive.

In advertising this match, letters will be sent to the high schools and other preparatory schools throughout the State, and later posters will be distributed. The team from Southern California will be ardently supported by the large numbers of Stanford students.

This plan, if carried out, will be of great benefit, not only to prep-school Rugby, but to the game in general, and will do for the two sections what the American all-star game does for Rugby on the Coast.

The Olympic games for 1916 at Berlin is arousing the nations of Europe. The French government has appropriated $100,000 as a subsidy and a committee is to scour the French army for material. England is raising a fund of $500,000 to get a team together, while Germany has secured Coach Kraentslein to train its athletes, and Sweden has had Ernie Hjertberg of New York as a trainer for two years.

Tough Luck.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 26.—The heaviest blow that has befallen the Stanford varsity since the loss of Capt. Thoburn, is the discovery that Ray Brown, crack full-back, is permanently out of the game on account of an injury received a year ago. A blow on the neck at that time split one vertebra and dislodged another, and the doctors declare that a shock during play might result fatally. Brown was an understudy of Benny Erb, last year's peerless Cardinal full-back. He was an accurate booter and between the halves of the first All-Black game gave an exhibition of dropping his kicks over the goal from the center line that was remarkable. In Brown, Stanford had found an excellent full-back, and his position will be hard to fill.

Cy Davidson and Kauffman, freshmen, and Detels, have been the candidates for the position, and of these Davidson has been the favorite. He has a long accurate boot, but lacks somewhat in his tackling. In Saturday's game Coach Brown tried out two men new to the position. They are Andrews and Tilton, and the former seems to be good material for the place, but needs developing. He is a certain tackler and has a long boot, but lacks accuracy in his kicks to touch.

Stanford's back field, the fastest in many years, and the main strength of the team, is composed almost entirely of freshmen. Five are already on the training table and more are bidding strongly for places. Danny Carroll, Charlie Austin and Otto Lachmund are the three first-year men who have been used consistently during the preliminary season. Cy Davidson is another who has been worked at several places behind the line. For the past few weeks George Crary, a Los Angeles freshman, has been a steady occupant of left wing, although Reeves has been putting up a strong fight for his place. Austin and Carroll were used for several games in the five-eighths line, and got away with some fast stuff. Later Carroll was moved back to the three-quarter line and Lachmund put in to play with Austin.

In the past two games Patterson, another freshman, has been used in Lachmund's place. He is new to the Rugby game, but comes with an American football reputation, and bids fair to replace Lachmund. The place at half is being contested by Erb and Tilton, neither of whom is a freshman. Another upper-class man, Urban, has the right-wing position sewed up, and the full-back position is still in doubt. The 1917 class brings but one scrum man of varsity caliber, Pettingill, of Los Angeles, and due to an injury, which has laid him up for several weeks, his chances to play in the big game are slim.

Saving Them.

FOOTBALL FOR THE PRISONERS.

BASEBALL WAS FIRST SPORT TO BE INTRODUCED.

The Game Has Had Such a Beneficent Effect Upon the Discipline and Happiness of the Jailbirds that the Directors of the Iowa Reformatory Will Try Other Sports.

Much has been done for the man sentenced to spend years upon years behind the gray walls of prisons by giving to him a modicum of athletic exercise. Baseball was the first game to be introduced, and its benefits were so apparent that now in Iowa the prison authorities have sanctioned the playing of football and basketball.

One of the prisoners in the Iowa reformatory, seeking to enlist the cooperation of Coach Hawley of Iowa University, says in a letter:

"Money is lacking, for most of the prisoners are here because they are failures. One of the purposes of the prison athletics is to infuse a spirit of enthusiasm and determination to win in the players that, having learned to do their level best at the games here, they may hereafter, when they regain their freedom, make a similar resolute effort at success and good citizenship in the game of life."

When the prisoners begin to see the good that is to be derived from athletics, where is the man who can say to those who want to encourage athletics behind the walls of penitentiaries:

"Thou shalt not?"

George Laing of McGill University won the Canadian interscholastic lawn tennis championship from his team-mate, Mills, who won the title last year. Mills and Laing hold the championship in doubles.

Hoch.

FOREIGNERS ON OUR ATHLETES.

KAISER'S AMBASSADOR IS FULL OF PRAISE.

He Says that the Old Idea of German Educators Was that Athletics Was Likely to Unduly Strain Young Bodies—Now the Good of Majority Should Be Considered.

"You inspire your children with a love for sports and you carry the benefits virtually to the grave. You are making a splendid order of men and it is no wonder you run away with so many of the athletic laurels."

In this manner does Lieut. Von Reichenau of the German army, sent by Kaiser Wilhelm to study conditions in this country pay tribute to the methods in vogue in America. He has been studying here with the view of introducing American ideas into Germany against the sixth Olympiad, which is to be staged in Berlin in 1916.

"Now, with us," he continues, "the belief has prevailed that it was quite unwise to stimulate emulation among mere boys lest harm be done by straining their immature bodies. Quite likely we have safeguarded some of our youths in this way, but we also have failed at the same time to help the majority and to create a general love for field and track sports.

"But it is not alone in your schools that you are encouraging athletics and national body building. Your playgrounds are no less important in their influence. First, you help to keep the boy away from the temptations of the street. You draw him into the open air and give him a chance to play in security. Then you furnish him with facilities that make for a spirit of sportsmanship. Here, too, you watch over him and see that he does not overdo the thing.

"These things in themselves are excellent, but you have other features that count equally in the harvest of benefits. You provide swimming pools, lockers and other furnishings which encourage bodily cleanliness, hygiene and orderliness and a sense of ownership and responsibility. In short, you are laying a moral as well as a physical foundation and the results are patent."

Those of us who have watched the development of the athletic idea in America have been prone to overlook the best movement of all in the making of well knit, courageous youths. That is the playground, wherein—as the German investigator so aptly says—the foundation is laid, not only for athletic, but for social and moral excellence.

The graduates of the playground, the school and the college, go into the world to become accountable citizens in the fullest sense. The emulation upon the track and in other athletic activities makes the participant a keener competitor in business, a stronger man morally and a more virile spoke in the great economical and political world.

From Australia to San Francisco is the journey that W. W. Hill of Melbourne, Victoria, is taking to referee the annual Rugby football match between Leland Stanford and the University of California for the championship of the Pacific Coast on Saturday, November 8. Hill is reputed to be the best referee of the English style of game in Australia, and for that reason the rival California colleges thought it would be a paying proposition to have him direct the play of this most important match.

Class Billiards.

KEMPNER DEFEATS PAUL ROBINSON.

WINS FIRST PLACE IN NELMS' BALK-LINE TOURNEY.

Fine Game Marks Close of Victor's Amateur Career in City—Matched to Play Professionals at Early Date — Amateur Three-Cushion Tournament Comes Next Week.

E. M. Kempner defeated Paul Robinson last night in playing off their tie for first prize in Nelms's Brunswick amateur handicap 18-2 balkline tournament, winning the tourney and playing himself out of the amateur class by scoring an average of over seven points on a total of more than 2000 in nine games.

Kempner can find no opponents in the amateur match players, and Nelms's has been obliged to arrange with two professionals, Bruner of San Francisco, and Daly of Indianapolis, Indiana champion, who are to meet him near the coming holiday season.

Last night's set-to is asserted by observers to have been the best amateur clash ever seen here at the 14-2 game. Kempner gave fifty points handicap, and scored his 250 while Robinson was making 173.

Kempner's high runs were 19, 18, 17, 28, 20, 21, 20, 25; his average 6.92. Robinson made runs of 44, 19, 11, 11, with average of 5.

Kempner started with 19; Robinson missed the same ball Kempner and Kempner missed it a second time. Robinson then ran 46 on the second turn, doing good, wholesome billiards in his best effort of the evening.

The game was tied at 57 on the seventh inning, Kempner thereafter gradually pulling away, yet, at the fourteen having gained but seven points of his handicap with Robinson past the turn, and the score standing 113 to 106.

Safety play by Kempner proved the undoing of Robinson, who missed several strings of hard leaves and slowly dropped in quality of play to the end.

Several ladies in the large audience showed constant interest in the rolling ivories, applauding fine shots with much discrimination.

Referee Ray Stirling made no slip during the two-hour contest, nor was there any comment by player or spectator to mar the performance.

Richards having been beaten by Gebauer in the play-off for third prize on Friday night, with a score of 200 to 196 against him, the prizes have been awarded in the following order:

A new three-cushion tournament is announced to start in the rooms on Monday night.

Six clubs will probably form a Connecticut Roller Polo League, which has just been incorporated. The circuit will include Hartford, Waterbury, New Haven, Bridgeport, Great Britain and probably Danbury.

Vassar Swiss Ribbed Union Suits for Gentlemen

ONE reason why Vassar Swiss ribbed union suits fit when the ordinary union suit doesn't, is that there's elasticity in the way they're knit. Now "elasticity" means more than stretching out; it means coming back.

The chief differences between Vassar Swiss ribbed union suits and the ordinary kind is this elasticity, and the fact that they're shaped to the body in knitting, not by cutting.

You'll see the difference at a glance when you see Vassar and any other side by side. Your haberdasher can show you.

"FASCINATING WIDOW" AT MASON REAL ENCHANTRESS.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK

Hurrah! Something good at last! Fun for two weeks at the Mason. If a good champagne could be turned into laughter and song, the result might be "The Fascinating Widow" and Julian Eltinge.

Music with melody to it, comedy that is actually funny, and regular girls, dainty and alive, make "The Fascinating Widow" more than enchanting without the matchless Julian Eltinge and his inimitable impersonation.

Perhaps the public had begun to fear that these qualities of entertainment were quite extinct. Not much has happened lately to discourage this pessimism, but "The Fascinating Widow" is better than New Year's jinks at the Jonathan Club and not amazingly unlike it except that the women at the latter festivity are all men whom rich gowns and extravagant hair usually fail to make enchanting.

There was one this last young year who was enough like Eltinge to give him a tinge of jealousy. He has the shape and the complexion. He is very rich and altogether handsome, and he sells real estate by the cityful. With a few lessons from Eltinge the next bevy of Jonathan beauties should swell the wine bill for the night a good $5000.

Most persons balk at the idea of the female impersonator. The Eltinge performance is different from all others in that it cannot possibly arouse this distaste. The audience is taken into the complete confidence of the young actor and only the people behind the footlights are in the dark. In this innocence they are vastly amusing and their ignorance furnishes enough situations to provide some three hours of unalloyed mirth. In order to efface his rival, Eltinge assumes the incognito of a widow, and after his first appearance as an athletic youth of unquestionable manliness, his assumption of the feminine role contains no trace of offense. His asides to the audience and to his confederates in the absurd plot sustain the comedy with rich drollery. He makes a handsome woman and one true to type is the verdict of all the world. This verdict Los Angeles will heartily sustain and laugh itself into hysteria while it is about it.

The gowns donned by the widow are above reproach, and possibly her lingerie is so. Those able to judge on so fine a point have abundant opportunity for making adequate observation, since, in one ridiculous scene, the lady is sans waist, sans skirt and sans everything else in the way of the formal in costume.

The book of the little opera is by the author of "Madam Sherry." The music has spice to it and tunes that a man could whistle. Many of the dances have color and grace and the young women who do them possess youth and good looks. The bridesmaids are something to behold. Their green leghorn hats are sensational and their gold-green gowns breath-taking. It might not be modest to praise the nightie dance, but it is delicious. As far as the acting goes, Eltinge has rich support in a company that sparkles all through.

Edward Garvie, Hamilton Deane, Charles Butler and Frank North are all there with nerve, and Carrie Perkins, as matron of the girls' dormitory, does a punch bowl scene which is worth the admission. Marguerite Skirvin is like a spray of lily of the valley and June Mathis is more fun than a wood sprite and probably a great deal prettier. While there are no exceptional voices in the cast, the people make so much fun that they are forgiven.

Orpheum.

The beautiful Saharet comes from Australia to charm us, but it is not declared whence comes Senor J. Florido, who is her assistant in some of the wonderful dances she is giving at the Orpheum this week.

Sarahet is lovely, she is graceful, she wears gowns that are dreams, and she is a poet—what more can one say in eulogy of a dancer. And almost the same terms of laudation may be applied to Florido, with slight variation in the words "lovely" and "gowns." However, he is quite passably good looking, and he wears trousers and a little jacket that looks like an Eton.

Both these finished interpreters of Terpsichore's ancient but never-dying art are artists to their finger tips—or should one say toe tips? Their "Tango Argentino" is a revelation of the passionate possibilities of that maligned dance. They make it glow with life and color. Throbbing life, too, is found in their "La Panaderos." Exquisite rhythms, perfect poses in Saharet's "Minuette."

Another poser of the week is Robbie Gordone, whose excellent figure is seen in no less than fourteen reproductions of classic statues. She is made to represent marble. Many of the poses are close representations of the originals, and almost all of them are pleasing.

In "Behind the Scenes," Emily Darrell and Charley Conway give us some bright side lights on theatrical life. Miss Darrell's work, indeed, is a clever farcical characterization of one type of vaudeville performer. Her jokes are spontaneous and new, her repartee with Charley is keen but inelegant. Conway has a beautiful singing voice and a gentlemanly manner.

Gorgeous clothes, good voices, graceful dancing steps are the offering of Ted Lorraine and Hattie Burke, qui chante et danse, as the programme elegantly informs us.

A big bunch of kids with William J. Dooley in the principal role, that of an expert tumbler, give a little musical comedy review called "The Lawn Party." The youngsters take off various theatrical celebrities, but not very convincingly. Rather forced, rather dull.

Much of the real fun of the week comes from Frank Milton, appearing with the De Long sisters, two handsome girls who dress as well as they look. Their skit is entitled "Twenty Minutes Layover at Alfalfa Junction." Milton is the depot agent—and no agent ever gave you more for your money.

Pantages.

"Fun in a Hi Skool," the most ambitious offering of the week at Pantages—unless we except "Mr. Green's Reception," which is also ambitious—is very much like "School Days" and other musical melanges of like ilk. Everything is fun, noise, confusion and song. "Fun in a Hi Skool" serves its purpose well—that of giving us horse-play to make us laugh. The four Marx brothers, Julius, Leonard, Arthur and Milton, take the principal roles. The girls are pretty, the boys funny, and they all sing most admirably in the various choruses.

Minnie Palmer seems to have lifted most of the people from "Fun in a Hi Skool" and placed them in her musical skit, "Mr. Green's Reception," in which the fun is a trifle more subdued, the music of a higher order. Much of the music, indeed, is remarkably good, and the Marx brothers again prove their talents and versatility, handling voice, harp and piano with artistic cleverness.

The bill at Pantages seems to be a sort of happy family affair, for George and Victor Harris help out in "Mr. Green's Reception." George and Victor, however, have a number all their own, both being hard-shoe dancers of remarkable dexterity and speed. Their offering was received with much applause last night.

Greve and Green's "Page From Minstreley" is far above the average minstrel offering, their jokes and songs being both new and funny, their musical sense all right.

Another good singer is Al Abbott. Al imitates a number of imitators at a reception, all singers of songs, his only changes being in the matter of hats. He carries a complete wardrobe of these.

Hippodrome.

A splendid bill with variety as its keynote, is offered at the Hippodrome this week. It has as its headliner Robert Hale and a company of five clever people, who present a laughable absurdity called "A Kiss."

A contender for first position is the Abram-Johns Company, who this week offer another playlet by Miss Johns called "The Chorus Girl's Christmas." It has to do with a destitute chorus girl and a bank robber, and is a graphic chunk cut out of real life.

In marked contrast is the offering of the Four Van Staats, whose old Dutch musicale is novel as well as tuneful, and scores a decided hit. So, too, McDonald & Generaux, the Scotch laddie and lassie, whose music is as delightful as their costumes, are chic.

Hessie, the juggler, does some clever manipulating of cannon balls, eggs, etc., and winds up with a real sensation by permitting the audience to hurl apples at him from all parts of the house. These Hessie catches on a fork held between his teeth, or, at least, he tries to, for some come nearer hitting the orchestra leader on the head than they do the actor.

Clune's.

A decided novelty in a motion picture field is being offered this week at Clune's Broadway Theater in the two-real drama "The Japanese Sword Maker." All of the actors taking part in this production are Japanese and all of the scenes are laid in the pretty little isle of Nippon. This headlines a bill of well-selected motion pictures.

The run of this picture will come to an end tonight and tomorrow will see the initial production of "The President's Pardon," a gigantic three-reel Pathe spectacle, sent to W. H. Clune by the new exclusive film service for which he has subscribed. It is one of the most masterful dramas that has ever been reproduced on the screen. It fairly teems with action, human interest and big, striking scenes. Noted stars of the Pathe producing company have the leading roles in this production.

Up and Down Broadway.

"RANSOMED" IS REAL SURPRISE.

MOROSCO SHOW BETTER THAN ANYONE REALIZED.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

Funny how things turn out sometimes. A manager will sink thousands of dollars into something he thinks is good and it fivers, and then, again, he slips on a show that is regarded almost as a filler and it is immense.

That apparently is the situation at the Morosco this week, where "Ransomed" is the attraction. Of course, it was to be expected that Forrest Stanley would be given a great sendoff, but even Morosco did not realize how good the play really is.

Accordingly, he announced the show that was to follow, called rehearsals and all that sort of thing, and now wakes up to the fact that in all likelihood "Ransomed" will not only go two weeks, but maybe three.

Not meaning that the Morosco hunches are no good. Now, he did sink a lot in "The Quaker Girl," but it is coming back faster than he can count it. There are so many encores to everything that a lot of pruning has had to be done so that the audience can get out in time to get the "owl" cars.

Sunday night it cost the genial Oliver something like $75 to send part of the company home in taxis, as by the time they had gotten into street garb no more cars were available.

I generally drop into the Alexandria at least once a day, just to see if anything is going on, and thus it happened that I chanced to see Leo Youngworth, G. E. Nagle and some other Shriners grab Kitty Gordon, whisk her into a machine and hie away with her.

Lester Fountain, manager of the Hippodrome, sprung a funny one on me Sunday. He asked if there was a Thomas Edison in town who could invent elastic walls for his house, so that he could get in double the present seating capacity. The unimaginative senator said, "Let them stand outside and rubber," and right away the scheme went kerflewis.

I chased into the Mason to see what chances were to get some seats, and, not finding Sportsman Wyatt at his desk, went back on the stage to continue my quest for the elusive ducat.

That's how I happened to hear Eltinge take his P. A. over the coals for not getting more publicity before the show hits town. All of which is rather rough on the agent, considering that "The Fascinating Widow" has been here before and was covered from A to Z at that time.

It conjured up before me, though, a certain day when Julian, then in the Boston cadets, was corseting for the first feminine role he ever took. Said he: "If you ever see me in a rig like this again, shoot me." This is inserted merely as a tip to the press agent.

"The Quaker Girl is exquisite. . . . Perfect production. . . . A real credit to theatrical Los Angeles."
—Robert M. Yost, Jr., in The Examiner.

"A hit. . . . Production most lavish in stock history. . . . There have been several Quaker Girl companies, but it is doubtful if all of them rolled into one would make the sumptuous outlay represented by the Burbank company."
—Gardner Bradford in The Times.

—Monroe Lathrop in The Tribune.

—Guy Price in The Herald.

"The Quaker Girl is magnificent. . . . It rivals the late Fashion Show in the extent and magnificence of its costumes. . . . Performance goes with a vim that guarantees success."
—Frank H. Colby in The Express.

Cities and Towns South of Tehachepi's Top—Los Angeles County News

Pasadena.

Pasadena and Banker Graves Reach Agreement.

Former Senator Flint May Become a Pasadenan.

Shakespeare Club Members Differ Over Lecture.

PASADENA, Oct. 28.—The talked-of suit for an injunction to restrain J. Graves, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, of Los Angeles, from taking any more water from the basin underneath Pasadena for the Ramona Acres tract will not be brought after all.

City Attorney Munger yesterday afternoon conferred with Graves in Los Angeles, and the latter assured him that he intends to take no more of the Pasadena water. The improvements to his water system, he told the City Attorney, which had given rise to the reports amount simply to the repairing of some tunnels. City Attorney Munger last night said:

"I am advised by Mr. Graves that he does not propose further to develop the water system in a way that would take the water from Pasadena, so it is to be hoped that no litigation will be necessary."

There is a possibility that the 1200-acre estate of former Senator Frank P. Flint in La Canada Valley may be annexed to Pasadena. Ex-Senator Flint had a conference yesterday with the City Commissioners and Commissioner Metcalf and some of the others look with favor on the plan. The attitude of the people of Linda Vista would be one factor in the case. Extensive improvements have recently been made on the Flint property.

The financially-embarrassed Board of Education is now harassed by the city. City Commissioner Allin yesterday called on N. G. Felker, clerk of the school board, relative to the board's non-payment of its share of the cost of street-improvement work. The school board declares that it would gladly pay if it had the money.

A protest that they are in need of both gas and water was made to the City Commission yesterday by residents on North Pasadena avenue. The Commission will investigate.

The Pacific Electric Railway Company yesterday asked for an extension of time in its South Raymond-avenue work. It declares it has been unable to get rock. The work was to be completed November 1, and the Commissioners have not yet granted the request. The matter was taken under advisement.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

Members of the Shakespeare Club are of two minds concerning a lecture last week, when Maj. Comnenus Palaeologus, who announces himself as a former member of the body guard of the Sultan of Turkey, talked on the recent war. Dr. H. B. Yacoubi of this city has taken issue with the lecturer in behalf of the Armenians. Many members of the organization, including the president, Mrs. Calvin Hartwell, declare that Dr. Yacoubi had no business to interrupt the meeting in such a fashion, no matter what his views may be, and that he has since admitted that he intended especially to dispute with the lecturer, while others, incensed at some of the statements of the lecturer, consider his interruptions proper. The difference in views taken has caused no ill-feeling, according to Mrs. Hartwell.

TO OPEN EARLY.

Pasadena housewives can do their marketing early tomorrow morning. Mrs. F. A. Marston, chairman of the Civics Committee of the Shakespeare Club, said last night that the new public market that is then to be opened at the corner of Holly street and South Raymond avenue, under the direction of the club, will be ready for business at 6 o'clock in the morning.

The members of the Civics Committee and many other members of the Shakespeare Club also will be present on the opening morning to see how it goes, although they probably will not arrive at the grounds until about 8 o'clock.

Increased traffic in Pasadena will this year call for greater police direction. Chief of Police McIntyre yesterday announced that this winter traffic officers will be stationed at four corners on Colorado street—at the intersections of Fair Oaks, Raymond, Marengo and Los Robles avenues.

The Chief of Police declares that the regulation of traffic in Pasadena, especially in the winter, at which time the population is almost double that of the summer and the traffic shows a still greater increase, is fast becoming a very considerable problem. He says that he could well use twenty more policemen, which the city is too short of money to employ.

CITY BRIEFS.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Men's Club of All Saints Church last night, November 18 was set as the date for the annual banquet. As has been the case each year Bishop Johnson will be the principal speaker.

The First Methodist Church is soon to break ground for a Sunday-school building, just south of the church edifice, corner of East Colorado street and Marengo avenue. It is to cost $2500 and will be of stone.

Mrs. Clarence Shelhamer of No. 357 Cypress street, returned home yesterday from the State convention of the Eastern Star at Santa Cruz, where she was appointed State Conductress of the order for the coming year.

Mrs. Myron Hunt, wife of the well-known Los Angeles architect, with offices in the Hibernian building, died last evening at her home on North Grand street, Pasadena. The funeral services will be held this morning and will be private. Interment will be in Graceland Cemetery, Chicago.

SENSATION IS PROMISED.

Detention of a Young Man Without Warrant Causes Charges to be Made Against Lindsay Citizens.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINDSAY, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Investigation of the arrest of George Allen, 18 years old, said to have been taken to the County Jail and held prisoner for forty-eight hours without complaint being issued, has led to the statement from Officer Frederic Grimes of the Juvenile Court that sensational charges may be brought against twenty-five Lindsay men and boys of various ages, for misconduct with a 15-year-old Lindsay girl.

Allen complained of his detention without due process of law. Grimes found he had been arrested because found in company with a girl who was under the care of the authorities. Questioning of the boy brought accusations that more than a score of men and boys were guilty of having contributed to the girls' delinquency.

Grimes states that as far as these accusations have been investigated they appear to be founded on fact and sensational developments are anticipated. Allen has been released, no complaint having been issued against him.

FOREST FIRE UNDER CONTROL

Backfiring One of the Successful Tactics Adopted.

Alleged Swindler Is Landed in County Jail.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 27.—Forest Supervisor R. H. Charlton today arrived and personally took charge of the battle with the flames in the Lytle Creek-Cucamonga region, and word from him this afternoon indicated that he is confident the fire will be conquered tonight, providing a coast breeze does not spring up again tomorrow.

Head Ranger Jekin this afternoon came to the city after supplies, but announces that unless unforeseen conditions arise, they have a sufficient force of men on the ground. Rangers Wixom and Switzer were this afternoon hurried to the scene of the fire from the east end of the reserve in order to relieve some of the rangers who have been on the fire lines for the past thirty-six hours.

Backfiring has been resorted to in many places today and in most cases with good results. The absence of the coast breeze today aided the fire-fighters in preventing the blaze from getting into the main Lytle Creek Canyon, but it did get down into the south fork of the canyon, and also burned west toward the Cucamonga Mountains and up the slopes of that watershed.

The local rangers are receiving the aid of several rangers from the west end of the Angeles Reserve, and forces of fire-fighters have been sent up from the Cucamonga and Upland districts as well as from this city and by the water companies in the Rialto-Fontana-Bloomington district.

Heavy clouds of smoke have continued to hang over the valley all day, and the ashes still fall here and over the valley, indicating the continued progress of the fire back in the deep canyons where the work of the fire-fighters is very difficult.

Reports from the mountains this afternoon indicate the combined number of fire-fighters scattered around the forty-mile fire line total more than 300 men.

Should the coast breeze again spring up in the morning, the fire is almost sure to spread over a great area, but if the present conditions continue there is hope that the fire can be effectively stopped tonight.

Many of the men have been on the fire lines now for more than twenty-four hours and are literally exhausted, necessitating the bringing of fresh aid to the rangers, who are making a desperate and intelligent fight against the flames.

ALLEGED SWINDLER.

E. W. Pritchard, charged with having swindled local and Redlands people on an insurance game, arrived here from San Francisco this morning in charge of Constable John Nish and is in the County Jail.

Pritchard is rather mum about the charges against him except to say that a great mistake had been made and that he will prove his entire innocence when he has an opportunity of doing so. He also says that he is sure Talmadge Bros., would not have sworn to the warrant against him if they had known the true conditions.

Pritchard is said to be an attorney and is said to be also negotiating for a local attorney to handle his case. He is also said to be a graduate of Annapolis. His wife accompanied him here from San Francisco and went to Redlands, where their children are.

NO ACTION TAKEN.

No action was today taken by the Supervisors on the applications for about ten liquor licenses, most of them for the desert section of the county. A delegation of about seventy-five people who were opposed to the granting of the licenses made their appearance before the board, but owing to the necessary absence of two members of the board action was deferred one week.

The opponents then adjourned to one of the Superior Court rooms, where they adopted resolutions opposing the granting of the licenses asked for and urging the Supervisors to refuse to issue the licenses.

NEWS BRIEFS.

John Ruiz, convicted of burglarizing several residences in Rialto, was sent to Folsom Prison for an eight-year term today by Judge Bledsoe. Camilio Alvarado and Angel Duran were sent for eleven years each for highway robbery, while Vicente Vasquez drew two years for shooting another Mexican at Cucamonga.

Young Leon More, who eloped to San Diego with a 15-year-old Colton girl, may be compelled to face a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor child, a warrant having been secured for his arrest by the mother of the girl. The case is now in the hands of the Sheriff, who will probably bring young More back to this city.

RELATIVE TO JOINT DEMAND.

Superintendent of Long Beach Relief Committee Presents the City's Side of the Controversy.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—Relative to the statement in this morning's Times that W. H. Faust was representing sixty injured persons of the Empire Day disaster, who had polled their issues and intended to file a joint demand for $200,000 damages against the city, C. C. Doran, superintendent of the relief work of the city, said this morning:

"This committee has refrained from any notoriety in dealing with its problem of looking after the victims of Empire Day, but I venture to say that not one of the injured can produce a just complaint as to their treatment, as the committee has always leaned their way where doubt existed. We have known of Faust's activity for months. He is an ex-claim agent and was taken the rounds of the injured by Mr. Young, chairman of the Empire Day Committee. We have statements from these injured that Young told them he and Faust were organizing a syndicate to bring suit and that it would not cost a cent., but that the syndicate only wanted 50 per cent. of the amount they secured, this to include any amount that the committee might voluntarily give in the way of relief. Faust, Young and Frazier also complained to the grand jury, which body investigated the committee and its books. The recent report of the jury gave high praise to the committee. It appears that the syndicate has been organized, but I venture to predict that their sixty claimants will dwindle to half a dozen when the facts are known. The committee has worked under trying circumstances, but it has done and is doing its duty both to the unfortunate ones of the accident and to the people of Long Beach who so generously voted $60,000 for relief, in addition to $40,000 previously donated for the work."

TEACHER KILLED.

Miss Cora Frazier, a Los Angeles school teacher and until a year ago a resident of Long Beach, was killed last night near Compton, when the auto in which she was riding with her fiance, John Adams, went over the embankment while turning to get out of the way of a delivery wagon and turned turtle. Miss Frazier was alive when taken from under the machine, but died soon after being taken to Compton. Adams escaped with bruises. Wright, the driver of the delivery wagon, reported the accident to the local police. Miss Frazier was 35 years of age and a niece and one of the heirs of the late Jackson Deets, the Upland millionaire, whose funeral services she attended Saturday. Her mother, Mrs. Nancy Frazier, lives in Kansas City.

While steaming through the inner harbor channel yesterday morning the launch Nellie ran aground, lost one propellor and damaged the shaft. The boat was pulled off and continued her trips to San Pedro during the day, using only one engine. The damage will amount to $200.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Long Beach Ministerial Association today elected new officers for the year: George D. Knights, president; Rev. J. D. Snyder, vice-president; Rev. J. J. Cottrell, secretary; Rev. A. Ray More, treasurer. The association also decided to hold two union Thanksgiving services—one at the First Baptist Church for the west siders, with a sermon by Dr. H. I. Rasmus, and the other at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church for the east siders, with a sermon by Rev. F. M. Rogers. Both services will be held at 10 o'clock on the morning of November 27.

Annoyed by the depredations of poachers, who have invaded the preserves of the Cerritos Gun Club and carried off large bags, Keeper Billy Franks yesterday caused the arrest of Charles Kirby and Warren Gallup, who claim to be from Whittier, and that they did not know they were in a club preserve. Frank, however, says they took the decoys out of a blind, put them in the water and were in a club boat "enjoying all the comforts of home" when arrested. This morning Justice Underwood fined them $15 each.

Mrs. Harriet F. Daggett, aged 82, died this morning at her home on West Fourth street. She was a native of Massachusetts and had been a resident of Long Beach for nine years. The body will be taken to West Boylston, Mass., for burial.

WOMEN TO ATTEND LUNCHEON.

Leaders in Los Angeles Clubs Will Be Guests of the South Pasadena Organization.

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 27.—Christopher M. Gordon, State Harbor Commissioner; the Executive Board of the District Federation of Women's Clubs, including the president of the C.F.W.C., Mrs. W. C. Mushet; Mrs. Russell J. Waters, president of the Friday Morning Club, and State secretary of the General Federation; Mrs. Calvin Hartwell, president of the Shakespeare Club, State vice-president of the General Federation, and vice-president of the State Federations, will be special guests at the first monthly luncheon of the Women's Improvement Association, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Meeker, Miss Barnabee of the Pasadena Shakespeare Club, Miss Elizabeth Packard, Mrs. Christopher M. Gordon, the president and vice-president of the Highland Park Ebell Club, will be the guests of Mrs. Frank A. Stephens, club president.

Christopher M. Gordon, the speaker of the afternoon, will take as his subject, "Our Harbor, Its Plan, Its Cost, Its Future." The music for the occasion is in charge of Mrs. George Glover and the programme of Mrs. John W. Shenk, Jr., and Mrs. Harrison Gifford. The luncheon is to be a Halloween affair, and bids fair to be of great interest. Beautiful decorations of cut flowers supplied by the park superintendent will be used.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The list of members in charge of the coming November bazaar, to be given under the auspices of the Ways and Means Committee, for the Women's Improvement Association Clubhouse, is announced as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth Hillman, Mrs. John Monahan, Mrs. William Axtman, Mrs. Charles Manwarring, Mrs. Henry Kiesling, Mrs. S. M. McKinney, Mrs. D. R. Hirschler, Mrs. Charles Hoard, Mrs. Estella Johnson, Mrs. C. R. Howard, Mrs. C. W. Clemente, Mrs. Charles Cramer, Mrs. A. H. Elliott, Mrs. Minnie Ferry, Mrs. G. E. Grier, Mrs. G. W. Bell, Mrs. Esther Carpenter, Mrs. William Milne, Mrs. J. C. Neilson, Mrs. G. W. Penfield, Mrs. H. D. Lanfair, Mrs. Franz Bischoff, Mrs. Clara E. Rathbun, Mrs. Claire Wilcoxson, Mrs. Harry G. Lewis, Mrs. Frank Cattern, Mrs. H. S. Upjohn, Mrs. Charles Ingram, Mrs. D. M. Tussing and Dr. Lillian C. Whiting.

Made possible by the generosity of Mrs. Everett W. Brooks of Oak Knoll, Pasadena, who has become very greatly interested in the Aid Society on Mission street, new porches have been constructed and the buildings have been painted inside and out. Besides providing for the above improvements, Mrs. Brooks has engaged a master for the boys in athletic stunts, A. Rothwell of Pasadena, also the daughter of Rothwell, to teach the girls folk dances. There are 140 children now in the home, ranging from 2 to 14 years, of which there are about two boys to one girl. The children of school age all attend the South Pasadena public schools, also the Methodist Sunday-school.

The new Pacific Electric line is arousing interest, especially in the Lincoln Park and Ostrich Farm section of the city. Pillsbury, the chief engineer, states that it will greatly reduce the running time between Los Angeles and South Pasadena, and that he proposes, so far as possible, to avoid a deep cut around Oak Hill, and if necessary for street purposes there, to put artistic overhead concrete bridges. It will be practically an air line from Rose Hill to the Ostrich Farm. It is the evident purpose of the Pacific Electric to abandon the present frail and dangerous bridge over the Arroyo Seco.

Supreme Sacrifice.

HEROIC WOMAN LOSES LIFE AT NEWPORT BEACH.

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Margaret Frost and four-year-old son, Lowell Sydney Frost, of Hollywood, were downed at the entrance to Newport bay this forenoon.

The Frost family, which consisted of Dr. Lowell C. Frost of No. 6404 Hollywood boulevard, his wife and son, Lowell, and a daughter three years old, with the children's nurse, have been stopping at Corona del Mar for a month's vacation.

This morning Dr. Frost crossed over to Balboa on the ferry after groceries, leaving his wife and two children on the Corona del Mar wharf. The little boy lost his balance and fell into the bay and the mother without hesitation plunged in after him. The woman was a strong swimmer and reached the boy and tried to gain the shore with him but a heavy tide was running out of the bay at the time making the channel a very dangerous place.

Mrs. Frost retained her hold on the child until the current swept them into the breakers at the bar, where they were torn apart. The little girl ran to the top of the bluff where the Hotel del Mar is located and told the nurse, who telephoned to the Balboa pavilion and the speedy launch Paloma containing William Norton, Floyd Hemstreet and Frank Valleley hurried to the scene.

Mrs. Frost was found floating just outside the breaker line and was lifted into the boat and taken back to the Balboa pavilion but although two of the men worked with her all of the way and others for two hours after she was landed no sign of life could be detected.

The men in the boat knew nothing of the boy being drowned at the time and when a boat was sent back no trace of him could be found. Searching parties have been looking for his body all afternoon without avail.

The remains of Mrs. Frost were taken to Santa Ana by Undertaker George S. Smith. The deacsed woman was 29 years of age.

UNION BIBLE INSTITUTE.

POMONA, Oct. 27.—The sessions of the Union Bible Institute were continued this afternoon at the First Baptist Church. Dr. H. A. Dowling of Los Angeles spoke upon the subject "The Graded School and the Graded Curriculum," and Miss Blanche Wachob had for her subject "Secondary Work." Mrs. H. A. Dowling told of some experiences with boys.

This evening Dr. Robert P. Shepherd, formerly minister of the First Christian Church of this city, addressed the institute session upon the subject "Striking Characteristics of Soul Growth" and Miss Meme Brockway talked entertainingly upon the Zurich convention. The sessions of the institute will conclude tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Many of the members of the Women's Bible Class of the First Christian Church are attending the sessions. This class has a present membership of 213 and is one of the largest Sunday-school classes for women in the entire West. The teacher is Mrs. J. D. Cason of North Park avenue, who is well known throughout the State in the work of the Christian Church. The officers of the class are Mrs. A. S. Booth, president; Mrs. C. O. Baughman, secretary; Mrs. U. E. White, treasurer.

The Bible institute being held here is up-to-date in its methods and its real purpose is education, instruction in the Bible and intelligent consecration.

STEPHENSON FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late John Stephenson who for several years has been well known to local residents as the faithful gate-keeper for the Southern Pacific railway at its crossing on much-traveled Garey avenue, was held this afternoon at W. B. Todd's chapel on North Garey avenue. The deceased was 58 years old and had lived in Pomona for fifteen years.

WILL IS A DISAPPOINTMENT.

Ontario Capitalist Surprises His Fellow Church Wardens by Failure to Make Bequest—Short News Stories.

ONTARIO, Oct. 27.—Announcement that the will of Jackson Deets, Ontario capitalist, who died last Tuesday at the San Antonio Hospital, this city, leaves only the Ontario home place and orange ranch here and a small piece of business property to the widow, Mrs. Kate Deets, and the residue of his $509,500 estate to his sisters and their children, has given rise to the belief that a former will of the decedent, on file in this city with Judge J. R. Pollock, who up to a few months before Deets's death always handled his legal affairs, is likely to be introduced.

The fact that the Nazarene Church, of which Deets was a devout member and to which during the year before his death he is said to have donated close to $250,000, did not benefit by his will, also came as a surprise here.

The will was filed by Attorney H. M. Haskell of Long Beach, where Deets had large business holdings, and Fred A. Knight petitions for letters of administration.

The four step-children, Miss Edith McKain, Mrs. Bessie Gresham, Donald and Gordan McKain, are not mentioned in the will, and it is stated that in case the widow attempts to contest the will, her share shall revert to the other heirs, who for the most part are sisters of Deets or their children.

The beneficiaries under the will at present on file, besides the widow, are Sarah Record of Cambridge county, Illinois; Sadie Faulkner of Ontario; Levinia Taylor of Lincoln, Neb.; Nancy Frazier of Westonville, O.; Hanna Richie of Butte, Mont., and Louisa Kefford of Los Angeles. Mrs. Faulkner is not a relative but is given $5000 "for kindness."

NEWS BRIEFS.

A loose steering wheel is said to have been responsible for the turning turtle of a Winton touring car owned by Dan J. Kearney, said to be the owner of a saloon in Los Angeles, and said to be occupied by himself and party, on the Foothill boulevard just east of this city last night. The accident occurred shortly after leaving the city limits and those who saw the big car pass judged its speed at from forty to fifty miles an hour. None of the party was seriously hurt and all returned to Los Angeles in a machine from a local garage. The car was not seriously damaged.

Government rangers and employees of the San Antonio Water Company of this city, are carefully watching the progress of the great forest fire which is still raging in the mountains to the north of the Etiwanda section. Forest Ranger J. C. LePlant, who has been helping with the fight for the past twenty-four hours, announced this afternoon that a wind from the east would mean the doom of the Cucamonga and Ontario watersheds, but that rangers in charge entertain hopes of getting the big blaze in check absolutely tonight.

THE MEXICAN POSITION.

Depositorio Andrade of the Sociadad Explains His Views to American Representatives.

EL CENTRO, Oct. 27.—The Advisory Board of the Mutual Water Companies of Imperial Valley, which as a result of action taken by the Imperial Irrigation District yesterday, has sole authority to treat with the two receivers of the California Development Company and to seek a solution of the Mexican water difficulties, met with Depositario Andrade of the Sociadad, or Mexican department of the C.-D. Co., and he explained to them his exact position in regard to the water question.

The advisory board enquired concerning the permission of Andrade to them to clean the silt out of the west side main canal, from Encina flume to the international line, which request was conceded by him with the proviso that, although they might employ such person or persons as they see fit. The work must be done under the supervision of the depositario's engineer, C. N. Perry. The advisory board must also guarantee the depositario that no other work than that specified will be entered on, and upon its completion the working force will be immediately withdrawn from the canal system in Mexico.

The depositario seems willing to grant all demands within reason and should a similar inclination be found in Receiver Holabird, the Advisory Committee will have arrived at their journey's end almost before they started.

ASSESSMENT RECALL.

A petition signed by about 680 voters, recalling the recent assessment of $28,000 levied by the Imperial Irrigation District, has just been placed in the hands of the District Secretary, H. L. Barker.

Grave rumors have issued from the district headquarters to the effect that a large portion of the names on the petition were written by one man, consequently no definite action will be taken in regard to its demands until Wednesday, October 29, when it will be placed before the board of directors of the irrigation district for a thorough examination as to its authenticity.

Feeling is running high among the water users, one side endeavoring to ascertain whether or not his name is signed to the petition, and the other indignant that the suspicion should be cast as to its validity. In case the petition is decided to be a forgery at Wednesday's meeting, it will be placed before the grand jury, now in session. Otherwise, an election will be called. In either case the meeting of the board of directors of the district on Wednesday promises to be the most exciting in its history.

Three hundred is the required number of names to institute a recall election of the assessment, and the signers of the petition are confident as to its result, having secured over twice the necessary number.

TRUE CONDITIONS.

Reports from the vicinity of Los Angeles have leaked into Imperial Valley to the effect that the irrigation canals are practically, if not actually dry, consequently, before these reports reach damaging proportions, it might be well to place before the public the most convincing refutal of the above in the shape of the figures showing the exact flow of the Alamo Canal alone.

Two thousand cubic feet a second, which is the equivalent of 100,000 miners inches, enters Imperial Valley through the Alamo Canal, every drop of which is beneficially used to irrigate Imperial Valley land. There is no immediate danger whatever of the canals filling with silt and becoming useless, and from the attitude of Andrade there appears no likelihood of any future danger.

FULLERTON BRIEFS.

FULLERTON, Oct. 27.—In the weeds near the railroad track here a large valise was found cut open this morning. It had the name and address of W. Clayton of San Diego, supposed to be the manager of the Spreckels railroads and other interests in that city. Clayton went north last night. The grip was stolen from the train. It is believed the thief was looking for money or valuables. City Marshal French found a lot of clothing and some jewelry in the valise and sent a telegram to Clayton at San Diego. A wire was received from Mrs. Clayton this afternoon to forward the valise to her husband, care of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. Whether or not anything was taken from the valise is not known. City Marshal French was informed this afternoon that the valise had been insured for $200 before Clayton left San Diego. The only cut on the valise was around the lock. A Santa Fe detective will investigate the matter.

While C. A. Beardway, Paul Nicolas, Carl Levering, William Schneider and Roy Gardiner were hunting in the hills at Capistrano yesterday, a "stray shot," supposed to be from the gun of some near-by hunter, struck Beardway's eye-glasses, breaking them into many pieces. With the exception of a small cut under his right eye, Beardway was not injured.

Some thief stole $20 last night from under the pillow of one of the employees at the O. & C. construction camp, near the place where W. Clayton's valise was found.

Notwithstanding that prices are higher for walnuts than ever before in this section, the demand for Fullerton walnuts exceeds the supply. A representative of one of the associations stated this morning that his packing-house could not fill 70 per cent. of the orders received. One order alone from Denver for four cars had to be turned down. As before stated, it is not believed more than ninety cars will be shipped from the Fullerton-Placentia district, which means a shortage of 25 per cent. of an average crop.

Mesmer left two and one-half years ago, with friends, for a tour of the world, and during her absence visited many lands and places of interest. She comes back with a storehouse of knowledge of what she has seen and the customs of the people visited. Considerable time was spent in visiting with her sister, Mrs. Perier, residing at No. 72 Rue Kleber, Paris. Miss Mesmer is to arrive home about November 1, and a warm welcome awaits her by relatives and friends.

Tempting Banquet.

Members of the Michigan Society Association assembled at a banquet Saturday evening at the Beverly Hotel. A dance followed the dinner and the evening proved a delightful one for all present. The officers of the Los Angeles branch of the association are Daniel Rowan, president; Albert Pierce, secretary; Dr. Scott, chairman of entertainment; Judge Conrey, toastmaster.

October Wedding.

An impressive wedding event of October 15 was that which united Lucy Berniece Coffelt and Mr. Charles Clarke Kress. The lines were read at the Partington apartments, where Rev. James I. Myres performed the ceremony. American beauties, chrysanthemums and carnations in artistic profusion adorned the rooms. A honeymoon trip through San Diego is being enjoyed by the young people.

Returned Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Luton have concluded an interesting European trip and are again at home at their residence, No. 2205 Gramercy place. While away they enjoyed a delightful trip through Holland and Italy, the latter place visited a fortnight ago, while Mrs. Luton, who remained in the East two weeks, arrived home Saturday.

At Mt. Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Oakley have arrived in this city and have taken apartments at Hotel Mt. Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Thilo Bechdolt of Alvarado street, have returned from a two months' European trip, the greater their time being spent in the musical centers of Germany.

Bridge Luncheon.

One of the pretentious affairs of recent date was the bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Frank E. Rose on Thursday afternoon at her home, No. 457 South Kenmore avenue, in recognition of October days, and the near approach of Halloween. The round banquet table was adorned with a Japanese basket filled with huge yellow chrysanthemums, the handle tied with bows of yellow satin. Halloween baskets filled with bon-bons were given as favors, and the unique Halloween novelties marked the places. After luncheon tables were arranged for games of auction and five hundred, the games prizes were awarded to Mrs. Brent and Mrs. Varie.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the afternoon were Mrs. Frank Rose, Mrs. William J. Varie, Mrs. A. P. Brent, Mrs. A. P. Schaer, Mrs. C. Pennell, Mrs. I. Yale, Mrs. C. Morton, Mrs. E. Stone, Mrs. C. An orchestra furnished the music for the dancing, and refreshments were served.

St. Cecilia Club.

Members of the St. Cecilia Club were entertained at their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Hugh Craig, No. 642 West Twenty-sixth street. A profusion of pink roses adorned the rooms in the music-room, the fireplace and the large living-room, transforming the home into a veritable bower. Selections from French composers were rendered during the afternoon and among those who sang were Mrs. Isabelle Kellogg, and Mrs. Charles Lich, with Mrs. Harry G. Baxter, who played, and Miss Myrtle Cosaile, who read. Mrs. Edward Jones, violin soloist, was a special guests contributing to the programme were Julius Ensz, Miss Emma Schim, Miss Cassie Keller, Miss Grace Whitsell Arnold, Miss Thomas and Mrs. Margaret Bishop. Refreshments and a social hour followed the programme. Those present, in addition to those above were Mrs. Julie Christin, Miss Sadie Bonner, Miss Willy Smyser, Mrs. Jones McKnight, Mrs. W. Hempstead, Mrs. terfield, Mrs. John W. Taylor, Robert H. Adams, Mrs. J. Lee Barnard, Mrs. Harry V. Baxter, Harry S. Ross and Mrs. Florence Zobelein.

PORTERVILLE FIRE.

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sparks from a bonfire in the factory yard started a blaze which completely destroyed the plant of the Armour Fruit Works here this afternoon, causing a loss of $75,000 fully covered by insurance. Mexican laborers were burning rubbish in the factory yard when a gust of wind carried sparks to the roof. Panic stricken, they first tried for some minutes to extinguish the blaze before turning in an alarm. By the time the fire department had summoned nothing could be done to save the plant. By hard work the firemen saved adjoining buildings, occupied by factory hands.

SNYDER LEAVES CIVIL SERVICE.

Row Rumble at Alameda More Attractive.

Hopes to Get Back Again His Old Federal Job.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO (Cal.) Oct. 27.—[Special.] C. I. Snyder, chief examiner and secretary of the State Civil Service Commission, made public today his resignation dated October 3, which becomes effective next Friday. Secretary Snyder, who for two years has been drawing a salary of $3600 a year, plans to resume his former position as secretary of the Pacific division of the Federal civil service at $2400 a year.

The sound of the surf at night on Alameda shore a hundred yards from his pretty home, Secretary Snyder said, is more attractive to him than an increase of $1200 in his salary. Other reasons given by him for resigning are ill health, possible uncertainty of his position with the State and the knowledge that his government berth is secure for years to come. When Snyder accepted the State position he secured a six months' furlough from the Federal civil service department.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 27.—Dr. Yat Sen, who has been living near Kobe since the suppression of the rebellion in southern China, is contemplating a visit to Japan and the United States, according to William Thacher of Boston, who arrived in Seattle yesterday after spending six years in the service of China. The wealthy citizens of Hawaii are southerners and are ready to give further financial aid to Dr. Sun, he said.

Pacific Light and Power Corporation Is Denied Right to Borrow by Railroad Commission.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The Pacific Light and Power Corporation was denied by the State Railroad Commission today the authority to issue $3,000,000 in bonds, the commission informed it might make a supplemental showing at a later date. The application was to issue $497,000 in bonds to refund sinking fund bonds and to issue $1,233,000 to reimburse the treasury. The commission points out that as the main purpose of a sinking fund "is to gradually reduce indebtedness created by the issuance of bonds," such fund ought to be maintained "at all times from sources other than those which create new obligations."

Two Men Sitting in a Game in Which Get Away With Over One Hundred Dollars.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Oct. 27.—Two card players arose from a table in the clubroom back of a Main-street saloon, near the Courthouse, early this morning and relieved fifteen of their number of $1200 in money and several hundred dollars worth of diamonds. The robbers then locked their victims in a storeroom and escaped.

MINER UNDER ARREST.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SILVER CITY (N. M.) Oct. 27. Major Llewellyn Major, an attorney, was arrested here last night on a charge of murder growing out of the death of Miss Daughter, Eudora. Her death followed the sudden death of her mother after payment of the mother's insurance money. The insurance company declined to pay the insurance and the daughter and her body was exhumed and the stomach analyzed in Austin, Tex. The arrest of Major followed.

Extradition proceedings are now pending before the Attorney-General of New Mexico against Major on charges of having illegally disposed of certain clients.

VIOLIN STOLEN.

Boy Who Accompanied Shrine Party From Los Angeles to San Francisco Accuses a Bell Boy.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 27.—A. F. Frankenstein, a composer, has reported to Oakland police that his Amati violin, which he values at $5000, was stolen by a bell boy at his hotel, some time last week. Frankenstein came here from Los Angeles with the Shrine Band for the Portola festivities in San Francisco. The bell boy has disappeared.

PILOTS GET DECISION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—All ships engaged in foreign trade must employ the services of special pilots upon entering the port of San Francisco, according to the provisions of a decision in favor of the San Francisco Bar Pilots' Association, handed down today by the United States Supreme Court. The decision affirmed that of the Court of Appeals in the test case involving the constitutionality of the California law. The case was brought by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company in 1905, and was decided in favor of the steamship company. The pilots then appealed and the Court of Appeals decided that the pilots must be employed.

The last move of the steamship company was to petition the Supreme Court of the United States to reverse the decision of the Court of Appeals. The petition was denied today and every point involved decided in favor of the pilots.

Shipping interests the world over have watched the case with interest. The loss of the test case would have put the pilots' association out of commission. According to today's decision ships from foreign points entering this port must pay the pilotage whether a pilot is employed or not. It will cost the Pacific Coast Steamship Company about $10,000 a year for pilot service, according to the attorney for the pilots' association.

JUSTICE KILLS HIMSELF.

Broderick Man, Long a Sufferer From Rheumatism, Slashes His Wrist With a Razor.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—C. A. Simpson, for the past eleven years justice of the peace at Broderick, across the river from here, ended his life last night by slashing his wrist with a razor and then blowing out his brains with a gun. His body was found in the Hayward Reed orchard this morning after an all-night search. Long suffering with rheumatism caused him to commit suicide.

CHARGE HER WITH MURDER.

Coroner's Jury Finds Leah Alexander Responsible for Van Baalen's Death at San Francisco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Miss Leah Alexander was charged by a Coroner's jury today with the murder of J. D. Van Baalen, an advertising man, October 18. Miss Alexander did not testify. Miss Rhoda Thompson, Van Baalen's stenographer, jealousy of whom is said to have prompted the murder, testified that she had had no other personal relations with her employer than to have been taken home by him on two occasions.

Miss Alexander said, after her arrest, that she had traveled for a year with Van Baalen as his wife, although he had a wife in Duluth, Minn.

BAD FOR MUSICIANS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Musicians had the highest death percentage from tuberculosis in 1912, according to statistics compiled by Statistician Leslie of the State Board of Health. Next in high percentages come plumbers, clerks, printers, tailors, waiters, barbers, painters, common laborers, teamsters, machinists, surveyors, miners, bakers, iron and steel workers, engineers and firemen and saloon-keepers. The percentage for musicians was 40.7 per cent. in 1912. Barbers were highest in 1911 with 22.2 per cent.

The percentage is below the average in the following occupations: Stockraisers, hotelkeepers, upholsterers, soldiers, sailors, hostlers, merchants, clergymen, farmers, boot and shoe makers, bankers and brokers, physicians and policemen. The percentage was lowest for policemen in 1912 at 6.4, bankers and brokers having been lowest in 1911 with 6.2.

Among women the percentage is highest for bookkeepers and clerks, dressmakers and seamstresses, but is relatively low for teachers, nurses and servants.

MAYOR FOUND DEAD.

SUICIDE IS SUSPECTED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 27.—Mayor Charles N. Jordan of East Side, a small town in Coos county, was found drowned in the bay today. Worry over the unexplained disappearance from the city's safe of $2000 last week is believed to have caused him to end his life.

THE HOP RIOT CASES.

APPELLATE COURT ORDER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—The Appellate Court today ordered the authorities of Yuba county to produce Herman Suhr, accused of the murder of former Dist.-Atty. E. T. Manwell and former Deputy Sheriff Eugene Riordan, in the Wheatland hop riot several weeks ago before magistrate in Yuba county to set a date for his hearing on that charge. This action came on the hearing of the writ of habeas corpus.

Caretaker Murdered.

TRUCKEE (Cal.) Oct. 27.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Charles Forney, a caretaker, employed at the Union Mills' fishponds, was found murdered today by teamsters carrying supplies to his cabin, which was four miles from the nearest house. Forney was 40 years old and lived alone. Robbery appears to have been the motive.

TROOPS LEAVE PRESIDIO.

Cavalry and Infantry Depart to Engage in Mimic Defense of Half Moon Bay.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The Presidio reservation of San Francisco is almost a deserted post tonight. The Sixth and Sixteenth regiments of infantry, two troops of the First Cavalry, Field Hospital Co. No. 2 and Field Ambulance Co. No. 2 are away for five days of field maneuvers and inspection in the vicinity of Half Moon Bay.

Each command left as if for actual warfare, with supplies and provisions sufficient to last many days. The military problem to be worked out is the defense of Half Moon Bay.

It was unofficially stated today that the Twelfth Infantry would be transferred from the Presidio at Monterey to San Francisco November 25, and that on the same date the squadron of the First Cavalry stationed here would march to Monterey. The changes would result in the addition of 800 men to the San Francisco garrison.

WIFE WITNESSES SUICIDE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—W. H. Daniels, Pacific Coast manager of the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the presence of his wife and daughter. Daniels left a note to the Coroner in which he assumed sole responsibility for his death. His motive is unknown, although the letter expressed a grievance against his employers.

AGAIN BEHIND THE BARS.

Warden Places Three Recaptured Prisoners in the "Solitary" at Folsom Prison.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FOLSOM (Cal.) Oct. 27.—Norman Hair, the boy convict, and his two companions, Thomas Samuels and William Rodey, whose escape from Folsom Prison ended Sunday with their capture on the Perry ranch in El Dorado county, were placed in solitary confinement at Folsom Prison today. Warden Johnston said that he will punish the trio severely, but will not prosecute them.

Guard A. C. Morse, who was overpowered by the three convicts, after being reprimanded for his carelessness in permitting them to get so close, was discharged by the warden today. Warden Johnston in a statement tonight announced that his "honor" policy will not be changed by the break.

DERELICT OFFICIAL CAUGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HANFORD, Oct. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. S. Smith, wanted at Jamestown, Fentress county, Tenn., on a charge of absconding with $40,000 of the tax money, was arrested here at noon today in company with Tilly Pruitt, a young widow woman with whom he left Tennessee, in November, 1911.

Smith was arrested upon information furnished by Frank Upchurch, of this city, who formerly lived at Jamestown, Tenn., and recognized Smith on the street this morning. Smith came here from Merced Saturday and he and his woman companion were awaiting the arrival of their household goods from Merced. In Merced, the couple lived under the name of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wright. Smith admits his identity; but says that he was not short over $800 and that that amount is due him as commissions from Fentress county. He says that he was intending soon to return to Tennessee to settle up the trouble. Upchurch recognized Smith on the street and reported to the officers. Smith was in Railroad Park when arrested and took his arrest very coolly. He says he expected to be caught sooner or later. Upchurch has been here from Tennessee only a few weeks and was living in a small town near Jamestown when Smith left there. Smith was formerly Sheriff of Fentress county, a banker and a prominent lodge man; hence was known to Upchurch, and, in fact, everybody in Fentress county, though Smith does not know Upchurch.

THE TEXAS MAKES GOOD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROCKLAND (Me.) Oct. 27.—The official standardization trials of the superdreadnaught Texas, interrupted Thursday by an accident to the port engine, were completed today. The fastest run over the course was made at the rate of 22.28 knots, exceeding more than one-quarter knot the speed required by contract.

Official Ruling.

RUBBER STAMP IS ENOUGH; JOHNSON NOT NEEDED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—State officials requiring jointly the signatures of acting Gov. Wallace and Secretary of State Jordan, which has been up since last Thursday because Secretary Jordan's refusal to affix a rubber-stamp facsimile of Governor Johnson's signature, was resumed today when the Secretary of State received from Atty.-Gen. Webb that opinion the rubber stamp was legal.

The opinion to Jordan the Attorney-General holds a rubber-stamp signature is valid if it has been impressed by the acting Governor or by some officer acting in accordance with his direction.

Secretary Jordan refused last week to attest the rubber-stamp signatures on the ground that Lieut.-Gov. Wallace was incapable of discharging his duties as acting Governor, being ill in a Pasadena hospital.

"The opinion of the Attorney-General protects me in attesting such signatures," said Jordan today, "and now I can go ahead."

Proprietor of Spring St. Store In Difficulty!

Hustling Hard to Get Himself Out of Tight Place!

With only a few days more in which to raise the full amount of cash needed to meet his bills, the proprietor of the Palace Clothing Company, 323 South Spring street, is fighting hard to save his credit.

Value and former cost have not been given the least consideration in making prices on the high-grade stock of clothing and furnishings that will take the goods out of the store in a hurry.

He has determined to get the amount of money needed by November 1 at any sacrifice.

Besides the regular stock of clothing and furnishings they have on hand, there is the stock of high-grade furnishings purchased from Lane's and several thousand dollars' worth of new fall clothing they were able to purchase at about 60c on the dollar.

Cold type is far too inadequate to describe the wonderful bargains that will be placed on sale immediately. Prices have been cut to the quick.

You will do yourself a great injustice if you do not visit this store and lay in a supply of fall clothing and furnishings. You may never have another chance to practice economy of this kind.

Better think it over carefully and decide to be there bright and early.

Remember, you have only a few days more to participate in these wonderful bargains.

Don't forget the place—323 SOUTH SPRING STREET.

Store opens at 8 a.m. Open Saturday until 11 p.m.

WALL STREET AWAITS NEWS.

IGNORANCE OF MEXICO VERDICT RETARDS TRADING.

While Little Business Was Done There Was a General Rise in a Quiet Way, Rock Island Preferred Leading in Speculative Interest and Closing Strong.

[BY N. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—In a quiet, even way, stocks were generally higher today. There was at no time a large volume of business. Many of the leading stocks gained a point or more. Reduction in the Central bank rate from 6 to 5½ per cent, contributed to the strength of the market. This put an end to reports of another advance in the bank rate. Although the reduction in the bank rate was not unexpected, it was a substantial amount and of significance. Although anything but easy money, any reduction at this time of year is regarded as important. There is no material change in rates for time money here, but call funds were lower and more timely, a feature tending to check the sharp upturn. The news from Mexico tended to restrict the volume of speculative trading. The reported failure of the elections caused traders to hold back, pending the receipt of information as to the attitude of the Washington administration. Rock Island issues were strong and rather active, both the preferred stock and the 4's making good gains. Buying of these securities was attributed to reports that the Phelps-Dodge interests had taken over a large block of the stock. The rumored merger of the Reading and Jersey Central properties was denied here. Bonds were firm. Total sales par value $2,850,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

New York Curb Stocks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The mining list was quiet and unchanged. Mason Valley was active and advanced. Oils were steady. Tobacco stocks were practically unchanged. The Boston market was dull at the opening. Butte and Balaklala soon became active and on good trading advanced to 5¾. The tendency of the rest was toward strength, but the volume of trading was very light. Butte and Superior and Alaska, which had been active of late, seldom appeared on the tape today, and then only for odd-lot trades. They are holding well, however, and would advance materially on aggressive buying. The market closed dull.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Market Is Quiet Except for Trading in Mining Stocks—Los Angeles Investment Is Easier.

The market was rather quiet except for fair trading in the mining issues. Searchlight Parallel and California Hills were firm, but Consolidated Mines was a little easier. The last-named closed with a good tone, however.

Los Angeles Investment weakened in the afternoon, the closing sale being at $1.53. Final quotations showed a little improvement in tone, however. National Pacific was nominal. Jade was strong, on the report that the Empire Gas and Fuel Company had brought in a 1200-barrel well on property leased from the Jade Company. Union Oil bonds were reported sold off board at 82½.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Commission merchants are preparing for the holiday trade as evidenced by the nature of shipments which are arriving. The strong arrivals yesterday were Brazil and cocoanuts. They are not unusual, but, seldom. The Brazils were shipped all the way from South America, by steamer to New Orleans and then by rail from that point. They are this year's crop and are held at an average of 13 cents a pound. The cocoanuts are from the Hawaiian Islands and are selling at 90 cents a dozen. Almonds are coming down from the central part of the State and are bringing anywhere from 12 to 22 cents a round, according to quality and variety. Local walnuts are arriving in quantities, but the showing is rather poor as far as quality goes. The trouble with the nuts is a poor exterior appearance on account of the summer burning and a dried up kernel. The budded and bleached nuts are selling around 10 cents and those grading Association No. 1, are worth a fraction more. Imported chestnuts are on the market and are of rather poor quality. They are worth about 15 cents a pound. There has been a very good call for popcorn and this is increasing. This crop is a success in Southern California and the corn is exceptionally good this year.

There were no changes in the egg market. The demand was excellent, but receipts were only 151 cases over two days. Butter was pretty firm on outside reports and a good home demand. Considerable sold on the exchange at 32 cents. Receipts were but 26,537 pounds. The demand for cheese was limited. Arrivals were 2120 pounds.

Potato arrivals were the heaviest in several weeks, 10,554 sacks, and there was a little sharpening of prices in order to make sales. Onion receipts were above the average, 1640 sacks. Shipments here are increasing in the past few days on account of the advancing market. Sweet potato arrivals were 316 sacks.

Apple arrivals ground 7795 sacks. The demand for apples was excellent, as it has been for weeks past. Other fruits were very firm and slight advances in peaches and grapes were recorded. Vegetables were steady with few changes reported.

There has been a decline in bacon and ham and also a slight drop in fresh pork. Fractional changes in beef, these lower, have also been made within the past few days.

Wheat and oats declined fractionally, 41 per cent, and there is an indication that another drop of the same proportions may come within a few days.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Eagle Rock, San Rafael Heights and Annandale yesterday made tentative inquiry of the Annexation Commission with regard to joining the city.

The proposed "window display" ordinance, devised to stop crowding on the streets, was given a cool reception by a Council Committee yesterday.

The Finance Committee was greeted with a proposition yesterday to line the Third-street tunnel with billboards, with 100 gas lights as the consideration.

The freak election ordinance making a campaignless campaign was laid over yesterday and will be threshed out this morning, when passage seems likely.

Argument on the Southern Pacific's motion for a new trial and to vacate the judgment of Judge Bordwell in the famous California Development Company's litigation started before Judge Meyers yesterday and will continue for a week.

OTHERS KNOCK FOR ADMISSION.

OUTSIDE TERRITORY EAGER TO BE ANNEXED.

Eagle Rock, Annandale and San Rafael Heights Would Join City, Providing Water Distribution Can Be Arranged—Propositions of South Pasadena and Glendale Set.

Eagle Rock, San Rafael Heights and Annandale knocked at the city's gate for admission yesterday and the Annexation Commission listened to their qualifications, hopes and desires and then set later hearings for representatives from South Pasadena, Belvidere and Glendale.

The commission, presided over yesterday by Orra E. Monnette, made it plain to all applicants for annexation or consolidation that to qualify as entrants all districts or corporate bodies must carry their just share of the burden of aqueduct bonds. Most of the representatives of outlying districts yesterday seemed to feel that they should be given a guarantee that if they were annexed they would get their proportion of water distribution.

E. E. Chandler, president of the Eagle Rock bank, said that the people of his community are divided over a suggestion that a local board of public works be created to handle the peculiarize problems that arise there. He announced that President Baer of Occidental College said he would like to have the college property annexed providing the State Constitutional amendment for exemption of college property shall be adopted at the coming election.

R. G. Curran spoke in behalf of annexation of Eagle Rock and Campbell Johnson voiced the sentiments of San Rafael Heights.

On Thursday the commission will take a trip to Glendale and through the San Fernando Valley in the interest of annexation work. Tomorrow Belvidere and South Pasadena will be given a hearing and on Monday Glendale's representatives will appear before the commission.

TURN COLD SHOULDER.

MEASURE IN DEATH THROES.

The "window display" ordinance which under several other names has met with polar blasts in the City Council, went into the first cycle of dissolution yesterday when the Public Welfare Committee turned a chilled and unsympathetic shoulder to it. The City Prosecutor espoused the measure, decrying the prevalent impression that the ordinance would, if put into effect, prevent merchants from making attractive displays in their windows, thereby drawing unusual crowds. It suggested that the proposed ordinance would put a ban on crowds listening to world's series results, as well, and the prosecutor confirmed this. Councilmen Betkouski and Langdon intimated that they would not report the ordinance favorably and Councilman Wheeler evinced a similar attitude. Secretary Adams of the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association and Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, spoke against the ordinance. No action was taken by the committee, which still has the ordinance under advisement.

NOW AN ELEVATOR.

STATUS OF ANGEL'S FLIGHT.

Angel's Flight is now classified. It is an elevator. At least that is what Inspector McQuire of the city department of elevator and boiler inspection thinks it is. He has inspected it as an elevator and in one of the cars of the flight has posted a certificate giving it the right to run up and down the incline and carry passengers. Only one car is in service because of the unit condition of the other. For a long time the identity of the flight was in question. It is operated under a railway franchise, but it really couldn't be called a railway. The city inspector of elevators has undertaken to solve the problem by putting his stamp on the service.

DECORATE SUBWAY?

BILLBOARD "ADS" FOR TUNNEL.

O. F. Anderson, V. S. Drake, J. P. Fishburn and T. S. Ackman yesterday appeared before the Finance Committee with a proposition to install 100 gas lights in the Third-street tunnel for the privilege of using a six-foot strip on each side of the tunnel for billboard advertising. The committee gave the proposal little or no encouragement, although it was offered as a solution of a civic problem. The Board of Public Works has tried for some months to get the Council to improve the tunnel by lighting it better and repaving the floor.

BANK CLERKS TO DRINK.

LIQUOR LICENSE GRANTED.

The Los Angeles Chapter of the American Institute of Banking was granted a liquor license yesterday, said liquor to be dispensed at the chapter's clubhouse, No. 625 South Hope street.

The Police Commission also took cognizance of Hap Hogan's desire to invest part of his earnings as manager for the Venice baseball team in the saloon at No. 424 West Seventh street. Roland M. Armour is the associate of Hogan, whose real name is Wallace L. Bray.

The Eureka Bottling Supply Company's institution at No. 605-13 Banning street is more of a gambling-house than a junk shop, according to Mrs. S. Jacobs of No. 3209½ Central avenue, who filed a complaint with the Police Commission. Chief Sebastian was instructed to find out about it.

The Consolidated Slavonian Social Clubs will have to open a bona fide clubhouse before they can hope to procure a liquor license. The clubs asked for a license for No. 654 Castelar street. They hoped to get the license first and the clubhouse afterward.

New Commissioner Named.

Irving H. Hellman, vice-president of the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, was yesterday appointed a member of the Annexation Commission. His name was sent to the Council for confirmation after the commission had appointed him.

Minor City Hall News.

The freak election ordinance will come up for passage this morning, and it is believed the Council will adopt it without opposition. It provides that candidates shall not hire voters to be canvassed, nor pay for the distribution of campaign literature at the polls. Snowden is the only Councilman who wasn't informed as to the features of the proposed ordinance, and he was given twenty-four hours to brush up. He said he wouldn't wait that long if the Council would include a section making it compulsory for eligible voters to cast their ballots.

The liquor zone in Los Angeles will not be extended—at least for the present. Betkouski is the only member of the Council who voted against a committee report disapproving the idea, yesterday.

The Mayor almost had a chill yesterday when told that he will have to pay income tax on his salary. Under the law he is exempt to the extent of $4000 by reason of having a family, and he later discovered that he is further exempt because he is a public official.

Charles O. Morgan of San Pedro was yesterday appointed collector of harbor revenues by the Harbor Commission. His salary is $100 a month, and he gives $1000 bond.

At the Courthouse.

WEEK OF TALK ON IRRIGATION.

IMPERIAL VALLEY CASE AGAIN UP FOR DISCUSSION.

Southern Pacific's Motion for New Trial Being Heard by New Judge. Baking Powder King Not in Hiding from Process Servers—Bixby Suit Withdrawn?

Argument promising to continue a week began before Judge Meyers yesterday on the motions of the Southern Pacific for a new trial in the famous California Development Company's litigation, and to vacate the judgment of Judge Bordwell which made the New Liverpool Salt Company a prior creditor of the Southern Pacific, and the motion of the New Liverpool Salt Company to dismiss the motion of the Southern Pacific for a new trial. Previous to the argument, Attorney Meserve filed a motion to be substituted as counsel for the California Development Company in place of Works & Jordan.

Meserve stated that the directors of the company, meeting for the first time in several years, had passed a resolution employing him as counsel in behalf of the directors and the stockholders. His principal aim at this time is to have the court make some arrangement whereby the Mexican canals can be cleaned out. The employees of Col. W. H. Holabird, receiver for the California Development Company, were driven out of Mexico by A. F. Andrade, receiver for the Mexican company, on an order obtained from the Mexican courts.

Col. Holabird stated yesterday that there is an opportunity now to clear up the situation, but that there would be the same irritating conditions if matters are forced. F. P. Willard, president of Imperial Valley Water Company No. 1, and W. H. Best, president of the Mutual Water Company's Advisory Committee, were interested spectators in court.

Attorney E. J. McCutcheon of San Francisco, counsel for the New Liverpool Salt Company, opened the argument by his motion to dismiss, and was followed by former Senator E. S. Ives, counsel for the Southern Pacific. During the course of the argument by the attorneys the various angles of this famous litigation will be laid before the court.

Ives stated that the Southern Pacific saved the situation in Imperial Valley by putting up the money when the Colorado River went on a rampage, and that it is trying to get its money back. Judge Houser gave the company judgment for $1,800,000, and Judge Bordwell later made it subject to the claim of the New Liverpool Salt Company. The Southern Pacific is objecting to that.

On the other hand, the Southern Pacific is charged with being back of all the present trouble, and with having Andrade, the Mexican receiver, in its employ.

NOT IN HIDING.

BAKING-POWDER KING ON HAND.

It was emphatically denied in court yesterday by Attorney Meserve, counsel for Robert B. Davis, the baking-powder king, that his client is in hiding, and the statement that he could not be found for the purpose of serving papers in an order to show cause was branded as untrue. That papers could not be served upon Davis was the statement made yesterday by an employee of Attorneys Delmas & McPike, counsel for Mrs. Jennie W. Davis in the suit for separate maintenance recently tried by Judge Bordwell.

Meserve stated that Davis is residing in this city and has been at his home on Washington street. He seemed surprised that the proceedings arose yesterday. He further stated that Davis has been paying his wife $1000 a month. The order of Judge Bordwell, however, was for $1500 a month, but Davis contended that he was not compelled to pay the latter sum pending the determination of the appeal to the Supreme Court.

The object of the papers was to cite Davis into court to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for refusing to pay the $1500 a month alimony. At the trial of the separate maintenance suit he declared his intention of paying his wife $1000 a month and no more, stating this sum was sufficient and that she had the Riverside, New York, mansion. Mrs. Davis asked for $2000 a month. The suit was decided against Mrs. Davis.

Davis later appeared with Meserve at the Courthouse, but did not go into court, as the papers had not been served. The case was marked off the calendar.

IS IT ALL OFF?

NOTE ORDERS DISMISSAL.

According to a note sent to County Clerk Lelande yesterday, Irene Marie Brown-Levy has dismissed her $50,000 damage suit against George H. Bixby, the Long Beach millionaire, whose sensational trial growing out of the Jonquil house scandal resulted in his acquittal by a jury. Mrs. Levy brought the action against Bixby on the technical grounds of assault.

The note, signed by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lacey, Mrs. Levy's mother, and Irene Marie Brown-Levy, states: "We have directed McKelvey & Stevens, our attorneys, to dismiss our case, B. 3933, against George H. Bixby, at once."

Attorney Stevens stated yesterday that the firm knew nothing of the dismissal. The note, which is improperly drawn, was marked as an exhibit in the case by Lelande.

COMES TO LEARN.

STUDIES TRANSFER SYSTEM.

Judge Franklin A. Griffin, who was recently appointed by the Governor to the Superior Court bench at San Francisco, is in this city investigating the transfer system in the local courts. He called at the Courthouse yesterday and talked with Presiding Judge McCormick and Judge Morrison, who outlined the transfer system.

The San Francisco courts have no system of transferring cases, and the result is that when the calendar for each day is disposed of no new cases are sent in. In the local courts Secretary Noel keeps the mills busy by furnishing them with new grist from the waiting list or cases not reached in other departments. The result is that the local courts dispose of many more cases daily than the San Francisco courts, holding the record of doing more business than any courts west of Cook county, Illinois.

TUNEFUL DIVORCE.

FREED WIFE WOULD SING.

Freed from matrimonial chains which galled her, as her testimony in the divorce suit showed, Mrs. Helen Keating has devoted her time since the trial to cultivating her voice and in the pursuit of studies which she declared her husband disliked. She is receiving lessons in vocal music from Prof. Lott and expects to become a solo singer in one of the prominent city churches.

Argument on appeal from Judge Church's judgment in the divorce suit will be heard by the Supreme Court today. Edward Keating, the husband, alleges that Judge Church was influenced in his decision by his wife, and alleges other grounds upon which he expects to secure a reversal of the lower court.

IN SAFE HANDS.

BANK IS ADMINISTRATOR.

The Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank was appointed by Judge Rives yesterday administrator of the $50,000 estate of Mrs. Marceline Elisalda Leon, who at the age of 105 years married Plesantino Leon, and died shortly afterward. Mrs. Leon left the estate to Leon, first deeding him considerable property.

The will was contested by Vicente Lugo, a grandson, and broken. Under the administration of the estate Leon will receive one-third, and the remainder will be given to the three grandchildren, Vicente and Claudia Lugo and Hermana Walters.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

DAUGHTER GETS ALL. The $3800 estate of Henry M. Billings of Whittier, who died on the 5th inst., is bequeathed to his daughter, Augusta Busk. He stated in his brief will that he had two other daughters, Mrs. Ida Chambers of Battle Creek, and Mrs. Margaret Aycock of of Sierra Madre, both of full age, to whom he bequeaths a father's well wishes only, it being his wish that they are to receive no part of his estate. Billings's property was in notes and bonds.

QUICK ACTION. A suit in the nature of an attachment proceeding came into Judge Wellborn's court yesterday, the attorneys stipulating for an immediate trial. Through his counsel, Attorney W. J. O'Brien, the defendant, Frank O. Sanborn, confessed judgment on four promissory notes, principal, interest and attorney's fees, aggregating $32,135. It was stated by O'Brien that his client had authorized the judgment in telegraphic advice. The plaintiff, W. E. Elijah, was represented by Searborough & Bowen.

QUESTION OF RENT. When Judge Monroe discovered yesterday that it cost J. O. Carr nearly $6 a month for carfare, he wanted to know why he did not get a room near enough to his work so that he could walk and save the money. Carr replied he could rent a room in Pasadena for less money than in Los Angeles. As Carr was charged with failing to contribute to the support of his daughter, the court sent his case to Department Seventeen to be tried. Carr is separated from his wife.

DAMAGES AWARDED. Mrs. Mattie Clinkscales, a widow, whose son, William Fred, aged 8 years, was fatally injured by an automobile on St. Mark's boulevard, Venice, last April, was awarded $2500 damages by a jury in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday. She brought suit for $25,000 against D. and Rudolph Swinney. During the trial on Saturday, Mrs. Clinkscales, worn out by the battle, fainted in the courtroom. She is the mother of six children, the youngest being 18 months old.

BABY FINDS HOME. Little Ruth Lee, the baby no one wanted, has found a benefactor. The Children's Home Society, which has cared for it since its abandonment, has turned her over to Dr. F. E. Yoakum of the Pisgah Home, who is seeking all the waifs he can find and providing a home for them. Ruth now appears to be a healthy child, and under the loving care of Dr. Yoakum has developed into a merry elf. He will adopt her. Because of an alleged weakness of the back there were no applications from childless wives for the baby.

EXCHANGE COURTS. Judge Meyers and Judge Houser switched courts yesterday, the former taking Department Eleven and the latter Department Twelve. Judge Houser also takes over the Lunacy Commission, attending the cases called at the County Hospital three times a week.

ALL TO WIFE. In a brief will Frank L. Troxel left his estate to his wife, Ella Troxel, and named her executrix under the will filed yesterday. Troxel owned property worth $20,000. There are two sons, one aged 5 and the other 26 years.

MAY PRACTICE LAW. On motion in the District Court of Appeal yesterday the following attorneys were admitted to practice: Ralph W. Pontious, Theodore Stensland, Peter D. Overfield, Albert F. Monroe, William H. Evans, Herbert N. Ellis, John B. Yakey, W. M. Hindman, Edward T. Graua, Homer L. Fitch, Abner R. Neff, Earnest D. Foster, James McIntosh, Rufus F. Bowden, A. B. Edler, William B. Hunter, Charles M. Wood, Dailey S. Stafford, H. P. Proctor, William M. Darley, P. A. Whitacre, J. S. Baker, William P. Cary, J. G. Pfanstiel, L. N. Turrentine and Edward B. Patridge.

INCORPORATIONS. Coalinga Pipe Line Company, incorporators, William Coleman, Minnie Dolansky, Vesta Dolansky; capital stock, $20,000; subscribed, $3. Maricopa Star Oil Company, incorporators, Thomas A. O'Donnell, M. H. Whittier, Ellis T. Yarnell; capital stock, $100,000; subscribed, $3. International Theater and Hotel Company, incorporators, L. Looking Out.

ENEMY OF LAW BACK OF BARS.

THIRTEEN YEARS FOR CONFESSED SOUP MAN.

Society Must Be Protected Against Men of His Class, Says the Court in Imposing Sentence—Evening of His Life in Shadows Out of Temptations.

Robert Graber, I. W. W. leader and a professed enemy of law and order, was sentenced yesterday to thirteen years at hard labor at Folsom State Penitentiary by Judge Willis. The man previously pleaded guilty to blowing open a safe in the office of Bowen and Harris Lumber Company at Inglewood several weeks ago.

"Los Angeles doesn't want dynamiters," said Judge Willis in administering sentence." In fact I do not believe there is any place in the country where men of your stamp are desired. You have endangered the lives of many persons in carrying nitroglycerine about in your pocket. If it had exploded, not only you but scores of innocent persons would have been killed.

"Up at Folsom you can work on the rock-pile and watch them blast the boulders with dynamite. That is as close to fooling with high explosives as you will ever get again. Your kind is a menace to society."

As Graber is a man of about 50 he will come out of Folsom a comparatively old man. He is regarded by the officers as one of the most dangerous prisoners held in the County Jail since Carl Warr was a boarder. It is believed he has served terms in eastern penitentiaries under other names; in fact, no one is sure that Graber is his right name.

The man is solidly built and is sullen and a professed hater of the employing class. In getting Anton Rickert to go to Inglewood with the idea first of cracking the safe of the First National Bank of that town, Graber told his companion that it was easy to make a living blowing up safes and robbing persons.

Graber was with the I.W.W. gang that terrorized Seattle and later was in Portland and other cities. He came to Los Angeles looking for "easy money" and carried a half pint of nitroglycerine on his person when he rode on the brakebeams of a passenger train.

Rickert is a local man who apparently just started in as a thug and desperado. He is married and has a family. But he, too, is a rabid anarchist and I.W.W. His sentence will come later.

WOULD BUY FLIGHT.

Further hearing of the application of the Angel's Flight Railway Company for authority to purchase the Angel's Flight Railway has been set by the State Railroad Commission for this city, November 14. Commissioner Edgerton will conduct the hearing.

Women's Fall Suits Modish $35 and $45 Values $25

—Beautiful models that echo the most exclusive style features originated this season—many of which are making their first appearance this side of New York in this Anniversary event. Variety of design, in coats and skirts, characterizes this assemblage, and the new drop shoulders and kimono sleeves are prominent style notes. Exquisite conceptions are here in peau de peche, jacquard, diagonals, novelty weaves, poplins, broadcloth and velour-de-laine. The color range is of particular excellence, including browns in nigger and tobac shades, blues in navy, Hague and Copenhagen, also mahogany, Russian green, taupe, Burgundy and wistaria. All the clever little style touches and the perfection of workmanship found, as a rule only in the higher-priced garments, distinguish these we feature at $25.
